Korean Students Riot, Sack Home Of Vice President

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI)—Frenzied student rioters seeking to kill Vice President-elect Lee Ki-Poong sacked his home and dared troops to shoot them tonight during new violent demonstrations against the Syngman Rhee government. There were renewed demands for Rhee's resignation.

U.S. Ambassador Walter P. McConaughy was reported at Rhee's troop-guarded presidential palace for urgent talks as 10,000 students milled through streets screaming "kill Lee Ki-Poong . . . deport him" and shouting "Down with Rhee." There were reports in Tokyo that Lee had fled the country.

Troops guarded Rhee's residence, but after a threatening move in that direction the rioters swerved away

Officials admitted one rioter was killed. Press reports listed as many as three dead and one student leader insisted 11 had been slain. At least 10 were injured, four of them with buckshot wounds. But army and police units made no attempt to repeat the bloodbath of last Tuesday in which 130 persons died and another 770 were injured.

The interior of Lee's plush home was in ruins.

Army loudspeakers blared warnings that rioters were liable to be shot under martial law in effect since Tuesday. The students laughed and jeered. Some bared their breasts and shouted "Shoot us."

The army, fearful of renewed charges of brutality announced that the policeman who killed one rioter had been arrested.

Tracer bullets gleamed red across the night sky and tanks chewed up the pavement of Capitol avenue as armed forces units closed in. But the students, singing army songs and screaming, ignored the display of power and surged ahead even through volleys of tear gas bombs.

One band of students commandeered a trolley car—a gift of the city of Atlanta, Ga.—and rammed it into a tank at an intersection.

The demonstration started peacefully enough — 150 respected college professors and educators signed a demand for the resignation of Lee and new elections and marched on the National Assembly to present it.

Thousands of students turned out and the educators became lost in the milling throng that grew angrier as it grew larger.

It was the first time prominent educators had joined in the charge that the March 15 election which brought Lee to office as Rhee's hand-picked successor was fraudulent, as Rhee's opposition charged. This and the demand for new elections was the cause of the rioting last Tuesday and again last night and today.

"Let's storm the American Embassy . . . express our desires," a student leader shouted. But the crowd surged past the embassy, which was darkened. The rioters did not stop.

One group pressed against the gate of the home ministry, heedless of two policemen who stood behind the iron gate, submachine guns at the ready.

Quake In Iran Razes City; 1,200 Killed

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — A giant earthquake has devastated the south Iranian city of Lar. The death toll in Lar and neighboring villages is estimated at 1,200 to 1,500. Unofficial estimates range to 3,000.

The quake struck yesterday.

Destruction of two school buildings trapped many children in this most ruinous disturbance of the earth's crust since 12,000 were killed in Agidar, Morocco, the night of Feb. 29.

The children had assembled in the schools for children's day celebrations. Rescue workers recovered 380 small bodies from the debris.

BODIES HUNTED

One hundred bodies were found elsewhere in a continuing hunt through the city of 17,000. Of Lar's police force of 55 men, only one was said to have survived.

Gov. Nosrat Qarib reported the city destroyed.

Most of the victims were believed to be women and children. Men were working in the fields when the quake struck.

The menace of poisonous snakes added to the horror.

SNAKES ATTACK

Qarib reported that snakes found their way under the debris and attacked trapped victims. Many of those rescued were suffering from snake bites. Authorities appealed to Tehran for serum.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi ordered quick relief measures. Iranian air force planes parachuted flour, sugar and eggs into the area and set up an airlift to ferry in other food, medicine and tents.

The U. S. government was the first foreign government to pledge aid. It made 100 tons of flour quickly available.

Lar is 550 miles south of Tehran.

$250,000 Loan For Novato Hospital Given

Loan of $250,000 toward construction of a Novato hospital was approved today by the Small Business Administration in Washington, D. C.

Rep. Clement W. Miller (D-Corte Madera) informed the Independent-Journal and the Novato Community Hospital board by telegram of the approval.

Dr. Ralph Weseman, chairman of the hospital board, said the loan will be handled through the First National Bank in San Rafael.

Construction bids for the 30-bed hospital, scheduled for construction at Hill avenue and Canyon road, will be opened May 4 at a meeting of the board, Weseman said. Cost of the hospital is estimated at $300,000 for construction plus $60,000 for equipment.

Construction will begin as soon after the winning bid is approved as possible, Weseman said. He emphasized that the $250,000 is a loan and not a grant.

HECK WITH ALL ELSE, SHE'S BASEBALL FAN

A Larkspur housewife and school teacher, who is an avid baseball fan, filed suit for divorce today with a specific request that she be given the couple's tickets to the San Francisco Giants baseball games.

Mrs. Luella G. Kelly, 55, of 130 King street, Larkspur, is apparently not too concerned with the rest of the community property. At her request, attorney Natalie J. Holly filed the suit in Marin Superior Court, asking for a divorce, season tickets to the Giants games, and the home. As for the rest of the community property, she is willing to settle for a "reasonable division."

Other community property listed includes season tickets to the San Francisco 49er games and San Francisco Light Opera. The couple also owns a $1,500 promissory note, the home and some stocks in joint tenancy. They have no children.

New Hamilton Commander Designated

Col. Harvey E. Henderson will take over the base command at Hamilton Air Force Base in July it was announced today by Brig. Gen Charles R. Bond Jr., commander of the 28th Air Division.

Colonel Henderson was to fly back to Washington, D.C., today after a weekend visit at the base where he will become commander when Col. George F Ceuleers leaves in July to attend the National War College.

Meanwhile, Henderson's assignment is as a member of the liaison and studies group of the weapons systems evaluation group in the office of the director of defense, research and engineering in Washington.

Henderson was graduated from Edinbergh Junior College, Tex., in 1940, entered Army service in 1941, and is a graduate of the Air War College in the class of 1952 and the National War College class of 1957.

Henderson was a prisoner of war in Europe from December, 1944, to May, 1945. He was assigned to Selfridge Air Force Base, Michigan, in July, 1947. From 1949 to 1951, he was director of operations, 10th Air Division, in Alaska. Subsequent assignments have been as commander of the 363rd Air Base Group, Shaw Air Force Base, S. C.; commander of the 66th Tactical Reconnaissance Group in Europe, and at the Pentagon in Washington.

Top Court Shuns Chessman Plea

The Supreme Court today rejected another appeal by Caryl Chessman, sex terrorist scheduled to be executed next Monday, Associated Press reported from Washington.

The highest tribunal without comment denied a hearing on Chessman's plea that to execute him now, in view of recent events, "cannot be squared with conscience and human dignity."

The court also rejected a request for a stay of execution.

At San Quentin Prison, Associate Warden Walter D. Achuff walked into Death Row and told Chessman of his latest defeat. Chessman simply nodded. He said nothing.

The Supreme Court's five-line order in the Chessman case stated:

"The application for stay of execution presented to Mr. Justice Douglas and by him referred to the court is denied. The petition for writ of certiorari (request for review) is also denied. The chief justice took no part in the consideration or decisions of these applications."

By numerous legal moves in state and federal courts, Chessman has spent nearly 12 years in Death Row fighting off the executioner.

Convicted in 1948 for kidnapping and sexually abusing two Los Angeles women, he escaped eight previous execution dates. The circumstances of the last stay, granted by Gov. Edmund Brown on a Feb. 19 death date, were emphasized in Chessman's latest appeal.

Chessman "was snatched from the very vapors of the gas chamber so that persons in South America would have no excuse for demonstrating against or harming President Eisenhower on his . . . trip there," the appeal said.

"Now that the President has returned," it added, Chessman "is to be returned to the cyanide pellet. We earnestly urge that such conduct on the part of the state cannot be squared with conscience and human dignity and is indeed, cruel, unusual and violative of due process."

A. L. Wirin, Los Angeles attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, filed the appeal, which also protested "the making of a human yo-yo of a prisoner under sentence of death."

Wirin's move was the 16th filed with the Supreme Court on behalf of Chessman.

"This is it. The Supreme Court of the United States has now closed the last judicial door.

"The only remaining open door is to the governor's conscience. I shall see the governor personally this week to appeal to him, after first conferring with Chessman tomorrow.

"The governor, having snatched Chessman from California's gas chamber, in a last hour reprieve, to save the President from untoward incidents on his South American tour, cannot now in good conscience send Chessman to his death.

"Governor Brown should now himself directly apply to the California Supreme Court for a recommendation from that court and upon securing a majority commute Chessman's death sentence."

Shark Attacks Skin Diver At Tomales Bay

A huge shark gashed the foot of a skin diver yesterday at the mouth of Tomales Bay. The victim said the shark was "as long as a 16-foot boat."

Frank Gilbert, 48, who lives in Petaluma and works for Railway Express Agency in Oakland, was treated in Petaluma for two deep gashes in his right foot. He spent the night in a hospital.

The wounded skin diver was hunting for abalone off Tomales Point when the big shark grabbed him by the foot. It tore off his diving flipper and the boot of his rubber suit.

Gilbert splashed water furiously as he had been taught to do in wartime training in the South Pacific when sharks were around. This scared the shark away.

Damage To Boat Shop Estimated At $45,000

Possibilities of arson and looting were being checked by Sausalito police and fire departments today after a $45,000 fire at a Sausalito boat shop and reports that $1,500 was missing from the firm's safe.

The fire broke out shortly after midnight at the Bauman Brothers and Dick Miller Associates shop, just off Bridgeway boulevard at the Sausalito Yacht Harbor. Part owner Dick Miller estimated damage to yachting supplies and stores at $35,000. Fire Chief M. J. (Matts) Perry said damage to the building would run between $8,000 to $10,000.

The building is owned by Madden and Lewis, Sausalito shipyard owners, whose own yard in Sausalito was burned to the ground in March.

Police Chief Howard W. Goerdnt would say only that "investigation was continuing" into reports that some $1,500 in cash and checks was missing from the safe of the fire-gutted building. Goerndt said "some" cash and checks were missing.

He said it was not known if they were taken from the safe before or after the fire, and declined to say if the safe appeared to have been tampered with.

Miller said a "mistake" had been made and that another person from the shop had removed the funds during the fire.

"Everything's all right now," he insisted.

Fire Chief Perry said the fire apparently started next to the safe, at the north side of the building.

Arson investigators from the National Board of Fire Underwriters were expected to check on the fire this afternoon, Perry said.

Firemen arrived on the scene after a 12:30 a.m. call, to find the blaze had a good start, but still was contained within the building. Two trucks and about

Marin Driver Accused In S.F. Hit-Run Injury

A San Rafael bakery truck driver was charged with felonly hit-run driving in San Francisco today after his car allegedly hit and seriously injured a retired Army colonel.

James E. McKinnon, 35, of 79 Woodland avenue, was captured miles away from the accident scene by a private patrol operator who heard a police broadcast of the hit-run's car description.

San Francisco police said McKinnon told them something broke his windshield, and he stopped within half a block but could not find the cause, so drove on.

But, said police, he left lying in the street at McAllister and Willard streets Col. Nathan McLamb, 56, of San Francisco.

At Letterman Army Hospital, McLamb was reported in serious condition with injuries including a fractured leg and mutiple cuts and bruises.

McKinnon, who said he was heading home to San Rafael after a night of bowling, was stopped on Woodside avenue near Portola drive by Jay McClymond, private patrol operator, about 15 minutes after the accident at 9:35 p.m. yesterday.

Party Ends With Fire, Flood, Fight; 'Crasher' Jailed, Arson Suspected

The heat came from two fires, believed to be of incendiary origin, which flared up in the home. When firemen went to battle the blaze, they said they had to battle a "party crasher" also. The man jumped on a fireman's back, then bit his thumb. Fellow firemen squirted the attacker with a fire hose.

The couple are away on a trip to Mexico. Their son, Ronald Louis Paul, 23, who is on leave from the Army, had invited several friends for a party, according to sheriff's deputies.

The man accused of biting a fireman's thumb is Gordon Steven Gray, 23, of 346 Santa Margarita avenue, San Rafael. He was jailed on suspicion of assault and battery and resisting arrest. Bailed for $817, he is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow afternoon.

Sheriff's Inspector Margo Melovich and Deputy A. V. Menjou launched an arson investigation today and planned to give lie dectector tests to "party crasher" Gray and some of the other guests.

Officers said Gray, who is married, was acquainted with Ronald Paul and his sister, Carolyn, who is attending University of California at Berkeley. However, Gray was not invited to the party Saturday night. "He just showed up out of nowhere," according to those at the party.

The unusual party started in this way, according to reports made to Deputy Menjou: Ronald Paul went to San Francisco to meet friends James C. Micrulins and Terry Sarles. They met three other men and picked up four girls and had a few drinks. Then they decided to go to Paul's house, where they played some records, danced and had some more drinks.

Then somebody discovered smoke coming from the bathroom in a cabinet. Pots of water were carried up from downstairs and the fire was extinguished, Micrulins told Menjou.

Then another fire broke out —this one in an upstairs bedroom. About this time "a stranger (Gray) appeared and started to give orders," Micrulins sad. "He dragged a mattress and bed downstairs and said, 'don't let the fire department in or the will damage things.'"

But someone else had already called the Kentfield Fire Department.

When firemen arrived and started dragging hoses upstairs, Gray tried to stop them.

It was at this time that Gray bit Fireman William John Will-

School Unification: What Does It Mean?

(This is the first of a series of articles on Marin County's school district setup and possibilities for revamping it.)

By DONALD G. DAVIS

Efforts by state officials to unify California school districts have very real meaning for Marin. A high official in the state Department of Education has stated that in only a few years, unification will be achieved throughout the state.

Marin and other counties have been ordered to prepare master plans for unification by 1963.

What could happen in Marin?

Will the Stinson Beach-Bolinas area some day have its own high school, served by a school district governed by one board of trustees?

Will the Reed Union School District have its own high school, served by a district carved from the present Tamalpais Union High School District?

Will the vast and comparatively undeveloped area of West Marin some day be reorganized as far as school districts are concerned? Will one big district serve the needs of the whole area from the Sonoma-Marin county line to Muir Beach?

TERROR IN BAHAMAS

'Pirates' Plunder Rescuers, Slay Man, Steal Boat

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Two shipwrecked Americans plundered their rescuers, shot a charter boat skipper to death and made off with his boat in a piratical exploit at a lonely Bahama island yesterday.

Another Coast Guard plane rescued the wife of one fugitive, a crewman of the stolen Isla Morada, Fla., cabin cruiser Murial III, and four Pennsylvania sport fishermen who told of being terrorized by the desperadoes' debate over whether to kill all witnesses to the slaying of Capt. Angus Boatwright, 55.

The woman gave her name in Nassau as Barbara Table, 18, and said she was shipwrecked with her husband, Alvin, 23, and William Sees, alias Johnson, 23, Tuesday in a boat the three took from Key West, Fla.

The Muriel III was off Elbow Cay, 106 miles south of Miami, when Boatwright spied mirror signals and saw the wreckage of a boat.

"The skipper was pretty leery of going in close," said Kent Hokanson, 21, mate of the Muriel III. "We thought they might be gun smugglers or Cubans."

"Then this guy (Sees) swam out to us. We let him aboard and he wanted us to go in closer and pick up another man and a girl. There was an argument. He pulled a revolver from his pants.

"Captain Boatwright got a shark rifle and Sees shot him twice, once between the eyes and once in the chest.

"The other man, Table, swam out next. They threatened to kill us but decided not to.

"Table said 'We can't let these guys stick around. They know us.'

"But the men in the fishing party talked them into letting us radio the Coast Guard that a man was injured and let us swim ashore.

Hokanson said Boatwright was floated ashore on life jackets but died in a few minutes. The desperadoes sped away in the Muriel III toward Cuba, 30 miles to the south. The Coast Guard cutter Ariadne, ordered to intercept it, was too far away to do so. A Coast Guard amphibian plane from Miami picked up Hokanson, Mrs. Table, Boatwright's body, and the four Pennsylvanians — Stanton C. Fogue of East McKeesports, Chester Haroop of Wilkinsburg, F. J. Schoalz of Monroeville and Edward McCrady of Pittsburg.

All were flown to Nassau for questioning by British authorities.

Convict Takes Life In Cell

A Bakersfield killer took his own life in a San Quentin Prison cell Saturday night, just three days after entering the prison to serve a life sentence.

It was the second death try for David Newton, 65, in the three days, reported a prison spokesman.

Newton was found strangled by a noose he had fashioned from a strip of blanket. He had fastened the blanket strip to a window padlock hasp and "sat down," the spokesman said.

He was found dead at 7:30 p.m.

Atom Disarm Plea Made By De Gaulle

Otherwise, French Must Stock Bombs, He Tells Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—French President Charles de Gaulle told Congress today that unless the United States, Britain and Russia agree to destroy their nuclear weapons, France will be compelled to stockpile them.

He told a joint session of the House and Senate that not only peace but life itself "will be in jeopardy if the temptation and the threat of war remain hanging over the world due to nuclear weapons."

MUST EQUIP SELF

De Gaulle, whose government exploded the first French atomic bomb in the Sahara desert earlier this year, said: "Failing the renunciation of atomic armaments by those states who are provided wth them, the French Republic obviously will be obliged to equip itself with such armaments."

De Gaulle spoke to the joint session after he and President Eisenhower concluded their pre-summit talks in general agreement on grand strategy for next month's Paris meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

IN AGREEMENT

At today's final sesson, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville were called in, detailed on what had taken place, and helped their chiefs polish up a final communique.

The visiting French leader said in his address to Congress he "does not despair at all of seeing peace established in the world" but on the nuclear ban possibilities, he said: "We have reached the last moment when an agreement appears possible."

DISARM PLAN

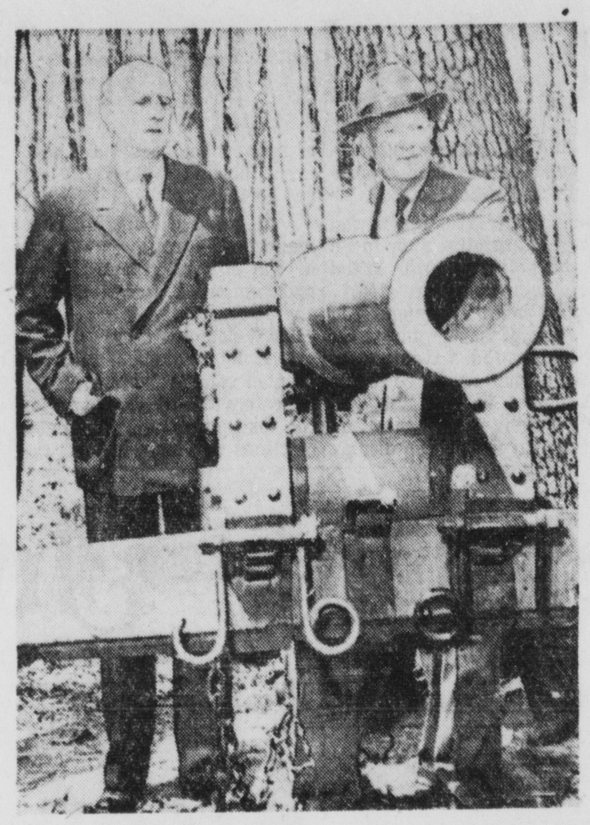

De Gaulle pointed out that France advocates a start toward complete nuclear disarmament by cutting back on rockets and missiles which could deliver the atomic or hydrogen payloads.

"To destroy these weapons by common consent, to enter the commitment not to manufacture any others, to open up all the territories to reciprocal supervision; there is no other hope for the future of our species," he bluntly told the U. S. legislators.

De Gaulle said that at the forthcoming summit meeting "The fate of mankind may be oriented either towards calamity or towards peace."

14 Hurt As Race Riots Flare On Biloxi Beaches

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — Racial violence over attempts by Negroes to swim at segregated beaches yesterday resulted in gunfire that wounded 10 persons. Four others were injured in beachfront fighting.

The first injured were four Negroes who went swimming in the Gulf of Mexico off the all-white beach in this resort city of 45,000. By midnight both whites and Negroes had been wounded in scattered clashes.

Police patrolled the city today.

Mississippi's worst race riot erupted suddenly on this 28-mile man-made beach under a warm sun on a lazy Sunday afternoon. Three bloody chapters followed in confused sequence.

First, about 50 Negro men, women and children gathered across the highway from a white hotel on the sand. Some stepped into the Gulf of Mexico, the signal for a group of whites to show up. Fighting broke out. Whites chased Negroes off the beach.

Next, four Negro men and about 25 women and children gathered on the beach in front of the New Biloxi Hospital about a mile away from the first fight. A white group broke up the crowd when some of the Negroes stepped into the gulf. There was on official version of the fighting, but the four Negroes injured in this melee said their attackers hit them with chains, blackjacks and sticks.

Still later, a huge crowd of Negros massed in front of the home of Dr. Gilbert Mason, Negro physician. Onlookers variously estimated the crowd at 400 and 500.

Police arrested Dr. Mason again yesterday. The charge was fighting and disrupting traffic.

Gun violence broke out at nightfall. Bullets and shotgun pellets wounded eight Negroes and two whites.

Judge's Body Found

CHICAGO (AP) — The finding of the body of missing Federal Judge W. Lynn Parkinson has climaxed one of Chicago's most famous missing persons cases. Still a mystery is how the 57-year-old jurist met his death.

A passerby spotted the judge's decomposed body yesterday floating face-down in Lake Michigan near the north edge of the Loop. This was several blocks from the Drake Hotel, where the judge vanished Oct. 26, apparently sick and dazed.

The body, identified by a cousin, fingerprints and identification cards, bore no apparent marks of violence.

Funeral Car Attacked

NEW YORK (UPI)—A mob of about 40 persons yesterday halted a limousine in a funeral procession, punched the driver and tried to drag out seven elderly passengers in the car, police said.

Authorities said the incident occurred shortly after a street fight in the neighborhood, but said the reason the mob attacked the occupants of the car was undetermined. Five 18-year-old youths were arrested.

Border Talks Failure?

NEW DEHLI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru and Red China's Premier Chou En-lai today met for the seventh time in their final day of talks on the border dispute between India and Red China. Indian observers were already calling the exchange a failure.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A single-engine airplane plummeted into a moving auto, killing the two occupants of the plane and three in the car in a flaming explosion yesterday. Three others in the car were injured.

Down Payment Cut?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government may cut the minimum down payment on houses purchased under FHA loans as much as $525 on homes costing more than $13,500.

Federal Housing Commissioner Julian H. Zimmerman is waiting for his staff to put together some late statistics on mortgage money conditions before he commits himself. Top housing sources say the final decision may be reached this week.

TV Actress Dies

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Actress Hope Emerson, who played roles in the Peter Gunn television series and the Dennis O'Keefe TV show, died last night of a liver ailment.

The movie and television performer succumbed to the ailment after being admitted to Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital Friday. Miss Emerson was nominated for an Academy Award in 1949.

Juan D. Peron was overthrown as President of Argentina on Sept. 19, 1955.

COUNTY COMMENT

By BILL FUSSELMAN

THE LETTER BELOW I sent out in 1942, when I was first elected Supervisor. Thinking you might be interested in reading it, I have had it reproduced for printing in today's paper.

THAT PLEDGE I HAVE KEPT, COMPLETELY

QUITE A PROCESSION of attempts by bureaucrats, both elected and appointed, to ignore your fundamental rights has occurred. These attempts I have vigorously opposed and will be telling you some of them, soon.

I WILL ALSO dwell on the last line of the letter . . . "THE RIGHT TO VOTE."

MY PLEDGE TO YOU

I will serve you fairly and well, if you elect me to office.

For 24 years I have lived among you....I know your problems and your needs.

I am no superman....just a plain average citizen, who is not afraid to stand up for your rights and who is not afraid to work.

If that is what you are looking for in a Supervisor, I can fill the bill.

Whether you vote for me or not....BE SURE TO VOTE.

THE RIGHT, AS FREE MEN AND WOMEN, TO HAVE A PART IN OUR GOVERNMENT;

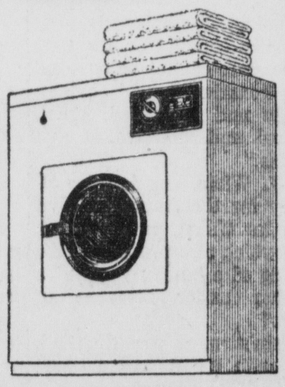

THE RIGHT TO VOTE.

Sincerely yours,

William D. Fusselman

Hikers Heading For Desert; Woman Gains On Servicemen

WELLS, Nev. (UPI) — Three British cross-country walkers, buffeted by sand and snow storms in Nevada, today headed toward the vast Salt Lake desert and the Bonneville salt flats in Utah.

Royal Air Force Sgt. Mervin Evans and army Sgt. Patrick Moloney took up the snappy pace that has carried them 45 miles a day early this morning 13 miles east of here on Highway 40, with Dr. Barbara Moore trailing by 14 miles, according to Highway Patrol Field Agent Bernard Bartz.

Bartz said he talked with the driver for the two servicemen last night and was asked if he knew of a private detective the party could hire to see if the woman was ridng part of the way.

The 56-year-old vegetarian picked up 15 miles on the servicemen yesterday by supposedly dogtrotting through a sleet and snow storm.

The sergeants have disputed this claim and also another that she covered 107 miles in 17 hours by the same means.

On the other side, the former wife of sculptor Henry Moore said she believed the men rode out the weekend storm in their truck, because "I know soldiers don't like to march in bad weather."

Dr. Moore, who spent the night here because of 10-degree weather, said she hoped to overtake the men before they reached Salt Lake City.

THIS HOME'S JUST DUCKY FOR MALLARD

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A wild, but not very, mallard duck apparently likes accommodations of the Milton Katz home in suburban Ladue.

This year what appears to be the same duck is back again, in the same window box. So far she's laid five eggs.

Gun Mishap Wounds Man

Donald Swan Works, 24-year-old Corte Madera painter, suffered a gunshot wound in his left hand when his rifle blew up yesterday in Novato, sheriff's deputies reported.

Works, who lives at 240 Sausalito street, Corte Madera, was treated at San Rafael General Hospital. He told Sheriff's Deputy R. F. Bertrand he fired one shot, which turned out to be a dud. He ejected the shell, and fired the second shot, which caused the rifle to blow up.

Works said the bullet from the dud may have been lodged inside the barrel.

Prowler Found In Novato Home

A Novato housewife, who got up last night to investigate noises in the living room, found a man crouched on his knees in the middle of the floor in the dark, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Mrs. Lucille A. Grady, 54, a postal clerk living at 1605 Hotchkins drive, said she screamed. The man scampered out the rear door and disappeared.

She told officers she was asleep about 10 p.m. when she was awakened by noises. Because of the darkness she did not get a clear description of the prowler.

FIVE SPLENDID REASONS TO STAY OFF JURY

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A man summoned for jury duty replied with a letter listing five reasons why he was declining to serve.

1. Judge's instructions are too dull and he doubted he could keep awake.
2. Lawyers rely too much on the theory of what a reasonable man would do under certain conditions when in reality such a man is purely a fictional character.
3. Legal formulas of "beyond a reasonable doubt" and "preponderance of evidence" cannot be measured in reality.
4. He could not in conscience accept the high pay of serving as a juror.
5. And anyway, it would be awkward for him to double as a juror since his name is Frank G. Swain and he is a judge in the superior court.

Couple, Son Injured In Car Crash

A Terra Linda couple and their year-old son suffered cuts and bruises last night when their small foreign car collided with a pickup truck at Third and B streets in San Rafael.

Robert J. Woodley, 28, of 570 Woodbine drive, Terra Linda, was headed east on Third street about 8 p.m. with his wife, Marilyn Mae, 26, and their son, Robert Eugene. Their car collided with a pickup truck driven by Marin Frank Perry, 48, of 12 Ross street, San Rafael.

The impact sent Mrs. Woodley and the baby crashing against the windshield. Both suffered cuts about the face and mouth. Woodley complained of knee and leg injury. The family went to Marin General Hospital for treatment.

Hamilton Fighter Wing Sponsors AF Academy Unit

The 78th Fighter Wing at Hamilton Air Force Base formally accepted the sponsorship of the 13th Squadron, 4th Group, of the Air Force Cadet Wing at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs Saturday.

A flight of F101 Voodoos and F102 Delta Daggers led by an F104 Starfighter flew over the field.

At a later ceremony in the huge messhall of the academy, Colonel Ceuleers presented a plaque with the wing's insignia to Cadet Hines, who will be graduated this June as a regular Air Force officer with the grade of second lieutenant.

Joan Moran of Marin Catholic High School not only placed first in the Marin-Sonoma Counties division of the Native Sons speech contest, but also received first place in the Coast Counties District finals held in San Jose Friday.

Her presentation was on the topic, "The Bells of San Rafael." Topics for the contest were limited to California History.

Missing Marin Man Turns Up In Iowa

Robert T. Orband, 29, Novato bakery truck driver missing from his home since last Tuesday, was heard from in Casey, Iowa, today and is returning home, his wife reported.

Orband, employed by the Peter Wheat Bakery in Vallejo, disappeared after being in an accident in a company truck near Davis on Tuesday.

His wife said he notified his employer by telephone this morning that he did not know how he had arrived in Iowa but was returning home at once.

At the time of his disappearance, Mrs. Orband had expressed fear that he might have suffered a head injury in the accident and might not be aware of who he was.

iams on the thumb, drawing blood. Fireman James Schulze, 22, squirted Gray with the fire hose. Gray was then forced out of the home so that firemen could concentrate on fighting the fire.

Sheriff's Inspector Marco Melovich reported, "From all indications it is felt that this case is one of arson with the use of an accelerant." Melovich said he had taken as evidence some burnt material and a pint container.

Gray, said he was passing by the house after attending a dance down the Peninsula with his wife, Nancy. He said he investigated when he saw "people were yelling fire and water was dripping from above the front door." His wife was sitting in the car in front of the home.

Said Fire Chief McLaren, "It's almost a physical impossibility to fight fire when you have so much outside interference."

McLaren said that the department was called out at 3:55 a.m. and he and crew found the house "pretty badly flooded from the broken sink upstairs." He called for an arson investigation.

Bomb Hoax Told At Seaplane Base

A telephone threat that there was a bomb planted in one of the airplanes at Commodore Seaplane Base near Richardson Bay Bridge turned out to be a prank, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Clyde W. Snyder, 40, of San Francisco, who owns the hangar, said he received two threats Friday night. He said he believed the calls were pranks and did not conduct a search.

Mrs. John Murray, San Francisco, reported to sheriff's deputies yesterday she had lost a watch valued at $1,500 while shopping Saturday at Brice Brothers Market, Bel Air.

The diamond-studded watch was in her wallet during the time she believes it was lost.

OBITUARIES

Robert Smyth Dies; Envoy, China Expert

Funeral services for Robert Lacy Smyth, a distinguished China expert and retired Foreign Service officer, will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday at St. John's Church in Ross.

Smyth died yesterday afternoon at Marin General Hospital after several months' illness. Since his retirement in 1955 he and his wife, the former Jane Evans Brown, had resided at 39 Edgewood way, San Rafael.

His career in China from 1920 to 1950 included successive assignments in Peking, Nanking, and Tientsin until each was abandoned by the United States. This involved him in a series of important avacuation arrangements for Americans resident in China between 1937 and 1950, as well as reporting political and economic developments.

Smyth was born in Foochow, China, in 1894, son of George Blood Smyth, president of Anglo Chinese College, and Alice Harris Smyth. In 1900 he returned to the United States and attended public schools in Berkeley and the University of California, from which he received an A.B. degree in 1917.

He joined the American Field Service Ambulance unit from the university and served with it in France, later enlisting in the French army for active service until the end of World War I. He was awarded the Croix de Guerre.

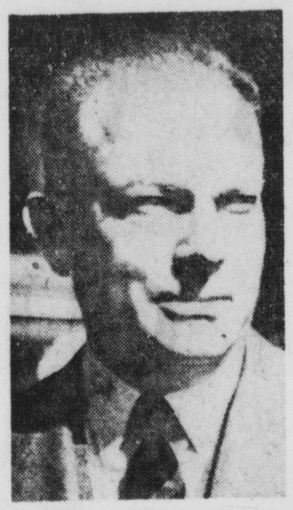

Returning to Berkeley, Smyth did a year of graduate work and then entered the Foreign Service. His first post was in Peking as a student interpreter, after two years of Chinese language study during which he traveled extensively into the China interior. Subsequent assignments placed him in every key American consulate in China.

By 1937, at the time of the Japanese attack at Lukouchiao near Peking, he was second secretary of the U. S. Embassy in Peking. Large numbers of American residents were then billeted on embassy grounds and one of Smyth's tasks was to arrange the evacuation of many.

Returning to Washington, Smyth was assistant director of the State Department's Far East Division during World War II. In 1945 he returned to China as counselor of embassy at Chungking and Nanking, participating in behind-the-scenes negotiations carried on by the Marshall Mission with China's Nationalists and Communists.

He was one of the signers on behalf of the United States of the 1946 Sino-American Treaty of Commerce and Industry. As consul general in Tientsin he was instrumental in bringing about the return to American owners of property holdings and in persuading Chinese authorities to allow non-Chinese lighterage of vessels, reducing demurrage on American ships.

At the time of the Communist takeover at Tientsin, Smyth's daily radio reports on Communist rules and regulations enabled Americans in yet uncaptured cities throughout China to arrange their affairs and leave the country with some of their assets. Until his departure in 1950 he was one of a small corps of experts able to interpret developments and conflicts.

ROBERT LACY SMYTH
Played key role in China

At the university Smyth was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Alpha Delta Phi. He was active after his retirement in the World Affairs Council of Northern California, and served on the Marin County Grand Jury.

Survivors include his wife; two sisters, Mrs. Norman W. Ford of Bolinas and Mrs. Walter Alvarez of Chicago, and a brother, William Harris Smyth of New York.

Marin Man Dies Of Heart Attack At Auto's Wheel

Coroner Frank J. Keaton said today an autopsy showed a heart attack, not the collision, caused Rossi's death.

Slight rib injuries resulted from the body's being thrown against the wheel when Rossi's car met in a low speed head-on collision with one driven by Mrs. Della J. Engle of 41-D Lovell avenue, Mill Valley. Rossi lived at 50 Mesa avenue.

Each car had two occupants but none was injured in the collision on the Shoreline highway at the Coyote Creek Bridge in Tamalpais Valley, according to California Highway Patrol report.

The coroner's finding supported observations of Highway Patrolman Cecil Hooper, who said the Rossi car was found halted against the front of the Engle car but on Mrs. Engle's side of the highway.

Mrs. Engle, a clerk for Sears Roebuck and Co. in San Francisco, told the patrol that she had been driving east at 30 to 35 miles an hour when she saw Rossi's car coming "straight at me in the left lane." Then she saw Rossi's head "go back" and "I knew something was wrong."

She said she applied her brakes and braced herself for the impact, which occurred with both cars at low speed.

Traffic was jammed for some time after the accident because the cars were halted so as to block passage over the bridge.

Rites Held For Marinite's Father

Funeral services for John Allerton, father of Mrs. Jose A. Silva of Woodacre, were held in Sacramento last week.

Allerton, 76, died of a heart attack early Easter morning at his home in Broderick, Yolo County.

He was a retired machinist for the Southern Pacific railroad and came to Broderick from London, England, in 1902.

Allerton was a frequent summer visitor to his daughter's home in Woodacre. In addition to her, he is survived by two other daughters, Mrs. Elain Meltzer of Manhattan Beach and Mrs. Ramona Palmer of Sacramento, four grandchildren and one great-grandson.

Burial was in the family plot in the Sacramento City Cemetery.

Arthur Cochrane Rites Tomorrow

Funeral services for Arthur B. Cochrane of San Anselmo, who died Saturday in a local hospital after a short illness, will be held tomorrow at 11:30 a.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross.

Cochrane was born in New York and for many years owned a tool manufacturing company in Evanston, Ill. He was a veteran of World War I, a charter member of American Legion Post 42 in Evanston, and a member of the York Rite Bodies of Masonry in Chicago.

After his retirement six years ago, he and his wife, Mrs. May M. Cochrane, traveled extensively before moving to 57 Tamalpais avenue in San Anselmo last September.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two sons, Paul G. Cochrane of Kentfield, and Cyrus M. Cochrane of Vermont, and eight grandchildren.

Burial will be in Mt. Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael, directed by Harry M. Williams Mortuary.

Woman Discovered Dead In Home

Mrs. Alice Louise Kiefer, 52, of 11 Roger drive, San Rafael, died last night at her home, apparently from an overdose of sedatives, police reported today.

Coroner Frank J. Keaton was to conduct an autopsy today.

The victim's husband, Harold Kiefer, is believed to be a salesman living in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Erma Mary Bridgett, a neighbor at 12 Roger drive, found Mrs. Kiefer collapsed in her bathroom about 8:30 last night and called a doctor. United Ambulance took Mrs. Kiefer to San Rafael General hospital, where she was pronounced dead.

Officer Leland Ahern said a pill container labeled with a prescription for sedatives was found on the floor of the bathroom where the victim law. No note was found.

Heart Patients Need Spinal Check-ups

by Dr. Robert W. Pearce

Heart trouble is the number one killer in the United States. After a breakdown, there are limits on what can be done to correct a heart disorder. Tissue that has been damaged cannot be replaced. But the heart is a strong organ and every effort should be taken to make the best use of the strength that is left.

Some heart disorders can be corrected. In any case, you should have a physical check-up regularly.

Many cases of heart trouble are the result of strangulation of the nerves that feed the heart. Frequently this pressure and choking of the nerves is caused by a slightly misaligned spine.

Often the heart trouble will clear up entirely once the spine has been corrected. Spinal correction is probably even more important if you have already suffered heart damage. Then you want to be certain your heart is getting proper nerve impulses to save what you have left.

Chiropractors are the best trained spine specialists and are expert in finding and correcting defects which can damage your heart.

Dr. R. W. Pearce, D.C. practices the Palmer Method. His office is at 1628 Fifth Ave., San Rafael, GL 3-6201.

Brain Damage

● Caffeine & Sleep
● Chest Pain

Q. Can anything be done for a child who has scar tissue of the brain? Can he learn from books?

A. Specific answers to these questions could be given only by the examining physician who would be able to determine the extent and nature of the brain damage. In general, the brain is something like the battery of your car. If one cell goes bad the entire battery is weakened. Perhaps the lights would burn but there would not be enough power to start the motor. Even though the battery is below par it is still capable of functioning at a reduced level of performance. So too, is the partially damaged brain capable of functioning within limits. The goal should be to develop the remaining mental capacities through patient and helpful instruction.

Q. If I drink a cola beverage during the evening I have trouble sleeping. Is this just "in my head" or do such drinks contain stimulants?

A. The exact composition of various carbonated drinks is a trade secret, but among other things cola drinks contain caffeine. Caffeine is, of course, a stimulant. A 6-oz. cola drink contains about a third as much caffeine as does a cup of reasonably strong coffee.

Q. On several occasions I have had very sharp pain over my heart. It's so severe that I can scarcely breathe. The pain lasts several minutes and then goes away. Could this be heart trouble?

A. Anyone who experiences chest pain should have a complete checkup. Chest pain can be a sign of real trouble although there is a kind of "catch" or sharp pain that is quite harmless. Sometimes a person will be seized with a sharp knifelike chest pain that is made worse by deep breathing. The discomfort may last several minutes. The origin of this type of pain is unknown but it does not seem to be associated with heart trouble. The important thing is to find out whether the chest pain is the harmless variety or due to some condition that requires medical treatment.

ONLY ONE OF ITS KIND IN MARIN—This is the administration building of the Novato Unified School District. It looks very much like any of several other school district offices in Marin County. But there's a difference. Novato, alone among Marin school districts, is a "unified" district. That means one school board and one administration directs education from kindergarten through 12th grade. (Independent-Journal photo)

Group To Light 'Life Flame' For Chessman

The Marin Chessman Committee plans to send a 20-foot tower of flame into the sky at 8 o'clock tonight on Wolfback Ridge above Sausalito.

"It is a life flame," committee spokesman Steven Warshaw said, "designed to symbolize the committee's opposition to the projected execution of Caryl Chessman at 10 a.m. next Monday."

The flame will burn continuously day and night, he declared, although reduced during the day when it will be less visible.

CEREMONY PLANNED

There will be a ceremony around the flame, Warshaw said, expected to involve some 200 persons, to be followed immediately by a series of strategy meetings. These meeting will be the continuation of sessions held throughout the weekend by groups that have been telephoning to other associations throughout Northern California.

The flame will be fed by a special propane jet designed by the same firm that created the eternal flame for the Squaw Valley Winter Olympics, Warshaw said. It will be manned by a subcommittee of the Chessman committee to be headed by Robert O'Leary, a Corte Madera real estate man.

PERMISSION GIVEN

Warshaw, who lives at 74 Cloud View road, Sausalito, said permission for the tower of flame has been given by the Marin County sheriff and the proper fire authorities. The fire will be located in a large clearing and will be continuously manned.

O'Leary was the first to propose the idea of an undying flame at the organization meeting of the Chessman committee Thursday night at the Gate Theater in Sausalito. He and George Draper, a San Francisco newspaperman, spent the weekend completing technical details for setting up the mechanism and getting clearance from authorities, Warshaw said.

INVITES PUBLIC

"The Marin Chessman Committee issues a public announcement inviting all persons oppose the Chessman execution or who oppose capital punishment to attend the Wolfback Ridge ceremony," said Warshaw. The site can be reached by taking the Spencer avenue overpass up the hill off the Waldo Grade.

"We are neighbors to official murder in Marin County, and regard ourselves as the group chiefly responsible for representing public opposition either to capital punishment or more specifically to the execution of Caryl Chessman."

Novato Has County's Only Unified Schools

occasionally bother the school-minded public of Marin. School boards grope for answers. Surveys are made, studied, discarded.

The core of the matter is an 11-cent word: Unification.

One of the public bodies that grapples with the word, its meaning, and its possible application in Marin is a group called County Committee on School District Organization.

Operating under state law, this committee has as one of its duties the study of whether school districts in Marin should be unified.

This committee began a study of unification of the Tomales and Marshall districts in West Marin, then postponed the study.

This committee held several meetings on unification of the Tamalpais Union High School District, and then voted to discontinue the study.

This committee has returned to a study of unification in the coastal region, and has a request from the Bolinas and Stinson Beach school boards to study West Marin area unification. Another request for a study has been made by the West Marin school board.

This committee has been asked by the trustees in the Fairfax and San Anselmo districts to study unification of the two districts.

This committee must prepare, by Sept. 15, 1963, and submit to the state Board of Education a master plan on unification for Marin.

According to the state Education Code, the committee "shall prepare and submit (to the state board) a master plan for including all the territory of the county, including territory of adjacent counties where necessary, in all school districts so that each school district shall provide an educational program including all grades from kindergarten or first grade through grade 12 together with other types of reorganization which would constitute intermediate steps to the establishment of districts operating all grades through grade 12."

The specific article in the Education Code calling for the master plan provides also that the state make the plan if the county committee fails to, and that the state Board of Education can approve the whole or part of the plan.

The Marin committee has not started the master plan study. It is estimated that $3,000 will be needed to implement the plan, and the local committee is waiting to see if the funds will be voted by the Legislature.

But the 11-letter word is still being kicked around. One member of the committee would call for elections today, with the feeling that certain areas, without a voter batting an eyelash, would approve of unification.

Another member said the voters do not even know what unification means. She said she was "appalled" at the lack of knowledge among women voters and parent-teacher groups.

"These are the thinking people of our community," she said recently. "At least they are supposed to be. And they don't even know what school unification means."

There is only one unified district in Marin — the Novato Unified School District. Its birth almost was a necessity, but it has experienced painful growth.

It has a system of kindergarten through 12th grade, administered by one superintendent, governed by one school board, operating on one budget and one school program. And that, essentially, is what the 11-letter word means.

But a survey made recently by the Independent-Journal revealed that even some school trustees, teachers and parent-teacher officers do not know that it is simply that. Some persons in this "education" group evidenced vague feelings about "consolidation" and "coordination."

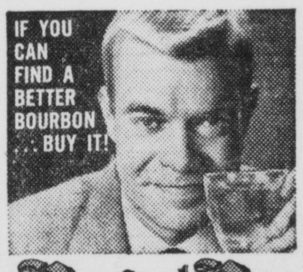

Most of them know what unification means, and most of them want it. And almost all of them are opposed to county-wide unification. They favor smaller unified districts.

Oistrakh, seemingly devoid of artistic temperament, clowned through the picture-making in St. Louis. He managed an exaggerated soulful expression as he tucked the violin under his chin.

High Court To Review Legality Of 'Blue Laws'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court agreed today to determine the constitutionality of the ancient Sunday "blue laws" of three states—Maryland, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

The court will hold oral arguments on the blue laws issue in the term beginning next October and will follow with a written opinion. Its decision was expected to establish a rule of law to govern these Sunday statues which date back to colonial days.

The laws, which generally restrict business and other activity on Sundays, were challenged recently in various states by Jewish merchants who contended that they discriminated against them in favor of Christian competitors. Saturday is their Sabbath.

In other actions today, the court:

1. Left standing a lower court ruling blocking a 10-million-dollar stock repurchase agreement by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. The agreement was opposed by the government and a group of the company's stockholders.

2. Dismissed the appeal of William H. Phillips 44-year-old Hempstead, Long Island, N. Y., repairman, now facing death for the rape murder of 8-year-old Sunday Graham in 1958. The brief order left New York state free to carry out the execution.

3. Agreed to review the contempt of court conviction of Carl Braden of Louisville, Ky., who balked at answering questions put to him in Atlanta, Ga., in 1958 by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. He was sentenced to a year in jail.

4. Denied hearings to two convicted murders awaiting death in Texas and Florida, respectively. They are George Moses and Norman Mackiewicz, each of whom was convicted of killing a policeman.

CANCER DRIVE WORKERS WILL BE OUT TONIGHT

The chances are high that one of your neighbors — a Cancer Crusade volunteer— will call on you today between the hours of 5 and 8 p.m.

Today is C-Day, culmination of the month-long fund-raising and educational campaign of the American Cancer Society.

More than 2,000 Marin County volunteers will be going house-to-house in their neighborhood areas, asking for contributions for the annual Cancer Crusade, which seeks to raise $30,000 in Marin County.

Mrs. Robertson Ward, county chairman of the Cancer Crusade, said she hopes Marin residents will take the words of the campaign slogan to heart: "Guard Your Family. Fight Cancer With a Checkup and a Check."

Among other things he cleaned up a bottle of whisky which had been impounded in an arrest. He got 30 additional days for taking the whisky and 30 more for being drunk in the police station.

Wrist Cuts Send Woman To Hospital

Mrs. Janet Y. Hulsey, 20, of 333 Locust avenue, San Rafael, slashed her wrists with a razor blade last night, police reported.

She was taken by ambulance to the San Rafael Hospital saying, "Let me die, I want to die." I want to die." Refused admittance is her mental condition, she was taken to the Napa State Hospital.

Mrs. Hulsey, according to police reports, was going to beauty school in San Francisco but was forced to discontinue when she suffered a back injury and had to wear a cast. Since that time she had been staying with friends, Mrs. Virgina O'Connor and Mrs. S. M. Weikotten, at the Locust avenue address.

Another friend, Lawrence W. Ledwick of the same address, said the four had gone for cocktails to a neighbor's last night, then returned home for dinner.

While the others sat down to dinner, Mrs. Hulsey went upstairs to the bathroom. Sensing something was wrong, Ledwick went to investigate. Mrs. Hulsey had cut her wrists and was bleeding badly, he said. When he went to call a doctor, Mrs. Hulsey ran outside, and was lying in the yard in an hysterical condition, he told officers.

Mrs. Hulsey is a divorcee.

MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE

Youth Orchestra Presents Concert Of High Quality

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

A well trained orchestra and choir, outstanding soloists, and a program of high quality music combined to make last night's Marin Youth Orchestra concert a memorable experience.

Received enthusiastically by an audience that almost filled Marin Catholic High School auditorium to capacity, the concert had two unusual features.

One was the premier performance of an orchestral work, "Overture for a Carnival," commissioned for the Youth Orchestra, with the composer, Dr. Leonard Ratner, present. The other was presentation of a major contemporary masterpiece, "The Sacred Service" by the late Ernest Block the composer's granddaughter, Sita Dimitroff, sang in the choir.

"Pastoral Suite" by the contemporary composer Lars-Erik Larsson proved a pleasing opening number for the 70-member orchestra of Marin high school students directed by Hugo Rinaldi.

Taking solo honors in the next number, Bach's fourth Brandenberg conerto, were flutists Wendy Eisler and Pat Hurtado and violinnist Bob Talmage, who gave an accomplished rendition of this difficult contrapuntal work.

Thoroughly deserved was the prolonged acclaim received by the orchestra's young concertmaster, Tom Reynolds, for his performance of the first movement of Tchaikovsky's Concerto in D Major for violin and orchestra. Although lacking the mature artist's full-bodied tone and virtuosity in tempo, he showed much technical facility and poise, especially in the famous unaccompanied cadenza.

Most interesting number on the program was Ratner's colorfully orchestrated "Overture for a Carnival," played by the young people in a true carnival spirit. Although it took some observable time-counting to follow the beat of its polyrhythms, often in Latin-American style, it paid off in the best performance of the evening on the part of the orchestra.

True intonation, one of the most difficult achievements for amateurs, was not always present. But neither is that so of many professionals. On the whole the young musicians play very well, and promoting the growth of young talent in this way is a highly commendable project of the Symphony Guild of Marin.

If the overture was the most interesting number, the "Sacred Service" was the most impressive, with Tamalpais High School's 60-voice choir joining forces with the orchestra to present a remarkably mature reading of Bloch's profoundly religious work.

Baritone Joseph Reade sang the role of the cantor with an excellence of diction and emotional insight far beyond his years.

At the conclusion of the concert, Rinaldi and the orchestra and the choir with its director, Robert Greenwood, received an ovation that lasted some minutes.

McCormick Faces Red-Hot Cards Tonight

ST. LOUIS — Manager Bill Rigney plans defensive shifts in the late innings when his San Francisco Giants have a lead.

He indicated he would substitute for left-fielder Orlando Cepeda in the late going—after the Giants blew a two-run lead and lost 9-4 to Chicago Sunday.

The Cubs, before 20,818 in Wrigley Field, came up with a seven-run eighth inning after two were out. Bob Will's pinch hit pop fly three-run single was the big blow.

The ball fell among Cepeda, shortstop Eddie Bressoud and third baseman Jimmy Davenport. Cepeda didn't get a good jump on the ball. The same kind of blooper gave the Cubs a ninth inning victory in Candlestick Park April 14.

"We are going to have to defense a little now and then," said Rigney. He might move Cepeda to first in the late going for Willie McCovey and put fleet Felipe Alou in left. Or he could move vastly improved Willie Kirkland from right to left and put Alou in right.

Young Mike McCormick risks his perfect 2-0 record and attempts to insert the shocked Giants back into a first place National League tie tonight when he meets the rejuvenated St. Louis Cardinals.

McCormick, hurled a three-hit, 6-1 win at the Cardinals nearly two weeks ago in Candlestick Park. He had a no-hitter going until the eighth when Stan (The Man) Musial rapped a single.

The Cardinals appear red-hot after sweeping three games from Los Angeles. They lost their first five of the season, including two to San Francisco.

Until the eighth in Chicago yesterday the Giants appeared to be heading for their fourth straight victory. Willie Mays hit his first homer of the season — the 10th straight game he's hit in—and by the fourth the San Franciscans were leading 4-1.

Starter Billy O'Dell gave up a pinch hit homer to Earl Averill in the seventh, and Billy Loes started the eighth.

Loes got the tough hitters, Ernie Banks and Frank Thomas quickly. But he gave a single to George Altman and walks to pinch batters Walt Moryn and Sammy Taylor. Will singled and Tony Taylor homered and Richie Ashburn walked. Stu Miller relieved and was greeted by singles from Lou Johnson and Banks. Bud Byerly finally got the side out by getting the 13th batter, Sammy Drake, to ground out.

Loes took the defeat, his first against two victories. Don Elston, who worked an inning after Bob Anderson went the first seven, won his second.

Mays and Willie Kirkland had quite a time in the three-game Chicago series. Mays went 8 for 13, Kirkland 8 for 11. Kirkland ran his string to six straight hits before Elston threw a called third strike.

TRAFFIC JAM IN CHICAGO — Chicago second baseman Tony Taylor starts head-long diving into first base as he beats out a bunt in first inning against Giants yesterday. Making desperate lunge to tag Taylor is Willie McCovey, as pitcher Billy O'Dell dances out of the way. Cubs won 9-4. (AP Wirephoto)

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

So Many 'Ifs' Surround S. F. Loss; Billy O'Dell Is The Hard-Luck Guy

CONNOLLY

It shouldn't happen to a dog, but it happened to the Giants. One day they beat the brains out of the Chicago Cubs and the next day the vice gets versed.

But that's baseball, and I'm not crying. Any time we can get out of Wrigley Field with two out of three games it is like another step up the long ladder to the pennant.

What happened yesterday simply cannot be explained by any bit of rational reasoning. Seven runs in one inning is possible, but what are the odds of having 10 consecutive baserunners after two men are out? And those two outs the best hitters on the club, Ernie Banks and Frank Thomas!

You can throw in all kinds of "ifs" and still not come up with the answer. Ig O'Dell had continued pitching he might have muddled through. If Rigney had gone to his bullpen sooner, the uprising might have been cut short. If that one lousy pop fly had been a foot one way or the other the side is out and the inning just a goose egg in the record book.

SOMEHOW I like to think it is not the failure of the pitchers that causes these occasional outbursts as much as it is the contagion that strikes the offensive club.

It happens in all sports. A football team that is two touchdowns behind suddenly can do no wrong. Every pass or run gains yards and seven points go up on the scoreboard. The defending team fumbles the kickoff and away we go again. Five minutes later this same team can be as cold as a mackerel in a deep freeze.

Professionals learn to be philosophical about this phenomenon. A pitcher who threw a shutout will come back in his next game and can't get a man out, even though he feels great and his ball is working nicely. Already this year we saw young Mike McCormick sandwich a stinker in between two of his greatest games.

THE SADDEST part of the whole situation is the fate of Billy O'Dell. This classy little southpaw is the guy who looks like the difference between third place and first place for the Giants this year. And hard luck Billy has yet to chalk up his first win. If it is any consolation he wasn't charged with the loss this time. Maybe his luck is changing.

I hope the Giants learned a lesson from the pasting they took. And that is that the runs you have are never enough. With a comfortable lead early in the game the Giants blew chance after chance to add to their total. It is hard to keep a club "high" on the day after they have made 18 runs, but that hungry meanness is the thing that makes a champion.

It is a noble and a wonderful thing to have compassion for your fellow man, or to turn the other cheek.

But not in professional sports!

Finsterwald carded rounds of 69-66-66-69 for a 14-under par total and the $3,500 first place money. His 72-hole total sliced six strokes off the tournament mark of 276 set by Henry Picard in 1941.

Finsterwald, of Tequesta, Fla., always deadly in his short game, finished six strokes ahead of his nearest pursuer, Al Besselink of Grossinger, N. Y. Besselink fired a 70 in the final round yesterday for a 276 and second place money of $2,300.

Four players were bunched for third place behind Besselink. Johnny Pott, Doug Sanders, Bob Rosburg, and Houston LaClair had 277's.

REDWOOD ACE NAMED MARIN PREP OF WEEK

Rich Brear, who pitched Redwood's Giants to a 4-1 victory over Novato Friday, has been named Marin County Athletic League's "Prep of the Week" by the Independent-Journal and Radio KTIM.

Brear, a junior righthander, gave up only three hits, struck out 11 batsmen and walked only three in the first round of the championship schedule.

He will receive a certificate of honor for the I-J and KTIM. Brear also stars in football as an end and basketball as a forward.

The MCAL baseball schedule resumes tomorrow with three games on tap. Feature game will be between Redwood and the Tamalpais Indians, who also won their opener Friday. The game will be played at Redwood. Elsewhere Drake invades San Rafael to battle the Bulldogs at Albert Field and Marin Catholic meets Novato Hornets at Novato. FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — An unusual musical instrument is on display at the Kentucky Historical Society Museum — a giraffe piano.

Upsets Mark First Round Of Marin Amateur Golf Tourney

Medalist and tourney favorite Del Taylor and Mill Valley City Champion Ed Johnson were victims of the upsets. Taylor, who won the title in 1958, lost to Byron Eggleston of San Rafael by a 2 and 1 margin. The match ended on the 17th hole when Eggleston canned a birdie putt. Taylor is a resident of Corte Madera and an annual fixture in the championship bracket.

HOLE-IN-ONE

Best single shot of yesterday's competition came in the First Flight when Skip Larkin of Mill Valley fired a hole-in-one on the 17th hole. The ace, however, failed to help Larkin's match as he lost a one-up decision to Gary Johnson, son of the Mill Valley champion.

The field of 117 now cut in half, the tourney will resume next Sunday at the Mill Valley municipal course.

Results of the first two flights (other flights results to be published late in the week):

Championship Flight — Byron Eggleston d. Del Taylor, 2 and 1; Jack Rademann d. Hank Hartman, 19th hole; Bob Mordecai d. Ed Johnson, one up; Bob Brossier d. Ed Bullis, 5 and 4; Gary Mialocq d. Steve Harris, 4 and 3; Don Whitney d. Russ Adams, 4 and 3; Gene Tweedt d. John Mullen, 1 up; Steve Simon d. Frank Compagna, default.

First Flight—Dick Neely d. Chet Howlett, 19th hole; Dan Reed d. Jim Cram, 5 and 4; Bob Wornick d. Ed King, 6 and 5; Hugh Corthell d. Jack Martin, 4 and 3; Bill Canham, bye; Mat Simone d. Howard DuPree, 2 and 1; Gary Johnson d. Skip Larkin, 1 up; Pat Cassidy d. Ira Ahern, default.

NCAA Meets, May Slap Violators

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The NCAA Council, which can and frequently does chastise misbehaving colleges, was expected to hear a report today by its committee on infractions.

This committee, headed by George H. Young of Wisconsin, indicated earlier this month it planned to present at least one case to the 18-man council.

Kansas, North Carolina and Louisiana State have been mentioned as schools possibly on the committee carpet but Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, declined comment yesterday.

The committee has concerned itself to a large degree in past years with recruiting excesses, and its recommendations have meant stern action by the council involving Auburn, North Carolina State, Tulsa, and Oklahoma among others.

Hannum To Coach Syracuse Cagers

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Alex Hannum, former defensive star of the Syracuse Nationals, returned to the National Basketball Assn. team today as coach.

Dan Biasone, president of the Syracuse club, said Saturday he had hired Hannum on a two-year contract. The salary was not disclosed.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Bucs, Cards Jolt Flag Contenders

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

"They can't write us off. We were only three games out on the first of September."

Everybody smiled and looked wise when Danny Murtaugh, the Pittsburgh manager, boldly stated his case in March at Ft. Myers, Fla.

Murtaugh's analysis looks solid at this early stage of the National League race. The season is only two weeks old, but his Pirates are riding in first place.

The Pirates sneaked into the lead yesterday by knocking off Milwaukee 7-3 while the San Francisco Giants were losing to the Chicago Cubs 9-4. It was Pittsburg's fifth straigh victory and its eighth in 11 starts.

Once again it was Elroy Face walking from the bullpen to save the day. Harvey Haddix had been rolling adong with a 7-0 shutout going to the the ninth.

A double by Joe Adcock, a walk, a double by Johnny Logan, a sacrifice fly and another double by pinch-hitter Mike Krisnich finished Haddix. In came Face to strike out pinch-hitter Charley Lau and end the game by making Red Schoendienst ground out.

The Giants had a 4-2 lead going to the eighth when Billy O'Dell was replaced by Billy Loes. When the inning was over the Cubs had seven runs and the ball game. Don Elston was the winner.

DODGERS WHIPPED

Solly Hemus' St. Louis Cardinals won their fourth straight, after losing their first five, hammering Los Angeles pitching for a 7-2 decision. Ken Boyer hit his fifth homer and old man Stan Musial poled No. 2.

Eight homers were hit in the Phillie-Cincinnati doubleheader including a grand slammer by rookie Jim Coker in the Phils' opening 9-5 victory. Roy McMillan his his fifth and Frank Robinson and Eddie Kasko each added his second of the day in Cincinnati's 10-4 second game triumph.

PODRES LOSER

Bob Miller, 21-year-old right hander, was the Cardinal winner although he needed help from Ron Kline and Lindy McDaniel. Johnny Podres was the Dodger loser. Ted Wieand, Cincinnati relief man walked the first two men he faced in the first game with the Phils and then gave up the grand slammer to Coker. Later in the afternoon he was shipped to the Havana farm. Rookie Chris Short won the first for the Phils and Jim Owens lost the second. Bob Purkey was the Cincinnati loser in the opener. Don Newcombe won the second.

Cards Boast Majors' Top Relief Ace

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Lindy McDaniel is a devout church worker and frequent Sunday School teacher, but as ace relief hurler for the St. Louis Cardinals he's making believers of another sort out of opposing batsmen.

Manager Solly Hemus flatly calls him "the best reliever in the majors." Lindy's making him look good with six shutout relief jobs in the Redbird's first nine games.

In his six relief appearances Lindy has pitched 8⅔ scoreless innings, almost a full game, allowing only three hits. He's walked four and struck out four.

Hemus said he would rather have McDaniel than Milwaukee's Don McMahon or Pittsburgh's Roy Face—who had an 18-1 record in relief last year.

He noticed the success Face was having with a forkball and added the pitch to his repertoire.

Early Wynn's second straight failure, the slugging of the Detroit Tigers and the performance of the New York Yankees' young pitchers cast a new light on the American League situation today after only one week of the season.

Wynn was slugged for six runs in the first inning yesterday as Detroit humbled the defending champion Chicago White Sox, 12-4. The 40-year-old right-hander who won 22 games for the 1959 pennant winners had been knocked out on opening day by Kansas City.

Casey Wise, who hit one homer in the last three years in the majors, hit two. Lou Berberet, a .216 hitter last year, hammered a grand slammer off Wynn, climaxing that big first inning.

The Yankees tied an American League record by scoring eight runs in the first inning before Baltimore could get anybody out. Although Jim Coates, an opening day winner, weakened and needed relief the issue never was in doubt in a 15-9 Yankee victory.

Cleveland finally got into the win column, shutting out Kansas City 7-0 on Gary Bell's six-hitter and Woody Held's two home runs. Washington had to call on Camilo Pascual in relief to hold an 11-10 decision over Boston.

The National League matched the American's total of 15 homers to make it 30 for the day, including four grand slammers. Three grand slammers in the American by Berberet and Albie Pearson and Billy Klaus of the Orioles tied the major league record.

HOME RUN BINGE

Detroit has smashed 11 home runs in its last four games. Jimmy Dykes, the manager, must be wondering what is happening. A few days back there were rumors he was on the way out, now he is the only unbeaten manager in baseball.

For the second straight day Dykes got a complete game from his pitching staff. Paul Foytack, handicapped by arm trouble in the spring, survived a shaky start to match Frank Lary's nine-inning effort of Saturday.

Tony Kubek hit a pair of homers for the Yanks and Elston Howard slammed one in their fourth straight victory. The Yanks are only a half game back of the Tigers.

Boston collected 20 hits, including homers by Vic Wertz, Bobby Thomson and rookie Lou Clinton, but Pascual finally stopped them to save a decision for Jack Kralick over Al Worthington.

Hank 8-5 Choice Over Calhoun In Cow Palace 'War'

Rory Calhoun attempts to overcome his Cow Palace jink tonight by meeting confident Henry Hank in a 10-round, non-televised middleweight bout that some ring experts predict may not last the distance.

Hank has ntver been knocked out. But Calhoun, with an extremely long reach and a sneak overhand right, could turn the trick.

Likewise Hank, who dispatched Sixto Rodriguez of San Anselmo in seven rounds last Feb. 17, boasts he can stop a man with either hand. He is an 8-5 favorite.

Calhoun, of New York City, has visited the Palace four times unsuccessfully. He was flattened by Spider Webb, outpointed by Bobo Olson, and dropped a controversial decision to Webb in re-match last Feb. 26.

Winner of the fight faces a possible title bout. Matchmaker Bennie Ford has announced he will offer World Middleweight Champ Gene Fullmer a $125,000 guarantee to defend his title here against tonight's winner.

Hank, rated third by the NBA, has stopped 15 of his past 20 opponents and asserts that he'll shoot for a knockout tonight.

"If I hit him good with either hand he'll go," the Detroiter claims.

CALHOUN DANGEROUS

Some say Calhoun has appeared wobbly in several recent encounters. But Hank has developed the habit of dropping his hands to invite a lead. This could prove disastrous against Calhoun, who only has been stopped once.

Hank has won 30 of his 41 triumphs by knockout. Calhoun has 43 victories, 21 by kayo.

No radio broadcast is scheduled. First of the preliminary bouts begins at 8:30 p.m. with the main attraction set for approximately 9:45.

"I think he's over-rated and I'm happy for this oportunity to fight him," said Calhoun. "I don't think he's ever met a real hard puncher yet, and I expect to test him and see how well he can take it."

"I don't expect Calhoun to be much of a problem for me," opines the cocky Detroiter.

Matchmaker Ford is hopeful of a $40,000 gate for what he believes will be a duplication of the Tony Zale-Rocky Graziano slugfest.

The prelims: Willie Richardson, San Jose vs. Joe Sullivan, San Francisco, heavyweights, six rounds; Hank Nieto, San Francisco, vs. Charley Robinson, San Francisco, featherweights, four rounds; Noe Valdez, Fresno vs. Leon Nelson, Stockton, featherweights, four rounds; Earl Cantrini, San Mateo vs. Floyd Ryan, San Francisco, middles, four rounds, and Leo Durant, San Francisco vs. Al Azevedo, Fresno welters, four rounds.

MARIN MAN WINS STATE LIFTING TITLE

Carrell Varner of San Rafael won the California AAU Weightlifting Championship for 165-pounders Saturday night and two of his teammates of the MarVel Athletic Club of Marin County placed third in their respective divisions. The competition was held in Los Angeles.

Varner, 21, turned in his greatest performance to take over the state throne from former world and Olympic champion Frank Spellman who did not compete. Varner made a 230-pound Press, a 220-pound Snatch and 300-pound Clean-and-Jerk for a total of 750, some 60 pounds more than his nearest rival.

Marin's other entries were Danny Preston, 17, third in the 148-pound class, and Joel Brower, 21, also third, in the 165 division. Preston totaled 620 pounds 30 over his best previous; Brower came in with a 675 total.

Several Marin youths are expected to compete in the National Teen-Age Championships in Richmond Auditorium May 7.

Noble Noor Injured; Out Of Ky. Derby

SAN MATEO (AP)—Noble Noor was injured slightly in winning the California Derby at Bay Meadows and will not run in the Kentucky Derby May 7.

Dr. and Mrs. John R. Smith, owners of the stretch-running son of Noor, said today they were heartsick because they had been forced to declare him from the run for the roses at Louisville.

Noble Noor apparently rapped himself on the inside of his right foreleg in his Saturday victory over Henrijan. A slight swelling was observed on the leg this morning.

While the injury probably will sideline Noble Noor only about three weeks, it was serious enough to decide against shipping him to Kentucky. His trainer said Noble Noor would be vanned to Hollywood Park later today.

"He will be rested for a short period and if all goes well we can start breezing him in about three weeks."

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Elmore's Henrijan, overtaken in the last 20 yards of the mile and an eighth California Derby, will be flown to Louisville for the Derby.

Angel Valenzuela, Henrijan's rider in the California classic, will ride the son of All Blue at Louisville.

TRACK AND FIELD HIGHLIGHTS

'I'll Do Better', Says Oregon Star After 3:58.6 Mile Run

COMBINED AP & UPI

Don Burleson, University of Oregon sophomore who Saturday became the second American to run a sub-four minute mile, says he can run even faster.

Burleson nipped Stanford's Ernie Cunliffe by about 12 yards in 3:58.6. The 19-year-old's time was a tenth of a second under that of California's Don Bowden, who ran a 3:58.7 mile at Stockton, Calif., in 1957.

"I think—I know I can run faster," Burleson said afterwards at the meet in Eugene, Ore.

"It was relatively easy to kick by him (Cunliffe) going into the stretch and I had something left when the race was over."

Cunliffe set the pace and ran 4:00.4, his all-time best, placing him among America's top three milers.

"You have to give Ernie a lot of credit," Burleson said. "He did all the work. It's easy for someone to follow and let the other guy set the pace."

Burleson said he figured he had a sub four minutes mile going during the race.

"On the third lap I knew we would be under," he said.

Burleson was timed in 62.5 for the first lap, 59.9 on the second, 58.8 in the third and finished with 57.4.

Oregon won the dual meet from Stanford, 87-44.

Cunliffe said, "If I had a complaint, I think it would be that I ran the first lap too slowly. But Burleson is tough . . . just too tough."

In other top performances Saturday, John Thomas of Boston University cleared 7 feet, ½ inch in the high jump to break Charlie Dumas' NCAA record, and Bill Nieder got off a throw of 63 feet, 10¼ inches in the shutput.

Thomas made his jump in the Boston U.-Dartmouth dual meet at Hanover, N. H. It was his first outdoor competition in almost two years and showed he was ready to resume his assault on Yuri Stapanov's world record of 7-1.

Nieder's shotput at the Kansas Relays in Lawrence was anticlimactic to his fantastic 65-7 toss two weeks ago. However, it did beat Parry O'Brien's listed world mark of 63-4¼. That he can do better he made obvious when he was warming up. During the practice session he got off a 66-1¼ flip.

"I can beat O'Brien," he observed. He'll have his chance at the Drake Relays this weekend. Nieder and O'Brien have been accusing each other of ducking head-to-head competition.

O'Brien was beaten by Dave Davis in the San Antonio Relays at Walnut, Calif. Davis got off a toss of 68-8½. The best O'Brien could do was 61-7¼. Dallas Long, the other member of the Fearsome Foursome, was third with 61-2¾.

Glen Davis, the Olympic 400-meter hurdles winner in '56, won his specialty in 51.8 in the Ohio Relays in Columbus. That was under the Olympic standard of 52.2. Hayes Jones ran the 110-meter hurdles in 13.6, equalling the fastest clocking of the season for the event—his own.

Dave Sime, world record holder in both the 200 meters and 220-yard dash, won the 100-meter dash in 10.4 in the Norfolk, Va. Relays.

Harrison Is Loser In Ring Finals

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP)—Toby Gibson of Spokane twice floored Dean Harrison of Hamilton Air Force Base and won the 147-pound final of the Western regional Olympic boxing tourney Saturday.

Gibson was named outstanding boxer of the tourney which decided contenders for the San Francisco tournament May 18-19 to pick the United States Olympic boxing team.

Clarence James of San Francisco, 165 pounds, over Jerry Beebe, Idaho State.

Don Rouse of Pocatello Gridiron Club, 178 pounds over Willie Bell, San Francisco.

Hartnett Says Banks Has Chance To Smash Ruth's Home Run Record

HANLEY

ST. LOUIS—Until Ernie Banks came along, Gabby Hartnett always was known as the man whose life time homer production was the greatest compiled by any Cub in the 85-year history of the Chicago club.

In less than half of the 1,926 games it took the old Cub catcher to collect 231, the current Cub shortstop tied Hartnett's mark in his 928th game and every big belt now by Banks is setting new record.

How does Hartnett feel about losing the honor he held 20 years since hitting his last Cub homer in 1940? Before flying out of Chicago last night with the Giants for dear old St. Louis, we ran Gabby down in his plush Chicago bowling emporium and asked him.

"My congratulations to Ernie," he said. "It's time somebody took it over. Records are made to be broken. I only wish I'd hit another 100—but that would have held Ernie off for no more than another three years.

"Banks is the most natural hitter I've ever seen. The only right-handed hitter you could compare him to would be Rogers Hornsby. But Banks has better reflexes than Hornsby had. Ernie pulls more balls to left because his reflexes are so fast.

Does Banks have a chance to break Ruth's record of 60 homers in a single season?

"Sure he does," said Hartnett. "As I said, records are made to be broken. Tell you one thing, though, Ruth's homer record will fall long before Hack Wilson's all-time major league record of 190 RBI's in 1930. That was the year Hack came within four homers of tying Ruth's record. Hack knocked in more runs that year than I ever got base hits in a season."

What was the most thrilling and important homer Hartnett ever hit?

"ONE I'LL never forget," said Gabby. "It was in the next to last game of the '38 season. We were playing Pittsburgh in Wrigley Field and the score was 5-5 with two out in the ninth. The bases were empty and the count was 0.2 on me.

"We needed one more win to clinch the pennant and if they got me out of there, the umpires were going to call the game on account of darkness.

"I tied into the next pitch. I'll never forget that ball going over the wall. Even today, I still get phone calls asking me to settle arguments on what the count was. Everybody would like to have it 3-and-2, it seems, but it was 0-2."

AFTER THAT 14-inning thriller a week ago yesterday in Candlestick between the Cubs and Giants, Charlie Grimm and his men wasted no time in departing the new park because they already were a couple of hours late in their takeoff. So by the time we got to the Cub dressing room it was empty. However, we caught up with Jolly Cholly during the weekend Giant-Cub series in Wrigley Field and he now says:

"The Giants? They're going to be real tough. They have power and pitching. And how about that Sam Jones?"

Liston Vs. Harris In Heavyweight 'Crucial' Tonight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavyweight contenders Sonny Liston and Roy Harris meet tonight at Houston, Tex., in the week's most attractive fight.

It's a 10-round bout in which Liston of Philadelphia hopes to boost his chances of getting a shot at the heavyweight crown. He is the second-ranking contender. Harris of Cut-and-Shoot, Tex., is rated sixth. It will not be televised to homes.

Harris tried to win the title from Floyd Patterson in August, 1958, and was knocked out in the 12th round. That was his only defeat in 27 starts. Liston, too, has 26 wins against one defeat.

The only TV fight this week will be staged at the Boston Garden Friday night when middleweights Ralph Tiger Jones of St. Albans, N.Y., and Joey Denucci meet in a 10-rounder. It will be televised and broadcast nationally by NBC.

A spectacular preempts fight time on TV Wednesday night.

Quarterfinals Today In Handball Tourney

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Quarterfinal action started today in the United States Handball Assn. Championships at the Olympic Club.

Coast League In 3-Way Tie

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two kinds of blizzard hit the Pacific Coast League yesterday and one — the basehit type — blew Spokane out of sole possession of first place.

The other — and milder — dumped an inch of wet snow on Salt Lake City and forced postponement of a scheduled doubleheader between the two cellar dwellers, Vancouver and Salt Lake.

Sacramento's Solons chilled Spokane twice, clobbering the Indians 18-1 in seven innings after posting a 3-2 decision in the opening game. When Portland and San Diego broke even in a double duel, 8-4 for Portland and 5-1 for the Padres, the league leadership was shared by Sacramento, Portland and Spokane.

Seattle, which puts its trust in the home run, got one from Joe Taylor and whipped Tacoma 3-0. It was the 15th circuit smash in 12 games for the Rainiers.

Portland's Beavers employed four two-base hits for their victory over San Diego. The Padres scored three runs in the first inning of the nightcap and added two more in the fifth on Harry Simpson's homer.

Milt Smith's triple in the fifth inning pushed home the winning run for Sacramento in the opening game. The Solons smothered four Spokane pitchers with 18 hits in the nightcap.

Al Heist hit two homers and two singles, driving in eight of the Solon tallies.

Score Tests Arm Tonight Against A's

DETROIT (AP)—Herb Score, a young man with a question mark arm, makes no alibis for his bad performances and wants no sympathy for his misfortunes.

He is not going to worry about a so-called comeback and he refuses to set any sort of a goal for himself.

But a lot of people will be waiting with more than casual interest at Kansas City tonight when the fireballing left-hander faces the Kansas City Athletics.

The Chicago White Sox are counting on the 26-year-old former Cleveland Indian flame thrower to pull them out of a pitching tailspin. The Sox have not had a route-going performance in five starts.

Score can start to settle a few individual doubts, too. He hasn't been a winner since early last July.

"You can't make excuses when you're lousy," Score said yesterday. "I don't have any alibis. My motion and my coordination were all fouled up and I never got straightened around. I couldn't get my curve ball over all last season."

Score, five seasons with the Indians, broke in with a 16-10 mark and 245 strikeouts in 1955. The following year he was 20-9 with 263 strikeouts.

A line drive off the bat of Gil McDougald struck Score in the eye on May 7, 1957. His record has been mediocre ever since.

Bear Spikers Win Easily; Take On Oregon State Next

BERKELEY (AP) — California trackment will host Oregon State Saturday. The Bears are fresh from a lopsided and unspectacular 90⅓-40⅔ victory over another Pacific Northwest team—Washington.

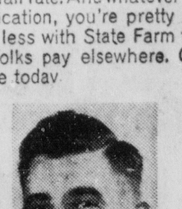

Bear runners and fieldmen swept first place in 12 of 15 events with the Huskies. About 500 persons turned out in the light drizzle, only to be disappointed when expected duels in the mile and 440 failed to materialize.

Nikita Hurls New Threat On Berlin

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev declared today that the Western powers will lose even their rights to fly into Berlin if he signs a separate peace treaty with East Germany. And he warned the Soviet Union is prepared to meet "force with force."

Outlining the Soviet position of the summit meeting, Khrushchev repeated that "of course we shall go it alone" and sign an East German peace treaty if the Western powers "ignore the issue contrary to common sense."

But he said that "the Soviet government believes that common sense will prevail."

The Soviet leader spoke at Baku, Soviet oil center. His speech, at a jubilee celebration of the 40th anniversary of the Azerbaijan Communist Party, was reported by the Soviet news agency Tass.

Khrushchev told his audience that a peace treaty with East Germany—which the West refuses to recognize as a sovereign state—would put an end to the World War II surrender terms.

This is the position he has taken all along. But he went further to mention the airlanes, which the Western allies are believed to be planning to use—as in the 1948 airlift—if East Germany takes over the land routes.

"If the Western powers did not choose to sign a peace treaty, that would not entitle them to rights they want preserved. They would naturally then forfeit the right of access to West Berlin by land, water and air," he said.

Berlin, 100 miles from West Germany, is surrounded by the Communist East. The United States, Britain and France have stationed troops there as an outpost of the West since World War II.

Western leaders have insisted they will not negotiate with Khrushchev under the threat of any Berlin ultimatum.

Khrushchev told the Baku meeting that disarmament is the first problem for the summit. The deadlock on disarmament, he said, is "the greatest roadblock in the way to a strengthened peace on this planet."

President Charles de Gaulle of France has said disarmament should be the leading topic at the summit meet. This appears to be the view among Western leaders.

"The second issue, which affects the interests of many nations, is conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany, including the normalization of West Berlin," Khrushchev said.

"Conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany would at the same time mean liquidation of the occupational regime in West Berlin and, consequently, the withdrawal of the occupation troops from there."

It was Khrushchev's first major speech since he returned April 3 from his trip to France.

Tunisia Gives War Warning To France

TUNIS (AP)—Accusing France of new ground and air raids on her soil, Tunisia has served notice any more border attacks will be considered acts of war.

President Habib Bourguiba cut short a tour of the northwest provinces and hastened back to the capital to deal with the crisis.

Bourguiba's government said that the French had launched two attacks in the past week. On April 20, it said, French planes bombed and strafed Ouled Boulaba, and two days later Algerian troops in the service of France thrust into Tunisia near Thala.

The communique said many civilians had been killed in the raids. It also accused French commandos from Algeria of entering Tunisia and placing booby traps to "create insecurity" along the tense frontier.

The French Foreign Ministry in Paris had no comment.

Habib Bourguiba Jr., the Tunisian ambassador to France, was called home for con sultations.

Observers here feared the situation was reaching the boiling point along the frontier, where about 10,000 Algerian guerrillas harrass French outposts from Tunisian soil. France has accused Tunisia of siding against her in the five-year-old Algerian war.

"Any new attack against our territory or any violation of our air space will be considered an act of war and our policy in regard to France will be revised in consequence." Bourguiba declared in a speech at Teboursouk.

If France uses the presence of Algerian rebels in Tunisia as a pretext to make war on Tunisia, he said, "we are ready."

If France keeps up her "aggressions," Bourguiba warned, he would no longer be able to assure the security of French citizens living in Tunisia.

FOOD PRICE HIKE SPURS LIVING COSTS TO PEAK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's living costs hit a new record in March.

The first rise in food prices in six months edged the Labor Department's consumer's price index to a new peak of 125.7 per cent of the 1947-49 living cost average.

The average price increase over the February level was only one-tenth of 1 per cent. The March average was 1.6 per cent above the same month last year.

Arnold Chase, Labor Department price chief, forecast that food prices will continue a gradual rise up to July or August. He said the chances are this will carry living costs to still higher levels until late summer.

Brown Trims Pay Raises, Signs Budget

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown today cut $4,910,000 — part of a pay raise for state workers — from the state budget to get it "fully balanced."

Then he signed the record-high spending plan of $2,476,180,000 into law.

The budget will pay the costs of operating the state government and its services to local governments and California citizens in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The state workers' pay raise was the only item that Brown blue-penciled. He cut the proposed raise from 6 to 5 per cent, the amount he originally proposed to the legislature.

The governor did not change the proposed 10 per cent pay hike for lower salaried state workers, including stenographers and janitors, nor did he adjust the proposed 7½ salary increase for state college and University of California workers.

WEATHER ON RAMPAGE

Floods Hit Midwest; Winds Batter Texas

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weekend rainfalls of up to eight inches swelled northern Wisconsin rivers over their banks yesterday. Rampaging waters tore away power and cimmunication lines, washed out roads and railroad tracks and chased an estimated 400 persons from their homes.

About 240 residents of the Lake Superior shore community of Odanah, a Chippewa Indian village of 800 on the Bad River Reservation, were forced from their homes by the flooded Bad River. Another 40 were isolated. Wisconsin Gov. Gaylord Nelson declared the affected district a disaster area and ordered out the National Guard to help local officials.

At Hurley, Wis., 25 miles to the east, the flooding Montreal River threatened to wash away one of the two bridges linking Hurley to Ironwood, Mich.

Fierce winds struck the north Texas town of Terrell, about 30 miles east of Dallas, causing extensive property damage. The winds unroofed and damaged buildings at the municipal airport and in the business district and three house trailers were demolished. No injuries were reported.

Fifty miles to the west, near Fort Worth, five inches of rain pushed creeks over their banks, flooding two homes in the suburb of Richland.

A small twister near Cheyenne, Wyo., flipped over a truck, serously injuring the driver.

While much of the East sweltered under summer-like heat-Baltimore's 93 set a record for that date—snow fell for the third straight day in the northern Rockies and Plateau areas.

Marin Fair To Have Theme Of 'Caribbean'

Theme of the 1960 Marin Art and Garden Fair, to be held at the Art and Garden Center in Ross June 30 through July 4, will be "Caribbean Holiday," it was announced by the fair committee today.

The committee, which includes Art and Garden Center directors James S. Goodale and Richard F. Tyler of San Rafael and Herman E. Hein of Mill Valley, named Marcelle B. McCoy of San Anselmo as manager of the show.

William L. Kapranos, San Anselmo, will be designer of the 15th edition of the fair. Charlotte B. Riznik will be public relations director.

Michael Mitchell of Larkspur, assistant Marin County auditor, will serve as county fair representative.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors leases the center grounds and facilities for use as a temporary "fairgrounds" pending completion of the county fairgrounds at the new civic center in Santa Venetia.

Preliminary plans and sketches for the show have already been approved and work has started by nurserymen and other exhibitors on model gardens and displays.

A new garden area will be developed on acreage owned by the Art and Garden Center. Located at the corner of Sir Francis Drake and Laurel Grove, the land has never been used before. Its use will be the first step in the beautification of the shady section.

Big Changes In State's Schools Seen

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Technology will bring about more changes in California schools in the next few years than anything in the past 30 years has done, the state's education chief predicts.

Roy E. Simpson, state superintendent of public instruction, said yesterday that "the impact of television, teaching machines and other technical devices is just beginning.

"They will change the schools greatly, as they must if we are to meet the demands of a new age and lengthy competition with communism."

Simpson noted in a Public Schools Week statement that California public schools today have more than three million students and, within 10 years, another two million will be added.

Urging Californians to visit their schools this week, Simpson listed improvements already in effect in many areas—changes which "will mean better educated public school graduates."

'Arrivederci Roma' To Be Theme Of Candlelight Ball On May 7

"Many hands make light work" is the slogan of Mrs. John J. Fracchia, decorations chairman of the Candlelight Ball this year. Evidence of this motto is shown by the great number of volunteers who are working on various phases of the decor. The Social Service Auxiliary's formal ball is being planned for May 7 at the Meadow Club.

Decorations will be carried out in an exotic Roman theme, and the song of the evening will be "Arrivederci Roma." Guests will dance to the music of a name orchestra. Mrs. Robert Mellin is in charge of music and entertainment.

Tall toga-clad Roman youths will be stationed at the entrance to escort the guests into a beautiful Roman garden with its fountains, floating flowers, and statues. The foyer will look elegant with its live fountain with many floating flowers imported from Italy. There will also be antique bronze statues which have been donated for the occasion. Combining forces to decorate the foyer are Mesdames William Gaffney, Thomas Foley and Joseph Storrs. In the cocktail lounge guests will witness something old yet new in flower arrangements. Mrs. Fracchia and Mrs. Edward Barry are combining shimmering plumage with laurel leaves.

Mrs. Eugene Lombardi and Mrs. William Weissich have planned table decorations which are miniature Roman columns adorned with green leaves and gold painting. These will be enhanced by many floating candles. Highlight of the main dining room will be a mural of a Roman scene by Carl Lloyd.

The small dining room will follow the same pattern, but an addition will be the artistic windows reminding us of the original Romanesque windows done in the early centuries. Working on construction of these windows are Mrs. Robert Rich and Mrs. Edward Kaenel. Outstanding in the small lounge will be a Roman shield in gold and white. There will be a Pontius Pilate cape, a copy of one worn by Frank Thring in the movie, "Ben Hur." In charge are Mesdames Wesley Phelps and Frank Morris.

The main ballroom will be spectacular with its large Roman columns in white bedecked with gold leaf and green laurel leaves. Background for the orchestra will be another mural painted by Carl Lloyd. Mrs. Bernard Arnold is being assisted here by Mrs. John Grey and Mrs. Alfred Quilici.

Others working on the decorating committee are Mesdames Paul Lundberg, William Murray, Robert Neilan, Glen S. Roberts, Marjorie du Bain, Alan H. Nathe, Alvin Marsoni, George Ballantyne, John Curtin, William Upton, John Looney, Patrick Flynn, William Flynn, Roger Yore, Gus Neiderholzer Jr., Norvina Hilton, Albert Locati, Harry Pearce, David Callahan, William Seeger, William Costello, John de Maria, Cletus Fitzharris John Egan, Charles O. Jones, George Shister, Roger Garety and Eugene Cullen.

Assisting Mrs. Fred Acciari with the addressing were Mesdames Paul Pickart, John Kyle, David Angulin, Arthur V. Fay, William Zavosky and Gerald de Mattei.

General chairman of the ball is Mrs. Fred T. Adams. Proceeds will be given to the Social Service Agency to further their work in helping the needy of Marin County.

Dessert, Fashion Lecture Planned At Branson May 25

Plans are being consolidated for the May 25 dessert and fashion lecture to be held at the Katharine Branson School in Ross. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Klaus Schmidt, 79 Oak Ridge road, San Rafael.

The annual fund raising event is being planned by the alumnae under the chairmanship of Mrs. Allan Sproul, Jr. of San Anselmo.

Proceeds will go into the alumni scholarship endowment fund. Each year the alumnae give two half scholarships to day students. This past year an endowment fund has been initiated with a generous contribution from a member of the 1959 graduating class. It is hoped that in subsequent years the endowment fund will enable the alumnae to give more aid to students, increasing the 10% total of scholarships now being awarded.

The fashion lecture will be presented by Mrs. Luis de Herrera. Clothes to be modeled have been purchased by Mrs. de Herrera on her extensive world travels.

The United States will be represented by clothes chosen by Mrs. John Gilman from her Kentfield shop. Mrs. Gilman is also the mother of a senior year student at the school.

Helping with hostess duties for the international fashion show will be Ayse Nilifer Doruk, this year's American Field Service Exchange student. Ayse is from Istanbul, Turkey.

This fashion lecture is particularly appropriate for the Katharine Branson School as the school is celebrating its fifth year of participation in the American Field Service program.

Hostesses from the school will include three girls who took part in the program last summer. They are Elizabeth Solinsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Solinsky of Kentfield, who lived and studied in Austria, Jan Gilman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gilman of Ross, who spent the summer in Greece and Crete, and Miss Gwen Mizner who lived in Italy. Mrs. Harold Watkin of Kentfield is chairman for the foreign exchange program.

CLARA A. WHEELER, daughter of the Robin Wheelers of Mill Valley, has completed her training for an airline hostess and is now employed by United Airlines in New York.

Guild Preview Well Received

The Symphony Guild of Marin's Wednesday morning preview at the Meadow Club presented by Dr. Louis Hans Huber of San Francisco State College was an enlightening and delightful experience for Guild members and their guests.

Dr. Huber's comments on Boris Godounov and the musical excerpts from Moussorgsky's opera which he played on fine recordings gave his audience a deeper understanding of this dynamic piece of music.

Mrs. Robert L. Schultz, president of the Symphony Guild, stressed the April 29 date of the final symphony concert for this season at Marin Catholic High School.

At the luncheon following the preview Mrs. A. J. Oehler was hostess to a group of Mill Valley women including the Mesdames Martin Livingston, Alvira Becker, Paul Kleinsmith, Wayne Speckmann, Richard Stanton, John Nason, Albert von der Werth, William Bentley, Edward Kemp and Chester Dennis. Dr. Huber joined Mrs. Schultz at a table which included Mrs. John Lesoine, Mrs. Richard Hughes, Mrs. Cloyd Kimball, Mrs. Walter Baird, Mrs. A. F. Wagele and Mrs. Edward Zeller.

Mrs. Ralph B. Dewey's guests were the Mesdames Carl Welz, M. W. Neal, Ed Ness, F. A. Fisher and Miss Hulda Morehead. Seated with Mrs. Paul Oppenheim were the Mesdames M. J. Mackby, M. Wile, Duffy Henderson, Barry Boland, William Peavey, James Atkinson, Hughes Call and Franz Kohout.

The Young Women's Christian Association in Marin County has announced that it has joined with YWCA's in 1600 communities across the United States April 24-30 to celebrate National YWCA Week.

Theme of the nation-wide event is "Look Ahead with the YWCA . . . Join." Highlighting the week in Marin, as in other parts of the country, will be YWCA World Membership Day, Wednesday. Mrs. Frank Rice, chairman of the Marin Committees, will serve as hostess for an open house coffee hour to be held at the Marin County YWCA office, 1010 B Street, San Rafael.

Another coffee hour of hospitality, fellowship, and sharing information about YWCA programs will be at Mrs. Leo Gosliner's home at 859 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo. Both coffee hours are planned for 10 a.m.

Miss Hunt said that the YWCA serves women and girls in 72 different countries and that YWCA World Membership Day will be celebrated around the globe.

She said that the San Francisco Young Women's Christian Association, of which the Marin YWCA is a part, is planning a total of 100 coffee hours to be held by volunteer hostesses in their homes during World Membership Day.

Open House Set At Santa Venetia Jr. High School

Miss Merritt modeled hats for all ages from the baby bonnet to a grandma's cap and of all periods and styles from the sun bonnet of old to the latest in Easter fashions of 1960.

Mrs. Howard Swartz, with Mrs. Walter Panholzer at the piano, sang "Put On Your Old Gray Bonnett" and "The Easter Parade."

This meeting marked the fourth anniversary of the club. Mrs. Iva Stephens, one of the charter members of the club, told of its founding.

The Rev. Howard Swartz gave an Easter meditation. The next meeting will be held on Friday, May 13. Everyone is invited to the pot luck dinner at 7 p.m. and the program at 8 o'clock.

Jolly Rogers Cruise Ball Guests Bound 'On Slow Boat To China'

By way of a "Slow Boat to China" bound for Hong Kong, members and guests of the Jolly Rogers Chapter of the Children's Society will be invited aboard ship for the annual Spring Cruise Ball to be held May 21 at Rickey's Rancho Rafael.

Invitations designed by Mrs. Walter Derr Jr., will be in the mail soon and arrive to the tune of "Hong Kong Blues" and wishing you all "great good luck." Mrs. Derr's crew is Mesdames James Kean, Jeremy Jones and William Wilson Jr.

Mrs. Ralph Nattress, captain of this year's "cruise" reports that passengers and crew members aboard the good ship Jolly Rogers will find that ship board activities will include a poolside fashion show of oriental splendor by a custom designer, a Crown Colony banquet dinner enhanced by mellow background organ music, midnight swimming and dancing to the exotic tempo of the name orchestra that was so popular on last year's "cruise."

Decorations designed by Mrs. Stanley Crandall Jr. will be of an authentic oriental motif. A handsome moongate entrance will be the first of such decorations to greet the passengers and this year's "cruise." Once aboard ship they will find the Miranoma Room transformed into a festive outdoor setting by such creations as a sampan silhouette, dragon heads and bon-sai trees.

Helping Mrs. Crandall to set the Oriental scene will be Mesdames William Hislop, Donald Dalpino, James E. Cermak, William Beedle, Lloyd Kirchner, Eric Koolgard, Homer Marston, George Tuttle, Harvey Vicchio and Jerry Young.

Mrs. Joseph Huffaker, chairman of the fashion show, announced that the show this year will be by Norma of Dalen, fashion stylist, to complete the theme of the evening. Norma of Dalen originals which she creates in her San Francisco studio are famous for their oriental design fashioned from exotic fabrics imported to her from the Orient. The evening's show will include "ancients" as well as spectacular gowns so easily adapted for today's urban or suburban living. Hair styles to compliment these elegant fashions will be by a leading local salon.

Modeling will be Mesdames Dan J. Aughney, George Barnwell, Walter Derr Jr., James Kean, Donald Leaf, Ralph Nattress, George Neuwald, James Zierolf and William B. Donohoe.

To set the scene will be an Oriental bridal carriage donated for the evening's "cruise" by Fred Fong, husband of Norma of Dalen. To put the excitement of these original designs into words will be Philip of Dalen and Rickey's fashion coordinator, Marion Bellamy and promises to be one of the high spots of the evening's festivities.

Mrs. George Neuwald announced that there will be special awards on the "cruise." Assisting with the special awards will be Mesdames Noel McCarthy, Raymond King, Clyde Jones, W. J. Decker. Also helping to display the exciting awards will be Messrs Walter Derr Jr., Dan J. Aughney, Richard Colombo, Ralph Nattress, Donald Leaf and George Neuwald.

Reservations will be limited, reports Mrs. Robert Clever, and the passenger list is expected to be completed early. A number of cocktail parties are being planned by the members before the semi-formal dinner dance aboard the U.S.S. Jolly Rogers.

Proceeds of the annual event are used to further the adoption services of Children's Home Society. A fully accredited member of the Child Welfare League of America, the society serves children of all races and faiths. It is a member of the United Crusade.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Price Stabilization Report Deserves Voters' Attention

Last week President Eisenhower made public the details of the second interim report of his Cabinet Committee on Price Stabilization. The President noted that although there has been "substantial progress" in checking inflation, there is "no cause for complacency."

And "in adjusting public policies to promote economic expansion and to meet changing economic conditions," the President warned, "we must preserve and strengthen the institutions of our free, competitive economy."

Because inflation hits every one of us, particularly those on pensions and fixed incomes, we think the six highlights of the committee's report need repetition and serious consideration. Here they are:

1—Inflation has been and will continue to be a serious national problem.

2—We have the tools to curb inflation.

3—Most of the inflation that really hurts old persons and others on fixed incomes took place between the start of World War II and the Korean War. Only 10 per cent of the general price increase since 1939 has occurred since the Korean War.

4—It is not true that inflation stimulates economic growth. On the contrary, it creates waste, inefficiency and hardship, hurts our foreign markets and lessens the ability of American business to compete at home against imported goods.

5—While sound monetary and fiscal policies are the first line of defense, we can not be complacent about cost increases springing from inefficiency and unsound practices of management, labor or government.

6—Price stability, while needed, will not by itself assure economic growth. Growth requires research, imagination, initiative, thrift, constant efforts to increase efficiency, an improved investment climate and vigilence in rooting out rigidities, whether governmental or private, that impede change in our economic system.

These six highlights of the committee's report merit careful consideration of every voter and their application when the voter marks a ballot for either candidates or issues.

If Your Dooorbell Rings Tonight

Tonight more than 2,000 volunteers will ring doorbells from one end of Marin County to the other in the annual Crusade of the American Cancer Society.

It is a one-day concentrated appearance for support of the society and its Marin County Branch. The volunteers are attempting to collect $30,000, which is $3,500 more than was raised last year.

And they will be telling a story too. This wonderful story is the fact that cancer is being cured, that more than a million Americans, many of them living in Marin today, have been cured.

But their story is still not entirely happy. One out of every three victims are saved today. But that means that two out of every three die of the disease. In 1958, official total of Marinites who died of the disease was 184. Last year was no better.

But progress is being made. Only a half a dozen years ago only one person in five was being saved, then one in four, now one in three. The American Cancer Society's continuing program of research, education and service have had a large part in bringing about this improvement.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

SMALL EARNER, BIG GIFT

An 81-year-old railroad worker, who never earned more than $100 a week, gave over a quarter of a million dollars to the University of New Hampshire from which he graduated 60 years ago.

The generous benefactor, a bachelor, lives in a small room overlooking the railroad tracks in Stamford, Conn., cooks his own meals and dresses inexpensively.

He made the gift to help young men "who can't afford to go to college and give them a chance." The money was given in memory of his father, whose hard work and sacrifices made it possible for him to go to college.

The university said that this donation was the largest ever made by an alumnus and would be used for scholarships and loans to students.

Contributing to the well-being of others usually involves sacrifice of time, interest and money. God provides a special reward for those who deprive themselves to help others.

"While we have time, let us do good to all men."

(Galatians 6:10)

Inspire me, O Jesus, to show the same solicitude for the needs of others that I would expect myself.

HAL BOYLE'S COLUMN

Half Of Our Brides Are Teenagers; Wives Outlive Husbands 8 Years

The best way for wives to cut down their years of widowhood is to start taking better care of their husbands now. The average wife at present outlives her husband eight years.

THE CHANCES of a woman over 65 finding a new husband in that age bracket are getting slimmer all the time. For every 100 men in the post-65 group today there are 120 women. By the year 2000 the figures will be 145 women to 100 men

MAYBE THAT'S why half of all U.S. brides now marry in their teens. The odds of finding a man never will be more in their favor

The cost of carelessness! Forest fires destroy our heritage. Enough lumber is lost each year in woodland blazes to build a five-room home every 100 feet on both sides of a road from New York to Chicago.

The cost of cleanliness: A U.S. baby now uses $18 worth of soap from its birth to its first birthday.

HOGS CANNOT SWEAT. That's why in hot weather they like to dunk themselves in anything wet. The evaporation cools them So credit mother nature with inventing air-conditioned ham.

STILL AHEAD: America produces about 30 per cent of the world's mineral product's; the Soviet Union about 16 per cent.

Are you a procrastinator? Britain's great sailor, Lord Nelson, once said "I owe all my success in life to having been a quarter of an hour beforehand." This probably explains why so few women in history have become famous admirals.

An apology to our readers: Recently we stated there was no Eskimo word for snow. We are now informed there are at least three Eskimo words for snow. However, so far as we can find, the Eskimos don't have a word for antidisestablishmentarianism What is more, they don't want one.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

People Look And Drip Continues

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

We have walnut trees in front of our house and they overhang the sidewalk. Word came to us indirectly that a woman had complained about our trees, so we measured the clearance which was seven and a half feet. Was a giant woman living near us? Did she have to duck when passing under the trees?

No, no, we find that the complainant is just five feet tall. Then the question arose in our minds: did she wear a two-foot high hat or did she sport an enormous feather? Is she a stilt or pogo-stick enthusiast?

Be that as it may, we sawed off an overhanging limb in the wrong season and the stump has been oozing sap ever since. We painted it with tree seal, but the water came through despite our efforts.

We were then advised to hang a one-pound coffee can on the limb to protect ladies' hats from drips. The can soon gets full and drips over.

Now children stop and hold out their palms for a drip to taste; old ladies hesitate under the leakage wondering if a drop or so will bring back their youth; men gaze skyward and scratch their sconces in wonderment; occasional cars stop and faces peer out and upwards, but still the drip continues.

MAYBE TV CAN HELP

More Blossom Watchers Than Blossoms In Capital

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — On a clear day sightseers here can see a lot of sights. But what they see the most of are other sightseers.

I do believe we are breaking all records this year in early season tourist travel. I don't intend to benumb you with statistics, but more than 100,000 persons congregated around the tidal basin last weekend when the cherry trees were in full bloom.

One of the local newspapers estimated the tidal basin had more blossom watchers than blossoms. At any rate, it was a lot of nature loving for such a short period. The trees were not so much admired as overwhelmed.

THE BLOSSOMS are gone now but the city is still swarming with visitors. From a distance, Capitol Hill looks like an ant hill that has been seeded with sugar lumps.

I have just completed a round trip stroll from the Capitol to the Health, Education and Welfare Department, during which I made an informal census.

Along the circular drive around the statue of General Grant at the foot of capitol hill, I counted 58 chartered buses and five ice cream carts

I COULDN'T begin to count the number of visiting automobiles but I do know one thing — we now have all the ingredients for congealed traffic.

The traffic situation is one of the reasons why I walked to the Health, Education and Welfare Department. The other reason was to see a demonstration of a new closed circuit color television projector called the Ediophore.

According to a press release, the demonstration was planned to test the feasibility of using live TV to "replace time-consuming visits and tours for orientation and information purposes."

Here, I said to myself, might be just the thing Washington needs for the tourist season. I figured if sightseers gathered in one place and saw the sights on television it would save them a lot of walking. Better yet, they wouldn't need to drive from one place to another.

WHILE WATCHING the demonstration, I began to have a few second thoughts. But I still think it might work. If you will send me $28,000, we can buy one of the machines and organize a company called Immobile Tours, Inc. By charging a small admission, we ought to get rich by the Fourth of July.

However, we will have to arrange a more appetizing tour than the one I took by television through research laboratories of the National Institutes of Health.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Old Codfish Sailing Ship Protects A Confirmed Fisherman, Boat

The old codfish sailing ship, Beulah, sits flat in the mud in the Arques shipyard in Sausalito, her bowsprit haughty, but her sides open to the sea.

Bobbing gently in the water beside her is the 37-foot salmon troller, Elsie Ann, waiting for good weather to go out through the Golden Gate. On board the troller lives a fisherman, Wiley Miller. Miller is 48 and has fished since he was 15. His home port is Sausalito.

MILLER LIVES all alone. But "I am not lonely," he says, "at least no more than other men." He has the space for one more person in his small wheelhouse and cabin, but he has no fishing partner. He says he is not married because a wife and fishing don't go together.

He cooks his meals over a red iron stove on diesel oil and he pulls down a bunk from the wall when he wants to sleep.

Miller used to fish for albacore, but his boat was too small so he switched to salmon. He used to do gill net fishing on the Yaquina River in Oregon until he decided to go in for "outside fishing" — ocean fishing.

"THERE IS an independence about being a fisherman," Miller added. "You can go out or stay in for a day, a week or a month." Miller calls himself a one-day fisherman now and has been working out of Pt. Reyes.

When it's good weather, the fisherman says, everything's fine. There's no traffic out there, plenty of room. When it's bad and you're running toward the beach, Miller said, you've got worries.

He spoke fondly of the Beulah, recalling it was once used for cod fishing in Alaska, but now it is used as a breakwater. "Without that we could not stay here," he says. "We'd be blown right out in a northerly wind."

It takes Miller and the Elsie Ann about five hours to make the run to Pt. Reyes at six knots per hour. There he goes out daily trolling four lines sometimes as far as the Farallones.

IT'S GOOD to get back to Sausalito, especially after being up north about eight or 10 days and never seeing the sun. "Then," Miller says "coming back in around the bridge you usually run right into open sunshine."

The tanned fisherman said he actually hasn't been out to sea since August. He's been doing some carpentering and painting for Arques. But, "I may go out next week." There have been times when he decided to leave the business, "but I always go back. Spring comes and you get the fever."

THE MILL VALLEY police have been getting complaints from time to time that kids are playing in the cockeyed house at 151 Ethel Avenue which fell off its stilts in the storm of Feb. 9.

The city has condemned the property and asked the owner to either tear the place down or make it liveable.

There Is Religious Issue And Each Voter Must Weigh It For Himself

WASHINGTON — "Newsweek" raises the question: "Could the religious vote swing the election?" "The Wall Street Journal" concludes that "the Catholic issue" is not dormant.

But what is this religious issue which isn't dormant and which could determine the presidency this year? Many people talk about it but few say what they mean.

JOHN FISCHER, editor of "Harper's" magazine, makes an honest beginning toward defining the issue in his friendly and illuminating article on Kennedy. He writes:

"Like many other Protestants, I have given a good deal of anxious thought to the religious issue. It is a real issue, which cannot and should not be avoided, because of the special nature of the Catholic church. Unlike the Protestant and Jewish faiths, Catholicism is a hierarchical and authoritarian religion, which claims the right to require special obligations and discipline of its adherents. Moreover, the Catholic position on some public questions — notably birth control, education, and censorship — has been disquieting to many non-Catholics, who feel that the Church has at times tried to impose its views on them as well as its own members."

CATHOLICS and Protestants have many things in common in the United States but there is one deep difference between them which seems to me to go to the heart of the religious issue. Dr. Edwin T. Buehrer, minister of the Third Unitarian Church in Chicago, put it this way recently:

"For almost 200 years now, as a democratic country, we have had as an irreversible political principle THE SEPARATION OF CHURCH AND STATE; and in our midst is a great and powerful church, with almost 2,000 years of history and tradition, which has never for a moment swerved from the directly opposite principle, namely, THE UNION OF CHURCH AND STATE."

It is only fair to note that in some countries where Catholics are numerically strong, as in Chile and Brazil, the Church has not sought preferred status. And in the United States, where they are a minority, Catholics have largely acquiesced in separation of church and state.

However, in other countries where Catholics are a substantial majority, as in Italy and Spain, they have sometimes acquired a preferred status with greater freedom for their church and less freedom for other religions.

THIS BASIC difference impinges upon various aspects of public life in the United States.

It is the Catholic view—but not American public policy — that the state should subsidize all education, including the parochial schools. In Italy the state maintains only Catholic schools.

There is Canon Law 1374 which admonishes Catholic parents not to send their children to public school without special permission from the bishop. In this connection there are many provisions and proposals calling on the states and federal government to provide assistance in varying degrees for religious schools. (Examples: Aid to religious hospitals, school buses, school lunches, scholarships, books, etc.)

Catholic doctrine on censorship and birth control applies only to its adherents, but many non-Catholics are apprehensive that the Church would use its influence to further restrictive legislation.

The weight to give to this factor is something each voter will rightly ponder and decide for himself.

Camping Vacation Can Be Great Fun—And It Doesn't Cost Much

Are you planning your summer vacation now? We are in my family.

Will you go to a resort hotel and have a long, expensive rest? We won't. We can't afford it. We take low-cost, camping vacations. We've covered a lot of country that way.

We think camping is great.

Have you tried camping with your family? You can borrow most of the stuff you need, or rent it. You can even get paper tents this year. Use them a few times, then throw them away. No storage problem.

You can get catalogues which list places to camp. The catalogues are advertised in sports magazines.

You can obtain information about national parks by writing directly to them. Many states now have state parks, with good camping grounds. Write to the state capitols about them.

We've learned to camp outside the most popular national parks. They have campgrounds, but they're madhouses. Tents are only inches apart. You stand in line to use the toilets. The dust is terrible. Your children get lost in the mob. So we camp outside, and drive in for our sightseeing.

When we want a real rest, we go far off the beaten track, where we'll be alone. That's still possible, in many parts of our country.

The cost of a camping vacation? Not much more than living at home. Add your gasoline for the trip, and a little for the equipment.

The work? Not too much, if everyone helps.

(A) I think it is not. I believe each pupil should have a chance to explore his own interests a part of the time. A major part of a student's program should be prescribed. But there should be an extra period here and there for a few electives.

Tumor Board Wins Praise

Tribute was paid to Marin County's "medical brain trust"—cancer specialists meeting monthly as a Tumor Board—by Dr. John D. Manwaring today as the American Cancer Society opened its annual crusade for funds.

Dr. Manwaring, who is both secretary of the board and a director of the Marin branch of the national society, termed the board's work "the greatest service now being performed for Marin County's cancer patients" and said part of the funds raised will meet board expenses.

The board is a group meeting monthly to review unusual and troublesome cancer cases, bringing to bear a pool of medical knowledge in specific fields.

"This provides patients suffering from cancer the best possible consultation service free of charge," said Dr. Manwaring.

Its effectiveness is aided by an elaborate filing system on all cancer cases reported in the county, Dr. Manwaring said. Overseeing this work is Velia LePlant, whose services are paid for by the Cancer Society.

Any doctor in Marin may go before the board with a case difficult to diagnose or one with unusual manifestations or a case history of a recovered patient, according to Dr. Manwaring.

Such service, he said, is of inestimable benefit in aiding other doctors to deal with perhaps similar cases.

LAW IN ACTION

Justice Makes Distinction Between Crimes, Torts

(This column, prepared by California attorneys so you may know about our laws, appears regularly in the Independent-Journal.

Long ago if your cousin got killed, you and your kinfolk took up arms—like the feudists in Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn"—with blood in your eyes to get even, whether the killer meant to harm your cousin or not.

Later frontier justice gave way to courts and juries. They distinguished crimes—public offenses — from torts—invasions of private rights.

Suppose a man runs you down as you cross a street on a green light. He breached your private right (a tort) to be free from physical harm.

But the policeman there might also haul him for reckless driving, a crime.

Such a driver may have to face both civil and criminal trials, paying you for his tort, while going to jail for his offense against society.

Recently, an unlicensed beauty operator put a strong chemical on her customer's face to get rid of wrinkles. The customer died. The trial court found the operator guilty of "criminal" negligence.

But our Supreme Court reversed this verdict. It held that to be criminal negligence a more reckless act is called for than mere "civil" negligence, a tort.

For such a deed also to be a crime "the negligence must be aggravated, culpable, gross, or reckless . . . a departure from the conduct of an ordinary prudent and careful man . . . as to be incompatible with a proper regard for human life . . .

"The facts must be such that the fatal consequences of the negligent act could reasonably have been foreseen. It must appear that the death was not the result of misadventure, but the natural and probable result ofa reckless or culpably negligent act."

Since the punishment for a crime is more severe than a loss of money to a private person, the court also called for a higher standard of proof, proof "beyond a reasonable doubt," rather than merely "the weight of evidence"—the standard of evidence in "tort" cases.

Excursion Boat Damaged By Explosion

An explosion in an excursion boat belonging to Russell George Lewis at 12:40 p.m. yesterday left him stranded just after he had unloaded 10 passengers at Hospital Cove on Angel Island.

There was little damage to the boat but Lewis got his eyebrows singed a bit. His craft was towed back to Sausalito by a Coast Guard patrol boat. Lewis put out the small fire with a hand extinguisher.

The explosion blew a hatch cover off the engine compartment of the boat, Miss Sausalito in which Lewis had taken 10 friends to the island. This is not the boat which is used for the regular weekend excursions between Sausalito and Angel Island, the Blue Spirit.

A Coast Guard official conjectured that the explosion might have been caused from bilge fumes, although Lewis said he had run the bilge ventilation system for 15 minutes prior to the blast.

Education Board Will Consider Four Appointments

Four appointments will be recommended for approval by the San Rafael Board of Education tomorrow night and five resignations will be laid before it for acceptance.

The board will be advised that its insurance carrier has recommended that the board require the Little Leagues to carry liability insurance in connection with their use of public school facilities, naming in the policy the school district as additional insured.

A claim for injury submitted by Anthony Mehohich on behalf of his daughter, Toni, in connection with an incident on the San Pedro School grounds, will be considered by the board.

Air Force Taking Bids For Officers

College seniors needn't wait for graduation to apply for participation of both men and women students in a three months officer training program leading to Air Force commissions, according to Sgt. Chester R. Thoren, recruiter in San Rafael.

Thoren said that applications may be submitted up to 135 days before graduation but acceptance will not be final until after graduation. Applicants must be between 20½ and 27½ years old, American citizens of high moral character and of prescribed mental and physical standards.

Women must be single but male applicants may be married and have dependents. Further information on the program may be obtained at the office at 519 Fourth street.

The Most Up-To-Date Method
Of Buying And Selling Real Estate
MULTIPLE LISTING

- IT GETS FASTER RESULTS!
- IT COSTS NO MORE!

Thousands of homes have been sold by Marin REALTORS through the efficiency of the Marin County Multiple Listing Service.

This modern cooperative system has conclusively proved to property owners its value as a sales asset.

Unlike the "old days" you do not have to shop around from office to office to list your house. Today you sign one agreement with one MARIN REALTOR, and your listing — with photograph and giving complete details — is broadcast from the Real Estate Board office to its entire membership. Automatically the property you wish to sell is called to the attention of a Sales Force of more than 400 realty experts. Any Marin REALTOR will multiple list your home. Whether he or a fellow REALTOR sells it, only one commission is paid.

Phone Your Nearest Marin REALTOR, ask him to put your home on Multiple Listing.

Names Of Streets Changed, Sleepy Hollow Unit Told

Making and installation of new street signs in Sleepy Hollow has been completed, the association heard in a report. It mentioned that some of the street names have been changed to fit into the literary tradition. But "some opposition" was also reported though without suggestion that surrender to the non-literati was contemplated in any quarter.

Members fired lively questions at George MacDonald in efforts to learn how a rapid transit system reaching into Marin County might touch their daily lives, after a talk on system plans by MacDonald.

Norris Seastrome, entertainment committee chairman, said the spring dance will be held June 5 and there will be "barb-b-ques" on both Memorial Day and the Fourth of July, with revival of the Sleepy Hollow Fair on Labor Day.

Recital Set Tomorrow At Dominican

Doris Goertzen, soprano, assisted by Henry Shweid, violinist, and Stephanie Shehatovich and Alden Gilchrist, pianists, will be heard in recital tomorrow, at 8 p.m. in Angelico Hall on the Dominican College campus in San Rafael. The program is open to the public.

After a year in Europe, the high point of which was a concert in Chartres Cathedral with Gilchrist, Miss Goertzen returned to make her home in San Francisco. She has appeared in the San Francisco Bach Festival, the Blackfriars' concert series, the San Francisco Lyric Theater, at Dominican College and on the KPFA Studio Concert series.

Miss Goertzen will sing two arias by Handel; "Air of Aminta" from "Il Re Pastore," by Mozart; five selections from "Hermit Songs" by Samuel Barber and "Tre Laudi" by Luigi Dallapiccola.

Violinist Shweid and pianist Stephanie Shehatovich, members of the Dominican College music faculty, will perform Beethoven's Sonata Op. 12 No. 1. Shweid is assistant concert master of the San Francisco Symphony and instructor of music at San Francisco State College. Miss Shehatovich is well known to Bay Area audiences for her piano recitals, ensemble playing and teaching.

Gilchrist, composer and professor of music at the University of California, will join Miss Goertzen and Miss Shehatovich in Dallapiccola's "Tre Laudi," scored for soprano soloist and two-piano accompaniment.

Supervisors To Consider Flood Letter

Troubled waters of Coyote Creek seem due to be riled again by further discussion of the discouraging state of the Tamalpais Valley flood control project at tomorrow's meeting of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

On the correspondence agenda appears a communication to be read from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers as to approval of plans in this connection. Matters have been in a condition of uncertainty since at the start of this year the engineers revealed that additional to federal contribution of $400,000, the Marin share seems to have been put up from $13,000 to $127,000 by mounting costs.

County Counsel Leland H. Jordan will report tentatively to the board on what should be done about $30,000 raised for this project by special assessment district. Last week Bruce Gillette of Tamalpais Valley said the county might well refund $10,000 thus far spent, and give back the remaining $20,000 to the taxpayers.

Changes in Civic Center plans are scheduled for 9:30 a.m. discussion with Aaron Green, representative of the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation, architects for the project.

After its usual 2 p.m. consideration of cases referred by the Marin County Planning Commission the board at 3 p.m. will have public hearing on a special assessment district for Chase, Orange and Peach streets, Novato.

Subpoena Slipup

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Richard Chase was served with a subpoena headed: PEOPLE vs. RICHARD G. CHASE. A quick check revealed he was the victim of a typographical error. All the people wanted him for was jury duty.

Music Chest Schedules Summer Concert Events

Three artists of concert and opera and an internationally famous ballet company will be presented this summer in Forest Meadows, San Rafael, under auspices of the Marin Music Chest.

Brian Sullivan, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Assn., will open the Music Chest season, June 19 at 3 p.m. in Forest Meadows. This will be Sullivan's second appearance under Music Chest auspices.

Nan Merriman, soprano of San Francisco and Chicago Opera Companies, will make her first appearance on a Music Chest summer concert season July 31. Eugene Istomin, famous pianist, will give his first recital under Music Chest auspices on Aug. 21.

The season will close either the latter part of August, or middle of September, with an evening performance of the San Francisco Ballet, accompanied by members of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

Subscriptions to the Music Chest Summer Concert Season are available at county headquarters; Hoy's, 1133 Fourth street, San Rafael; Sullivan's Hardware Store, Ross; American Trust Co., Bank of America and Hoy's, San Anselmo; Dimitroff's, American Trust Co. and Bank of America, Mill Valley, or through chairmen and workers in immediate localities.

The current subscription drive runs through May 4.

Drake High Concert Set For May 6

The ninth annual Sir Francis Drake High School spring concert, entitled "Music Horizons" and featuring the band, orchestra and choir, will be held in the Little Theater on campus May 6 at 8 p.m.

The choir under direction of Scott Merrick will sing selections from "Brigadoon," "Rock-A-My-Soul" and "I Won't Kiss Katy." Nine members of the chorus will sing "Tenderly" and "Open Your Heart to Spring." They are Marilyn Kascel, Kitchie Greiner, Sharon Kessey, Bev Montooth, Donna Smith, Bob Beck, Ralph Pepe, Mike McCardle and Bob Faulkner.

Playing a range of selections from Dixieland music to classical, the orchestra and band will be led by instructor Perry Smith.

Approximately 130 students will participate in the program.

Considering A Change

NEW YORK (AP) — Stage star and director Maurice Evans isn't entirely confined to his classical Shakespearian roles and to his recent production of the serious Bernard Shaw drama, "Heartbreak House."

Now he is pondering playing —and singing—the role of the clergyman in the Broadway musical version of "Tenderloin," the recently published book by the late Samuel Hopkins Adams.

Before devoting himself mostly to Shakespeare and Shaw, Evans did sing in one or two British stage musicals.

KTIM Again Seeks Marin Mom Of Year

Radio station KTIM listeners again this year will be the "talent scouts" for the Marin Mother of the Year.

The honor will go to the mother who is nominated in a hundred-word letter and chosen by judges as most representative of Marin mothers.

The mother selected will get a host of gifts. And this year, the writer of the nominating letter also will receive a gift.

Nominations must be for a Marin mother who has been a county resident for at least a year. Nominations should be mailed to KTIM, San Rafael, by May 2.

Judges will be KTIM manager Hugh Turner and Florence G. Donnelly, Independent-Journal society editor. Judges will visit the finalists in their homes.

COMING

What's ahead for America? Must economic growth dictate soaring inflation? Must stabilization mean stagnation? A resounding "no" on both counts is the answer of 64 well-informed representatives of business, labor and government. Meeting recently under the auspices of the American Assembly, they agreed: by working hard together we can achieve both reasonably stable prices and growth, while reducing unemployment to the minimum. Key to these goals is steadily rising productivity.

Second Stage Of Census Begins Here Tomorrow

The second stage of the 1960 census will get under way in Marin tomorrow.

The first stage, the simple counting of noses and distribution to every fourth person counted of a household questionnaire, has been virtually completed.

It is the household questionnaire that is concerned in this second stage.

Using about one-third the number of enumerators that took the original nose-count, these questionnaires will be followed up. The questionnaires, given to every fourth persons, were to be mailed back to 1st Congressional District headquarters in Santa Rosa.

But those persons who did not return the questionnaires or those who did not fill them out properly will be contacted again, said James T. Hammons, district leader.

He said government regulations require that these forms be filled out. He said enumerators would take with them the same forms and fill them out on the spot.

The questionnaire is not a census of the people. It seeks to find the answers to such questions as numbers of marriages, whether children have grown and moved, what trends there have been in education and work experience.

Boat Upset— 2 Boys More So

Two boys in a boat got pretty angry yesterday when their small punt was swamped near the mouth of the San Rafael canal and they got dunked.

The boys, Timothy Lowell Kohn, 15, of 110 Marina boulevard, and George E. Paul, 16, of 110-A Belle avenue, were upset not because they got wet, but because their motor got wet.

They made this complaint to the San Rafael Police Department. They said they were being towed at about 4:22 p.m. west on the canal by William Haskell of the Western Boat Shop and when they neared the canal's mouth a cruiser, Miss McGoo II, passed their punt too fast and swamped them. The boat was saved but the boys were soaking mad.

Phone With A Memory

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Telephone equipment with a memory probably will go into use on an experimental basis late this year.

The equipment, using part of the guidance system for the Nike Zeus missile, was described by William Barnes, a demonstration engineer for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

It works this way: A caller dials a number and gets a busy signal. This activates the memory unit. When the party he is calling hangs up both phones will ring.

The equipment also may be used to record messages for a subscriber during his absence.

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI)—Frenzied student rioters seeking to kill Vice President-elect Lee Ki-Poong sacked his home and dared troops to shoot them tonight during new violent demonstrations against the Syngman Rhee government. There were renewed demands for Rhee's resignation.

U.S. Ambassador Walter P. McConaughy was reported at Rhee's troop-guarded presidential palace for urgent talks as 10,000 students milled through streets screaming "kill Lee Ki-Poong . . deport him" and shouting "Down with Rhee." There were reports in Tokyo that Lee had fled the country.

Troops guarded Rhee's residence, but after a threatening move in that direction the rioters swerved away.

Officials admitted one rioter was killed. Press reports listed as many as three dead and one student leader insisted 11 had been slain. At least 10 were injured, four of them with buckshot wounds. But army and police units made no attempt to repeat the bloodbath of last Tuesday in which 130 persons died and another 770 were injured.

The interior of Lee's plush home was in ruins.

Army loudspeakers blared warnings that rioters were liable to be shot under martial law in effect since Tuesday. The students laughed and jeered. Some bared their breasts and shouted "Shoot us."

The army, fearful of renewed charges of brutality announced that the policeman who killed one rioter had been arrested.

Tracer bullets gleamed red across the night sky and tanks chewed up the pavement of Capitol avenue as armed forces units closed in. But the students, singing army songs and screaming, ignored the display of power and surged ahead even through volleys of tear gas bombs.

One band of students commandeered a trolley car—a gift of the city of Atlanta, Ga.—and rammed it into a tank at an intersection.

The demonstration started peacefully enough — 150 respected college professors and educators signed a demand for the resignation of Lee and new elections and marched on the National Assembly to present it.

Thousands of students turned out and the educators became lost in the milling throng that grew angrier as it grew larger.

It was the first time prominent educators had joined in the charge that the March 15 election which brought Lee to office as Rhee's hand-picked successor was fraudulent, as Rhee's opposition charged. This and the demand for new elections was the cause of the rioting last Tuesday and again last night and today.

"Let's storm the American Embassy . . . express our desires," a student leader shouted. But the crowd surged past the embassy, which was darkened. The rioters did not stop.

One group pressed against the gate of the home ministry, heedless of two policemen who stood behind the iron gate, submachine guns at the ready.

Quake In Iran Razes City; 1,200 Killed

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — A giant earthquake has devastated the south Iranian city of Lar. The death toll in Lar and neighboring villages is estimated at 1,200 to 1,500. Unofficial estimates range to 3,000.

The quake struck yesterday.

Destruction of two school buildings trapped many children in this most ruinous disturbance of the earth's crust since 12,000 were killed in Agidar, Morocco, the night of Feb. 29.

The children had assembled in the schools for children's day celebrations. Rescue workers recovered 380 small bodies from the debris.

BODIES HUNTED

One hundred bodies were found elsewhere in a continuing hunt through the city of 17,000. Of Lar's police force of 55 men, only one was said to have survived.

Gov. Nosrat Qarib reported the city destroyed.

Most of the victims were believed to be women and children. Men were working in the fields when the quake struck.

SNAKES ATTACK

Qarib reported that snakes found their way under the debris and attacked trapped victims. Many of those rescued were suffering from snake bites. Authorities appealed to Tehran for serum.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi ordered quick relief measures. Iranian air force planes parachuted flour, sugar and eggs into the area and set up an airlift to ferry in other food, medicine and tents.

The U. S. government was the first foreign government to pledge aid. It made 100 tons of flour quickly available.

$250,000 Loan For Novato Hospital Given

Loan of $250,000 toward construction of a Novato hospital was approved today by the Small Business Administration in Washington, D. C.

Rep. Clement W. Miller (D-Corte Madera) informed the Independent-Journal and the Novato Community Hospital board by telegram of the approval.

Dr. Ralph Weseman, chairman of the hospital board, said the loan will be handled through the First National Bank in San Rafael.

Construction bids for the 30-bed hospital, scheduled for construction at Hill avenue and Canyon road, will be opened May 4 at a meeting of the board, Weseman said. Cost of the hospital is estimated at $300,000 for construction plus $60,000 for equipment.

Construction will begin as soon after the winning bid is approved as possible, Weseman said. He emphasized that the $250,000 is a loan and not a grant.

HECK WITH ALL ELSE, SHE'S BASEBALL FAN

A Larkspur housewife and school teacher, who is an avid baseball fan, filed suit for divorce today with a specific request that she be given the couple's tickets to the San Francisco Giants baseball games.

Mrs. Luella G. Kelly, 55, of 130 King street, Larkspur, is apparently not too concerned with the rest of the community property. At her request, attorney Natalie J. Holly filed the suit in Marin Superior Court, asking for a divorce, season tickets to the Giants games, and the home. As for the rest of the community property, she is willing to settle for a "reasonable division."

Other community property listed includes season tickets to the San Francisco 49er games and San Francisco Light Opera. The couple also owns a $1,500 promissory note, the home and some stocks in joint tenancy. They have no children.

New Hamilton Commander Designated

Col. Harvey E. Henderson will take over the base command at Hamilton Air Force Base in July it was announced today by Brig. Gen Charles R. Bond Jr., commander of the 28th Air Division.

Colonel Henderson was to fly back to Washington, D.C., today after a weekend visit at the base where he will become commander when Col. George F Ceuleers leaves in July to attend the National War College.

Meanwhile, Henderson's assignment is as a member of the liaison and studies group of the weapons systems evaluation group in the office of the director of defense, research and engineering in Washington.

Henderson was graduated from Edinbergh Junior College, Tex., in 1940, entered Army service in 1941, and is a graduate of the Air War College in the class of 1952 and the National War College class of 1957.

Henderson was a prisoner of war in Europe from December, 1944, to May, 1945. He was assigned to Selfridge Air Force Base, Michigan, in July, 1947. Arson, Robbery Probed In Big Sausalito Blaze

Possibilities of arson and looting were being checked by Sausalito police and fire departments today after a $45,000 fire at a Sausalito boat shop and reports that $1,500 was missing from the firm's safe.

The fire broke out shortly after midnight at the Bauman Brothers and Dick Miller Associates shop, just off Bridgeway boulevard at the Sausalito Yacht Harbor. Part owner Dick Miller estimated damage to yachting supplies and stores at $35,000. Fire Chief M. J. (Matts) Perry said damage to the building would run between $8,000 to $10,000.

The building is owned by Madden and Lewis, Sausalito shipyard owners, whose own yard in Sausalito was burned to the ground in March.

Police Chief Howard W. Goerdnt would say only that "investigation was continuing" into reports that some $1,500 in cash and checks was missing from the safe of the fire-gutted building. Goerndt said "some" cash and checks were missing.

He said it was not known if they were taken from the safe before or after the fire, and declined to say if the safe appeared to have been tampered with.

Miller said a "mistake" had been made and that another person from the shop had removed the funds during the fire.

"Everything's all right now," he insisted.

Fire Chief Perry said the fire apparently started next to the safe, at the north side of the building.

Arson investigators from the National Board of Fire Underwriters were expected to check on the fire this afternoon, Perry said.

Firemen arrived on the scene after a 12:30 a.m. call, to find the blaze had a good start, but still was contained within the building. Two trucks and about

Top Court Shuns Chessman Plea

The Supreme Court today rejected another appeal by Caryl Chessman, sex terrorist scheduled to be executed next Monday, Associated Press reported from Washington.

The highest tribunal without comment denied a hearing on Chessman's plea that to execute him now, in view of recent events, "cannot be squared with conscience and human dignity."

The court also rejected a request for a stay of execution.

At San Quentin Prison, Associate Warden Walter D. Achuff walked into Death Row and told Chessman of his latest defeat. Chessman simply nodded. He said nothing.

The Supreme Court's five-line order in the Chessman case stated:

"The application for stay of execution presented to Mr. Justice Douglas and by him referred to the court is denied. The petition for writ of certiorari (request for review) is also denied. The chief justice took no part in the consideration or decisions of these applications."

By numerous legal moves in state and federal courts, Chessman has spent nearly 12 years in Death Row fighting off the executioner.

Convicted in 1948 for kidnapping and sexually abusing two Los Angeles women, he escaped eight previous execution dates. The circumstances of the last stay, granted by Gov. Edmund Brown on a Feb. 19 death date, were emphasized in Chessman's latest appeal.

Chessman "was snatched from the very vapors of the gas chamber so that persons in South America would have no excuse for demonstrating against or harming President Eisenhower on his . . . trip there," the appeal said.

"Now that the President has returned," it added, Chessman "is to be returned to the cyanide pellet. We earnestly urge that such conduct on the part of the state cannot be squared with conscience and human dignity and is indeed, cruel, unusual and violative of due process."

A. L. Wirin, Los Angeles attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, filed the appeal, which also protested "the making of a human yo-yo of a prisoner under sentence of death."

Wirin's move was the 16th filed with the Supreme Court on behalf of Chessman.

"This is it. The Supreme Court of the United States has now closed the last judicial door.

"The only remaining open door is to the governor's conscience. I shall see the governor personally this week to appeal to him, after first conferring with Chessman tomorrow.

"The governor, having snatched Chessman from California's gas chamber, in a last hour reprieve, to save the President from untoward incidents on his South American tour, cannot now in good conscience send Chessman to his death.

"Governor Brown should now himself directly apply to the California Supreme Court for a recommendation from that court and upon securing a majority commute Chessman's death sentence."

Shark Attacks Skin Diver At Tomales Bay

A huge shark gashed the foot of a skin diver yesterday at the mouth of Tomales Bay. The victim said the shark was "as long as a 16-foot boat."

Frank Gilbert, 48, who lives in Petaluma and works for Railway Express Agency in Oakland, was treated in Petaluma for two deep gashes in his right foot. He spent the night in a hospital.

The wounded skin diver was hunting for abalone off Tomales Point when the big shark grabbed him by the foot. It tore off his diving flipper and the boot of his rubber suit.

Gilbert splashed water furiously as he had been taught to do in wartime training in the South Pacific when sharks were around. This scared the shark away.

Marin Driver Accused In S.F. Hit-Run Injury

A San Rafael bakery truck driver was charged with felonly hit-run driving in San Francisco today after his car allegedly hit and seriously injured a retired Army colonel.

James E. McKinnon, 35, of 79 Woodland avenue, was captured miles away from the accident scene by a private patrol operator who heard a police broadcast of the hit-run's car description.

San Francisco police said McKinnon told them something broke his windshield, and he stopped within half a block but could not find the cause, so drove on.

But, said police, he left lying in the street at McAllister and Willard streets Col. Nathan McLamb, 56, of San Francisco.

At Letterman Army Hospital, McLamb was reported in serious condition with injuries including a fractured leg and mutiple cuts and bruises.

McKinnon, who said he was heading home to San Rafael after a night of bowling, was stopped on Woodside avenue near Portola drive by Jay McClymond, private patrol operator, about 15 minutes after the accident at 9:35 p.m. yesterday.

The heat came from two fires, believed to be of incendiary origin, which flared up in the home. When firemen went to battle the blaze, they said they had to battle a "party crasher" also. The man jumped on a fireman's back, then bit his thumb. Fellow firemen squirted the attacker with a fire hose.

Before the battle was over, the home at 112 Laurel Grove avenue was partially burned and partially flooded. It is owned by Julius Paul, clothing manufacturer, and his wife, Rose Paul, realty broker.

The couple are away on a trip to Mexico. Their son, Ronald Louis Paul, 23, who is on leave from the Army, had invited several friends for a party, according to sheriff's deputies.

The man accused of biting a fireman's thumb is Gordon Steven Gray, 23, of 346 Santa Margarita avenue, San Rafael. He was jailed on suspicion of assault and battery and resisting arrest. Bailed for $817, he is scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow afternoon.

Sheriff's Inspector Margo Melovich and Deputy A. V. Menjou launched an arson investigation today and planned to give lie dectector tests to "party crasher" Gray and some of the other guests.

Officers said Gray, who is married, was acquainted with Ronald Paul and his sister, Carolyn, who is attending University of California at Berkeley. However, Gray was not invited to the party Saturday night. "He just showed up out of nowhere," according to those at the party.

The unusual party started in this way, according to reports made to Deputy Menjou: Ronald Paul went to San Francisco to meet friends James C. Micrulins and Terry Sarles. They met three other men and picked up four girls and had a few drinks. Then they decided to go to Paul's house, where they played some records, danced and had some more drinks.

Then somebody discovered smoke coming from the bathroom in a cabinet. Pots of water were carried up from downstairs and the fire was extinguished, Micrulins told Menjou.

Then another fire broke out—this one in an upstairs bedroom. About this time "a stranger (Gray) appeared and started to give orders," Micrulins sad. "He dragged a mattress and bed downstairs and said, 'don't let the fire department in or the will damage things.'"

But someone else had already called the Kentfield Fire Department.

When firemen arrived and started dragging hoses upstairs, Gray tried to stop them.

It was at this time that Gray bit Fireman William John Will-

School Unification: What Does It Mean?

By DONALD G. DAVIS

Efforts by state officials to unify California school districts have very real meaning for Marin. A high official in the state Department of Education has stated that in only a few years, unification will be achieved throughout the state.

Marin and other counties have been ordered to prepare master plans for unification by 1963.

What could happen in Marin?

Will the Stinson Beach-Bolinas area some day have its own high school, served by a school district governed by one board of trustees?

Will the Reed Union School District have its own high school, served by a district carved from the present Tamalpais Union High School District?

Will the vast and comparatively undeveloped area of West Marin some day be reorganized as far as school districts are concerned? Will one big district serve the needs of the whole area from the Sonoma-Marin county line to Muir Beach?

These and similar questions

'Pirates' Plunder Rescuers, Slay Man, Steal Boat

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Two shipwrecked Americans plundered their rescuers, shot a charter boat skipper to death and made off with his boat in a piratical exploit at a lonely Bahama island yesterday.

Another Coast Guard plane rescued the wife of one fugitive, a crewman of the stolen Isla Morada, Fla., cabin cruiser Murial III, and four Pennsylvania sport fishermen who told of being terrorized by the desperadoes' debate over whether to kill all witnesses to the slaying of Capt. Angus Boatwright, 55.

The woman gave her name in Nassau as Barbara Table, 18, and said she was shipwrecked with her husband, Alvin, 23, and William Sees, alias Johnson, 23, Tuesday in a boat the three took from Key West, Fla.

The Muriel III was off Elbow Cay, 106 miles south of Miami, when Boatwright spied mirror signals and saw the wreckage of a boat.

"The skipper was pretty leery of going in close," said Kent Hokanson, 21, mate of the Muriel III. "We thought they might be gun smugglers or Cubans."

"Then this guy (Sees) swam out to us. We let him aboard and he wanted us to go in closer and pick up another man and a girl. There was an argument. He pulled a revolver from his pants.

"Captain Boatwright got a shark rifle and Sees shot him twice, once between the eyes and once in the chest.

"The other man, Table, swam out next. They threatened to kill us but decided not to.

"Table said 'We can't let these guys stick around. They know us.'

"But the men in the fishing party talked them into letting us radio the Coast Guard that a man was injured and let us swim ashore.

Hokanson said Boatwright was floated ashore on life jackets but died in a few minutes. The desperadoes sped away in the Muriel III toward Cuba, 30 miles to the south. The Coast Guard cutter Ariadne, ordered to intercept it, was too far away to do so. A Coast Guard amphibian plane from Miami picked up Hokanson, Mrs. Table, Boatwright's body, and the four Pennsylvanians — Stanton C. Fogue of East McKeesports, Chester Haroop of Wilkinsburg, F. J. Schoalz of Monroeville and Edward McCrady of Pittsburg.

All were flown to Nassau for questioning by British authorities.

Atom Disarm Plea Made By De Gaulle

Otherwise, French Must Stock Bombs, He Tells Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—French President Charles de Gaulle told Congress today that unless the United States, Britain and Russia agree to destroy their nuclear weapons, France will be compelled to stockpile them.

He told a joint session of the House and Senate that not only peace but life itself "will be in jeopardy if the temptation and the threat of war remain hanging over the world due to nuclear weapons."

MUST EQUIP SELF

De Gaulle, whose government exploded the first French atomic bomb in the Sahara desert earlier this year, said: "Failing the renunciation of atomic armaments by those states who are provided wth them, the French Republic obviously will be obliged to equip itself with such armaments."

De Gaulle spoke to the joint session after he and President Eisenhower concluded their pre-summit talks in general agreement on grand strategy for next month's Paris meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

IN AGREEMENT

At today's final sesson, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville were called in, detailed on what had taken place, and helped their chiefs polish up a final communique.

The visiting French leader said in his address to Congress he "does not despair at all of seeing peace established in the world" but on the nuclear ban possibilities, he said: "We have reached the last moment when an agreement appears possible."

DISARM PLAN

De Gaulle pointed out that France advocates a start toward complete nuclear disarmament by cutting back on rockets and missiles which could deliver the atomic or hydrogen payloads.

"To destroy these weapons by common consent, to enter the commitment not to manufacture any others, to open up all the territories to reciprocal supervision; there is no other hope for the future of our species," he bluntly told the U. S. legislators.

De Gaulle said that at the forthcoming summit meeting "The fate of mankind may be oriented either towards calamity or towards peace."

14 Hurt As Race Riots Flare On Biloxi Beaches

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — Racial violence over attempts by Negroes to swim at segregated beaches yesterday resulted in gunfire that wounded 10 persons. Four others were injured in beachfront fighting.

The first injured were four Negroes who went swimming in the Gulf of Mexico off the all-white beach in this resort city of 45,000. By midnight both whites and Negroes had been wounded in scattered clashes.

Police patrolled the city today.

Mississippi's worst race riot erupted suddenly on this 28-mile man-made beach under a warm sun on a lazy Sunday afternoon. Three bloody chapters followed in confused sequence.

First, about 50 Negro men, women and children gathered across the highway from a white hotel on the sand. Some stepped into the Gulf of Mexico, the signal for a group of whites to show up. Fighting broke out. Whites chased Negroes off the beach.

Next, four Negro men and about 25 women and children gathered on the beach in front of the New Biloxi Hospital about a mile away from the first fight. A white group broke up the crowd when some of the Negroes stepped into the gulf. There was on official version of the fighting, but the four Negroes injured in this melee said their attackers hit them with chains, blackjacks and sticks.

Still later, a huge crowd of Negros massed in front of the home of Dr. Gilbert Mason, Negro physician. Onlookers variously estimated the crowd at 400 and 500.

Dr. Mason tried to break the beach color barrier by swimming in the gulf last week. Police arrested him on a disorderly conduct charge. His case is pending in city court.

Police arrested Dr. Mason again yesterday. The charge was fighting and disrupting traffic.

Gun violence broke out at nightfall. Bullets and shotgun pellets wounded eight Negroes and two whites.

All the injured lived in Biloxi. None was reported seriously hurt. Police arrested four Negroes.

AIR FORCE ACCADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Eighty silver cups have been presented to the Air Force Academy by Jimmy Doolittle, who led one of the boldest raids of World War II to bomb Tokyo from the Aircraft Carrier Hornet on April 18, 1942.

The cups, pride of the Tokyo Raiders, are being kept at the Academy for display and safekeeping. They will be picked up each year for the annual Tokyo Raiders' reunion.

The Raiders drink a toast to departed members at each reunion. A bottle of brandy is in the center of the trophy case containing the cups. The last survivor will drink the bottle of brandy.

Convict Takes Life In Cell

A Bakersfield killer took his own life in a San Quentin Prison cell Saturday night, just three days after entering the prison to serve a life sentence.

It was the second death try for David Newton, 65, in the three days, reported a prison spokesman.

Newton was found strangled by a noose he had fashioned from a strip of blanket. He had fastened the blanket strip to a window padlock hasp and "sat down," the spokesman said.

He was found dead at 7:30 p.m.

Hikers Heading For Desert; Woman Gains On Servicemen

WELLS, Nev. (UPI) — Three British cross-country walkers, buffeted by sand and snow storms in Nevada, today headed toward the vast Salt Lake desert and the Bonneville salt flats in Utah.

Royal Air Force Sgt. Mervin Evans and army Sgt. Patrick Moloney took up the snappy pace that has carried them 45 miles a day early this morning 13 miles east of here on Highway 40, with Dr. Barbara Moore trailing by 14 miles, according to Highway Patrol Field Agent Bernard Bartz.

Bartz said he talked with the driver for the two servicemen last night and was asked if he knew of a private detective the party could hire to see if the woman was ridng part of the way.

The 56-year-old vegetarian picked up 15 miles on the servicemen yesterday by supposedly dogtrotting through a sleet and snow storm.

The sergeants have disputed this claim and also another that she covered 107 miles in 17 hours by the same means.

On the other side, the former wife of sculptor Henry Moore said she believed the men rode out the weekend storm in their truck, because "I know soldiers don't like to march in bad weather."

Dr. Moore, who spent the night here because of 10-degree weather, said she hoped to overtake the men before they reached Salt Lake City.

THIS HOME'S JUST DUCKY FOR MALLARD

This year what appears to be the same duck is back again, in the same window box. So far she's laid five eggs.

Gun Mishap Wounds Man

Donald Swan Works, 24-year-old Corte Madera painter, suffered a gunshot wound in his left hand when his rifle blew up yesterday in Novato, sheriff's deputies reported.

Works, who lives at 240 Sausalito street, Corte Madera, was treated at San Rafael General Hospital. He told Sheriff's Deputy R. F. Bertrand he fired one shot, which turned out to be a dud. He ejected the shell, and fired the second shot, which caused the rifle to blow up.

Works said the bullet from the dud may have been lodged inside the barrel.

Prowler Found In Novato Home

A Novato housewife, who got up last night to investigate noises in the living room, found a man crouched on his knees in the middle of the floor in the dark, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Mrs. Lucille A. Grady, 54, a postal clerk living at 1605 Hotchkins drive, said she screamed. The man scampered out the rear door and disappeared.

She told officers she was asleep about 10 p.m. when she was awakened by noises. Because of the darkness she did not get a clear description of the prowler.

FIVE SPLENDID REASONS TO STAY OFF JURY

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A man summoned for jury duty replied with a letter listing five reasons why he was declining to serve.

1. Judge's instructions are too dull and he doubted he could keep awake.

2. Lawyers rely too much on the theory of what a reasonable man would do under certain conditions when in reality such a man is purely a fictional character.

3. Legal formulas of "beyond a reasonable doubt" and "preponderance of evidence" cannot be measured in reality.

4. He could not in conscience accept the high pay of serving as a juror.

5. And anyway, it would be awkward for him to double as a juror since his name is Frank G. Swain and he is a judge in the superior court.

Couple, Son Injured In Car Crash

A Terra Linda couple and their year-old son suffered cuts and bruises last night when their small foreign car collided with a pickup truck at Third and B streets in San Rafael.

Robert J. Woodley, 28, of 570 Woodbine drive, Terra Linda, was headed east on Third street about 8 p.m. with his wife, Marilyn Mae, 26, and their son, Robert Eugene. Their car collided with a pickup truck driven by Marin Frank Perry, 48, of 12 Ross street, San Rafael.

The impact sent Mrs. Woodley and the baby crashing against the windshield. Both suffered cuts about the face and mouth. Woodley complained of knee and leg injury. The family went to Marin General Hospital for treatment.

Hamilton Fighter Wing Sponsors AF Academy Unit

The 78th Fighter Wing at Hamilton Air Force Base formally accepted the sponsorship of the 13th Squadron, 4th Group, of the Air Force Cadet Wing at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs Saturday.

A flight of F101 Voodoos and F102 Delta Daggers led by an F104 Starfighter flew over the field.

At a later ceremony in the huge messhall of the academy, Colonel Ceuleers presented a plaque with the wing's insignia to Cadet Hines, who will be graduated this June as a regular Air Force officer with the grade of second lieutenant.

Her presentation was on the topic, "The Bells of San Rafael." Topics for the contest were limited to California History.

Missing Marin Man Turns Up In Iowa

Robert T. Orband, 29, Novato bakery truck driver missing from his home since last Tuesday, was heard from in Casey, Iowa, today and is returning home, his wife reported.

Orband, employed by the Peter Wheat Bakery in Vallejo, disappeared after being in an accident in a company truck near Davis on Tuesday.

His wife said he notified his employer by telephone this morning that he did not know how he had arrived in Iowa but was returning home at once.

At the time of his disappearance, Mrs. Orband had expressed fear that he might have suffered a head injury in the accident and might not be aware of who he was.

The Orbands live at 2 Diablo court.

Sheriff's Inspector Marco Melovich reported, "From all indications it is felt that this case is one of arson with the use of an accelerant." Melovich said he had taken as evidence some burnt material and a pint container.

Gray, said he was passing by the house after attending a dance down the Peninsula with his wife, Nancy. He said he investigated when he saw "people were yelling fire and water was dripping from above the front door." His wife was sitting in the car in front of the home.

McLaren said that the department was called out at 3:55 a.m. and he and crew found the house "pretty badly flooded from the broken sink upstairs." He called for an arson investigation.

Bomb Hoax Told At Seaplane Base

A telephone threat that there was a bomb planted in one of the airplanes at Commodore Seaplane Base near Richardson Bay Bridge turned out to be a prank, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Clyde W. Snyder, 40, of San Francisco, who owns the hangar, said he received two threats Friday night. He said he believed the calls were pranks and did not conduct a search.

OBITUARIES

Robert Smyth Dies; Envoy, China Expert

Funeral services for Robert Lacy Smyth, a distinguished China expert and retired Foreign Service officer, will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday at St. John's Church in Ross.

Smyth died yesterday afternoon at Marin General Hospital after several months' illness. Since his retirement in 1955 he and his wife, the former Jane Evans Brown, had resided at 39 Edgewood way, San Rafael.

His career in China from 1920 to 1950 included successive assignments in Peking, Nanking, and Tientsin until each was abandoned by the United States. This involved him in a series of important avacuation arrangements for Americans resident in China between 1937 and 1950, as well as reporting political and economic developments.

ROBERT LACY SMYTH
Played key role in China

Smyth was born in Foochow, China, in 1894, son of George Blood Smyth, president of Anglo Chinese College, and Alice Harris Smyth. In 1900 he returned to the United States and attended public schools in Berkeley and the University of California, from which he received an A.B. degree in 1917.

He joined the American Field Service Ambulance unit from the university and served with it in France, later enlisting in the French army for active service until the end of World War I. He was awarded the Croix de Guerre.

Returning to Berkeley, Smyth did a year of graduate work and then entered the Foreign Service. His first post was in Peking as a student interpreter, after two years of Chinese language study during which he traveled extensively into the China interior. Subsequent assignments placed him in every key American consulate in China.

By 1937, at the time of the Japanese attack at Lukouchiao near Peking, he was second secretary of the U. S. Embassy in Peking. Large numbers of American residents were then billeted on embassy grounds and one of Smyth's tasks was to arrange the evacuation of many.

Returning to Washington, Smyth was assistant director of the State Department's Far East Division during World War II. In 1945 he returned to China as counselor of embassy at Chungking and Nanking, participating in behind-the-scenes negotiations carried on by the Marshall Mission with China's Nationalists and Communists.

He was one of the signers on behalf of the United States of the 1946 Sino-American Treaty of Commerce and Industry. As consul general in Tientsin he was instrumental in bringing about the return to American owners of property holdings and in persuading Chinese authorities to allow non-Chinese lighterage of vessels, reducing demurrage on American ships.

At the time of the Communist takeover at Tientsin, Smyth's daily radio reports on Communist rules and regulations enabled Americans in yet uncaptured cities throughout China to arrange their affairs and leave the country with some of their assets. Until his departure in 1950 he was one of a small corps of experts able to interpret developments and conflicts.

At the university Smyth was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Alpha Delta Phi. He was active after his retirement in the World Affairs Council of Northern California, and served on the Marin County Grand Jury.

Survivors include his wife; two sisters, Mrs. Norman W. Ford of Bolinas and Mrs. Walter Alvarez of Chicago, and a brother, William Harris Smyth of New York.

Marin Man Dies Of Heart Attack At Auto's Wheel

Coroner Frank J. Keaton said today an autopsy showed a heart attack, not the collision, caused Rossi's death.

Slight rib injuries resulted from the body's being thrown against the wheel when Rossi's car met in a low speed head-on collision with one driven by Mrs. Della J. Engle of 41-D Lovell avenue, Mill Valley. Rossi lived at 50 Mesa avenue.

Each car had two occupants but none was injured in the collision on the Shoreline highway at the Coyote Creek Bridge in Tamalpais Valley, according to California Highway Patrol report.

The coroner's finding supported observations of Highway Patrolman Cecil Hooper, who said the Rossi car was found halted against the front of the Engle car but on Mrs. Engle's side of the highway.

Mrs. Engle, a clerk for Sears Roebuck and Co. in San Francisco, told the patrol that she had been driving east at 30 to 35 miles an hour when she saw Rossi's car coming "straight at me in the left lane." Then she saw Rossi's head "go back" and "I knew something was wrong."

She said she applied her brakes and braced herself for the impact, which occurred with both cars at low speed.

Traffic was jammed for some time after the accident because the cars were halted so as to block passage over the bridge.

Rites Held For Marinite's Father

Funeral services for John Allerton, father of Mrs. Jose A. Silva of Woodacre, were held in Sacramento last week.

Allerton, 76, died of a heart attack early Easter morning at his home in Broderick, Yolo County.

He was a retired machinist for the Southern Pacific railroad and came to Broderick from London, England, in 1902.

Allerton was a frequent summer visitor to his daughter's home in Woodacre. In addition to her, he is survived by two other daughters, Mrs. Elain Meltzer of Manhattan Beach and Mrs. Ramona Palmer of Sacramento, four grandchildren and one great-grandson.

Burial was in the family plot in the Sacramento City Cemetery.

Arthur Cochrane Rites Tomorrow

Funeral services for Arthur B. Cochrane of San Anselmo, who died Saturday in a local hospital after a short illness, will be held tomorrow at 11:30 a.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross.

Cochrane was born in New York and for many years owned a tool manufacturing company in Evanston, Ill. He was a veteran of World War I, a charter member of American Legion Post 42 in Evanston, and a member of the York Rite Bodies of Masonry in Chicago.

After his retirement six years ago, he and his wife, Mrs. May M. Cochrane, traveled extensively before moving to 57 Tamalpais avenue in San Anselmo last September.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two sons, Paul G. Cochrane of Kentfield, and Cyrus M. Cochrane of Vermont, and eight grandchildren.

Burial will be in Mt. Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael, directed by Harry M. Williams Mortuary.

Woman Discovered Dead In Home

Mrs. Alice Louise Kiefer, 52, of 11 Roger drive, San Rafael, died last night at her home, apparently from an overdose of sedatives, police reported today.

Coroner Frank J. Keaton was to conduct an autopsy today.

The victim's husband, Harold Kiefer, is believed to be a salesman living in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Erma Mary Bridgett, a neighbor at 12 Roger drive, found Mrs. Kiefer collapsed in her bathroom about 8:30 last night and called a doctor. United Ambulance took Mrs. Kiefer to San Rafael General hospital, where she was pronounced dead.

Officer Leland Ahern said a pill container labeled with a prescription for sedatives was found on the floor of the bathroom where the victim law. No note was found.

Heart Patients Need Spinal Check-ups

by Dr. Robert W. Pearce

Heart trouble is the number one killer in the United States. After a breakdown, there are limits on what can be done to correct a heart disorder. Tissue that has been damaged cannot be replaced. But the heart is a strong organ and every effort should be taken to make the best use of the strength that is left.

Some heart disorders can be corrected. In any case, you should have a physical check-up regularly.

Many cases of heart trouble are the result of strangulation of the nerves that feed the heart. Frequently this pressure and choking of the nerves is caused by a slightly misaligned spine.

Often the heart trouble will clear up entirely once the spine has been corrected. Spinal correction is probably even more important if you have already suffered heart damage. Then you want to be certain your heart is getting proper nerve impulses to save what you have left.

Chiropractors are the best trained spine specialists and are expert in finding and correcting defects which can damage your heart.

Brain Damage

● Caffeine & Sleep
● Chest Pain

Q. Can anything be done for a child who has scar tissue of the brain? Can he learn from books?

A. Specific answers to these questions could be given only by the examining physician who would be able to determine the extent and nature of the brain damage. In general, the brain is something like the battery of your car. If one cell goes bad the entire battery is weakened. Perhaps the lights would burn but there would not be enough power to start the motor. Even though the battery is below par it is still capable of functioning at a reduced level of performance. So too, is the partially damaged brain capable of functioning within limits. The goal should be to develop the remaining mental capacities through patient and helpful instruction.

Q. If I drink a cola beverage during the evening I have trouble sleeping. Is this just "in my head" or do such drinks contain stimulants?

A. The exact composition of various carbonated drinks is a trade secret, but among other things cola drinks contain caffeine. Caffeine is, of course, a stimulant. A 6-oz. cola drink contains about a third as much caffeine as does a cup of reasonably strong coffee.

Q. On several occasions I have had very sharp pain over my heart. It's so severe that I can scarcely breathe. The pain lasts several minutes and then goes away. Could this be heart trouble?

A. Anyone who experiences chest pain should have a complete checkup. Chest pain can be a sign of real trouble although there is a kind of "catch" or sharp pain that is quite harmless. Sometimes a person will be seized with a sharp knifelike chest pain that is made worse by deep breathing. The discomfort may last several minutes. The origin of this type of pain is unknown but it does not seem to be associated with heart trouble. The important thing is to find out whether the chest pain is the harmless variety or due to some condition that requires medical treatment.

ONLY ONE OF ITS KIND IN MARIN—This is the administration building of the Novato Unified School District. It looks very much like any of several other school district offices in Marin County. But there's a difference. Novato, alone among Marin school districts, is a "unified" district. That means one school board and one administration directs education from kindergarten through 12th grade. (Independent-Journal photo)

Group To Light 'Life Flame' For Chessman

The Marin Chessman Committee plans to send a 20-foot tower of flame into the sky at 8 o'clock tonight on Wolfback Ridge above Sausalito.

"It is a life flame," committee spokesman Steven Warshaw said, "designed to symbolize the committee's opposition to the projected execution of Caryl Chessman at 10 a.m. next Monday."

The flame will burn continuously day and night, he declared, although reduced during the day when it will be less visible.

CEREMONY PLANNED

There will be a ceremony around the flame, Warshaw said, expected to involve some 200 persons, to be followed immediately by a series of strategy meetings. These meeting will be the continuation of sessions held throughout the weekend by groups that have been telephoning to other associations throughout Northern California.

The flame will be fed by a special propane jet designed by the same firm that created the eternal flame for the Squaw Valley Winter Olympics, Warshaw said. It will be manned by a subcommittee of the Chessman committee to be headed by Robert O'Leary, a Corte Madera real estate man.

PERMISSION GIVEN

Warshaw, who lives at 74 Cloud View road, Sausalito, said permission for the tower of flame has been given by the Marin County sheriff and the proper fire authorities. The fire will be located in a large clearing and will be continuously manned.

O'Leary was the first to propose the idea of an undying flame at the organization meeting of the Chessman committee Thursday night at the Gate Theater in Sausalito. He and George Draper, a San Francisco newspaperman, spent the weekend completing technical details for setting up the mechanism and getting clearance from authorities, Warshaw said.

INVITES PUBLIC

"The Marin Chessman Committee issues a public announcement inviting all persons oppose the Chessman execution or who oppose capital punishment to attend the Wolfback Ridge ceremony," said Warshaw. The site can be reached by taking the Spencer avenue overpass up the hill off the Waldo Grade.

"We are neighbors to official murder in Marin County, and regard ourselves as the group chiefly responsible for representing public opposition either to capital punishment or more specifically to the execution of Caryl Chessman."

Novato Has County's Only Unified Schools

occasionally bother the school-minded public of Marin. School boards grope for answers. Surveys are made, studied, discarded.

One of the public bodies that grapples with the word, its meaning, and its possible application in Marin is a group called County Committee on School District Organization.

Operating under state law, this committee has as one of its duties the study of whether school districts in Marin should be unified.

This committee began a study of unification of the Tomales and Marshall districts in West Marin, then postponed the study.

This committee held several meetings on unification of the Tamalpais Union High School District, and then voted to discontinue the study.

This committee has returned to a study of unification in the coastal region, and has a request from the Bolinas and Stinson Beach school boards to study West Marin area unification. Another request for a study has been made by the West Marin school board.

This committee has been asked by the trustees in the Fairfax and San Anselmo districts to study unification of the two districts.

This committee must prepare, by Sept. 15, 1963, and submit to the state Board of Education a master plan on unification for Marin.

According to the state Education Code, the committee "shall prepare and submit (to the state board) a master plan for including all the territory of the county, including territory of adjacent counties where necessary, in all school districts so that each school district shall provide an educational program including all grades from kindergarten or first grade through grade 12 together with other types of reorganization which would constitute intermediate steps to the establishment of districts operating all grades through grade 12."

The specific article in the Education Code calling for the master plan provides also that the state make the plan if the county committee fails to, and that the state Board of Education can approve the whole or part of the plan.

The Marin committee has not started the master plan study. It is estimated that $3,000 will be needed to implement the plan, and the local committee is waiting to see if the funds will be voted by the Legislature.

But the 11-letter word is still being kicked around. One member of the committee would call for elections today, with the feeling that certain areas, without a voter batting an eyelash, would approve of unification.

Another member said the voters do not even know what unification means. She said she was "appalled" at the lack of knowledge among women voters and parent-teacher groups.

"These are the thinking people of our community," she said recently. "At least they are supposed to be. And they don't even know what school unification means."

There is only one unified district in Marin — the Novato Unified School District. Its birth almost was a necessity, but it has experienced painful growth.

It has a system of kindergarten through 12th grade, administered by one superintendent, governed by one school board, operating on one budget and one school program. And that, essentially, is what the 11-letter word means.

But a survey made recently by the Independent-Journal revealed that even some school trustees, teachers and parent-teacher officers do not know that it is simply that. Some persons in this "education" group evidenced vague feelings about "consolidation" and "coordination."

Most of them know what unification means, and most of them want it. And almost all of them are opposed to county-wide unification. They favor smaller unified districts.

Oistrakh, seemingly devoid of artistic temperament, clowned through the picture-making in St. Louis. He managed an exaggerated soulful expression as he tucked the violin under his chin.

High Court To Review Legality Of 'Blue Laws'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court agreed today to determine the constitutionality of the ancient Sunday "blue laws" of three states—Maryland, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

The court will hold oral arguments on the blue laws issue in the term beginning next October and will follow with a written opinion Its decision was expected to establish a rule of law to govern these Sunday statues which date back to colonial days.

The laws, which generally restrict business and other activity on Sundays, were challenged recently in various states by Jewish merchants who contended that they discriminated against them in favor of Christian competitors. Saturday is their Sabbath.

In other actions today, the court:

1. Left standing a lower court ruling blocking a 10-million-dollar stock repurchase agreement by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. The agreement was opposed by the government and a group of the company's stockholders.

2. Dismissed the appeal of William H. Phillips 44-year-old Hempstead, Long Island, N. Y., repairman, now facing death for the rape murder of 8-year-old Sunday Graham in 1958. The brief order left New York state free to carry out the execution.

3. Agreed to review the contempt of court conviction of Carl Braden of Louisville, Ky., who balked at answering questions put to him in Atlanta, Ga., in 1958 by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. He was sentenced to a year in jail.

4. Denied hearings to two convicted murders awaiting death in Texas and Florida, respectively. They are George Moses and Norman Mackiewicz, each of whom was convicted of killing a policeman

MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE

Youth Orchestra Presents Concert Of High Quality

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

A well trained orchestra and choir, outstanding soloists, and a program of high quality music combined to make last night's Marin Youth Orchestra concert a memorable experience.

Received enthusiastically by an audience that almost filled Marin Catholic High School auditorium to capacity, the concert had two unusual features.

One was the premier performance of an orchestral work, "Overture for a Carnival," commissioned for the Youth Orchestra, with the composer, Dr. Leonard Ratner, present. The other was presentation of a major contemporary masterpiece, "The Sacred Service" by the late Ernest Block the composer's granddaughter, Sita Dimitroff, sang in the choir.

"Pastoral Suite" by the contemporary composer Lars-Erik Larsson proved a pleasing opening number for the 70-member orchestra of Marin high school students directed by Hugo Rinaldi.

Taking solo honors in the next number, Bach's fourth Brandenberg conerto, were flutists Wendy Eisler and Pat Hurtado and violinnist Bob Talmage, who gave an accomplished rendition of this difficult contrapuntal work.

Thoroughly deserved was the prolonged acclaim received by the orchestra's young concertmaster, Tom Reynolds, for his performance of the first movement of Tchaikovsky's Concerto in D Major for violin and orchestra. Although lacking the mature artist's full-bodied tone and virtuosity in tempo, he showed much technical facility and poise, especially in the famous unaccompanied cadenza.

Most interesting number on the program was Ratner's colorfully orchestrated "Overture for a Carnival," played by the young people in a true carnival spirit. Although it took some observable time-counting to follow the beat of its polyrhythms, often in Latin-American style, it paid off in the best performance of the evening on the part of the orchestra.

True intonation, one of the most difficult achievements for amateurs, was not always present. But neither is that so of many professionals. On the whole the young musicians play very well, and promoting the growth of young talent in this way is a highly commendable project of the Symphony Guild of Marin.

If the overture was the most interesting number, the "Sacred Service" was the most impressive, with Tamalpais High School's 60-voice choir joining forces with the orchestra to present a remarkably mature reading of Bloch's profoundly religious work.

Baritone Joseph Reade sang the role of the cantor with an excellence of diction and emotional insight far beyond his years.

At the conclusion of the concert, Rinaldi and the orchestra and the choir with its director, Robert Greenwood, received an ovation that lasted some minutes.

CANCER DRIVE WORKERS WILL BE OUT TONIGHT

The chances are high that one of your neighbors — a Cancer Crusade volunteer—will call on you today between the hours of 5 and 8 p.m.

Today is C-Day, culmination of the month-long fund-raising and educational campaign of the American Cancer Society.

More than 2,000 Marin County volunteers will be going house-to-house in their neighborhood areas, asking for contributions for the annual Cancer Crusade, which seeks to raise $30,000 in Marin County.

Mrs. Robertson Ward, county chairman of the Cancer Crusade, said she hopes Marin residents will take the words of the campaign slogan to heart: "Guard Your Family. Fight Cancer With a Checkup and a Check."

Wrist Cuts Send Woman To Hospital

Mrs. Janet Y. Hulsey, 20, of 333 Locust avenue San Rafael, slashed her wrists with a razor blade last night, police reported.

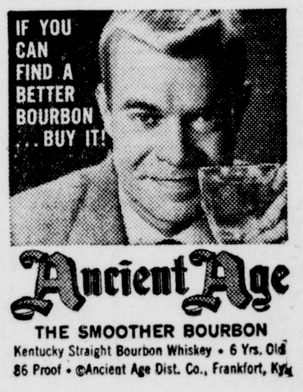

She was taken by ambulance to the San Rafael Hospital saying, "Let me die, I want to die." I want to die." Refused admittance is her mental condition, she was taken to the Napa State Hospital.

Mrs. Hulsey, according to police reports, was going to beauty school in San Francisco but was forced to discontinue when she suffered a back injury and had to wear a cast. Since that time she had been staying with friends, Mrs. Virgina O'Connor and Mrs. S. M. Weikotten, at the Locust avenue address.

Another friend, Lawrence W. Ledwick of the same address, said the four had gone for cocktails to a neighbor's last night, then returned home for dinner.

While the others sat down to dinner, Mrs. Hulsey went upstairs to the bathroom Sensing something was wrong Ledwick went to investigate. Mrs. Hulsey had cut her wrists and was bleeding badly, he said. When het went to call a doctor, Mrs. Hulsey ran outside, and was lying in the yard in an hysterical condition, he told officers.

Mrs. Hulsey is a divorcee.

McCormick Faces Red-Hot Cards Tonight

ST. LOUIS — Manager Bill Rigney plans defensive shifts in the late innings when his San Francisco Giants have a lead.

He indicated he would substitute for left-fielder Orlando Cepeda in the late going—after the Giants blew a two-run lead and lost 9-4 to Chicago Sunday.

The Cubs, before 20,818 in Wrigley Field, came up with a seven-run eighth inning after two were out. Bob Will's pinch hit pop fly three-run single was the big blow.

The ball fell among Cepeda, shortstop Eddie Bressoud and third baseman Jimmy Davenport. Cepeda didn't get a good jump on the ball. The same kind of blooper gave the Cubs a ninth inning victory in Candlestick Park April 14.

"We are going to have to defense a little now and then," said Rigney. He might move Cepeda to first in the late going for Willie McCovey and put fleet Felipe Alou in left. Or he could move vastly improved Willie Kirkland from right to left and put Alou in right.

Young Mike McCormick risks his perfect 2-0 record and attempts to insert the shocked Giants back into a first place National League tie tonight when he meets the rejuvenated St. Louis Cardinals.

McCormick, hurled a three-hit, 6-1 win at the Cardinals nearly two weeks ago in Candlestick Park. He had a no-hitter going until the eighth when Stan (The Man) Musial rapped a single.

The Cardinals appear red-hot after sweeping three games from Los Angeles. They lost their first five of the season, including two to San Francisco.

Until the eighth in Chicago yesterday the Giants appeared to be heading for their fourth straight victory. Willie Mays hit his first homer of the season — the 10th straight game he's hit in—and by the fourth the San Franciscans were leading 4-1.

Starter Billy O'Dell gave up a pinch hit homer to Earl Averill in the seventh, and Billy Loes started the eighth.

Loes got the tough hitters, Ernie Banks and Frank Thomas quickly. But he gave a single to George Altman and walks to pinch batters Walt Moryn and Sammy Taylor. Will singled and Tony Taylor homered and Richie Ashburn walked. Stu Miller relieved and was greeted by singles from Lou Johnson and Banks. Bud Byerly finally got the side out by getting the 13th batter, Sammy Drake, to ground out.

Loes took the defeat, his first against two victories. Don Elston, who worked an inning after Bob Anderson went the first seven, won his second.

Mays and Willie Kirkland had quite a time in the three-game Chicago series. Mays went 8 for 13, Kirkland 8 for 11. Kirkland ran his string to six straight hits before Elston threw a called third strike.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

"They can't write us off. We were only three games out on the first of September."

Everybody smiled and looked wise when Danny Murtaugh, the Pittsburgh manager, boldly stated his case in March at Ft. Myers, Fla.

Murtaugh's analysis looks solid at this early stage of the National League race. The season is only two weeks old, but his Pirates are riding in first place.

The Pirates sneaked into the lead yesterday by knocking off Milwaukee 7-3 while the San Francisco Giants were losing to the Chicago Cubs 9-4. It was Pittsburg's fifth straigh victory and its eighth in 11 starts.

Once again it was Elroy Face walking from the bullpen to save the day. Harvey Haddix had been rolling adong with a 7-0 shutout going to the the ninth.

A double by Joe Adcock, a walk, a double by Johnny Logan, a sacrifice fly and another double by pinch-hitter Mike Krisnich finished Haddix. In came Face to strike out pinch-hitter Charley Lau and end the game by making Red Schoendienst ground out.

The Giants had a 4-2 lead going to the eighth when Billy O'Dell was replaced by Billy Loes. When the inning was over the Cubs had seven runs and the ball game. Don Elston was the winner.

DODGERS WHIPPED

Solly Hemus' St. Louis Cardinals won their fourth straight, after losing their first five, hammering Los Angeles pitching for a 7-2 decision. Ken Boyer hit his fifth homer and old man Stan Musial poled No. 2.

Eight homers were hit in the Phillie-Cincinnati doubleheader including a grand slammer by rookie Jim Coker in the Phils' opening 9-5 victory. Roy McMillan his his fifth and Frank Robinson and Eddie Kasko each added his second of the day in Cincinnati's 10-4 second game triumph.

PODRES LOSER

Bob Miller, 21-year-old right hander, was the Cardinal winner although he needed help from Ron Kline and Lindy McDaniel. Johnny Podres was the Dodger loser. Ted Wieand, Cincinnati relief man walked the first two men he faced in the first game with the Phils and then gave up the grand slammer to Coker. Later in the afternoon he was shipped to the Havana farm. Rookie Chris Short won the first for the Phils and Jim Owens lost the second. Bob Purkey was the Cincinnati loser in the opener. Don Newcombe won the second.

Cards Boast Majors' Top Relief Ace

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Lindy McDaniel is a devout church worker and frequent Sunday School teacher, but as ace relief hurler for the St. Louis Cardinals he's making believers of another sort out of opposing batsmen.

Manager Solly Hemus flatly calls him "the best reliever in the majors." Lindy's making him look good with six shutout relief jobs in the Redbird's first nine games.

In his six relief appearances Lindy has pitched 8⅔ scoreless innings, almost a full game, allowing only three hits. He's walked four and struck out four.

Hemus said he would rather have McDaniel than Milwaukee's Don McMahon or Pittsburgh's Roy Face—who had an 18-1 record in relief last year.

So Many 'Ifs' Surround S. F. Loss; Billy O'Dell Is The Hard-Luck Guy

CONNOLLY

It shouldn't happen to a dog, but it happened to the Giants. One day they beat the brains out of the Chicago Cubs and the next day the vice gets versed.

But that's baseball, and I'm not crying. Any time we can get out of Wrigley Field with two out of three games it is like another step up the long ladder to the pennant.

What happened yesterday simply cannot be explained by any bit of rational reasoning. Seven runs in one inning is possible, but what are the odds of having 10 consecutive baserunners after two men are out? And those two outs the best hitters on the club, Ernie Banks and Frank Thomas!

You can throw in all kinds of "ifs" and still not come up with the answer. Ig O'Dell had continued pitching he might have muddled through. If Rigney had gone to his bullpen sooner, the uprising might have been cut short. If that one lousy pop fly had been a foot one way or the other the side is out and the inning just a goose egg in the record book.

SOMEHOW I like to think it is not the failure of the pitchers that causes these occasional outbursts as much as it is the contagion that strikes the offensive club.

It happens in all sports. A football team that is two touchdowns behind suddenly can do no wrong. Every pass or run gains yards and seven points go up on the scoreboard. The defending team fumbles the kickoff and away we go again. Five minutes later this same team can be as cold as a mackerel in a deep freeze.

Professionals learn to be philosophical about this phenomenon. A pitcher who threw a shutout will come back in his next game and can't get a man out, even though he feels great and his ball is working nicely. Already this year we saw young Mike McCormick sandwich a stinker in between two of his greatest games.

THE SADDEST part of the whole situation is the fate of Billy O'Dell. This classy little southpaw is the guy who looks like the difference between third place and first place for the Giants this year. And hard luck Billy has yet to chalk up his first win. If it is any consolation he wasn't charged with the loss this time. Maybe his luck is changing.

I hope the Giants learned a lesson from the pasting they took. And that is that the runs you have are never enough. With a comfortable lead early in the game the Giants blew chance after chance to add to their total. It is hard to keep a club "high" on the day after they have made 18 runs, but that hungry meanness is the thing that makes a champion.

It is a noble and a wonderful thing to have compassion for your fellow man, or to turn the other cheek.

But not in professional sports!

MacKay defeated Fraser in five sets in the 1959 Wimbledon quarter-finals, but lost to the Aussie in four sets in Davis Cup play last summer.

Finsterwald Sets Record In Winning New Orleans Golf

NEW ORLEANS, La. (UPI) — Dow Finsterwald is one of the most conservative players on the professional golf circuit, but that didn't keep him from setting a tournament record of 270 while winning the $27,000 Greater New Orleans Open.

Finsterwald carded rounds of 69-66-66-69 for a 14-under par total and the $3,500 first place money. His 72-hole total sliced six strokes off the tournament mark of 276 set by Henry Picard in 1941.

Finsterwald, of Tequesta, Fla., always deadly in his short game, finished six strokes ahead of his nearest pursuer, Al Besselink of Grossinger, N. Y. Besselink fired a 70 in the final round yesterday for a 276 and second place money of $2,300.

Four players were bunched for third place behind Besselink. Johnny Pott, Doug Sanders, Bob Rosburg, and Houston LaClair had 277's.

REDWOOD ACE NAMED MARIN PREP OF WEEK

Rich Brear, who pitched Redwood's Giants to a 4-1 victory over Novato Friday, has been named Marin County Athletic League's "Prep of the Week" by the Independent-Journal and Radio KTIM.

He will receive a certificate of honor for the I-J and KTIM. Brear also stars in football as an end and basketball as a forward.

The MCAL baseball schedule resumes tomorrow with three games on tap. Feature game will be between Redwood and the Tamalpais Indians, who also won their opener Friday. Giraffe Piano

It belonged to the family of Confederate Gen. John Hunt Morgan and for many years was thought to be a harpsichord, a popular instrument of the 18th Century and a forerunner of the piano.

The giraffe piano was so named because of long-curved post of the harp resembled the neck of a giraffe.

Upsets Mark First Round Of Marin Amateur Golf Tourney

Medalist and tourney favorite Del Taylor and Mill Valley City Champion Ed Johnson were victims of the upsets. Taylor, who won the title in 1958, lost to Byron Eggleston of San Rafael by a 2 and 1 margin. The match ended on the 17th hole when Eggleston canned a birdie putt. Taylor is a resident of Corte Madera and an annual fixture in the championship bracket.

HOLE-IN-ONE

Best single shot of yesterday's competition came in the First Flight when Skip Larkin of Mill Valley fired a hole-in-one on the 17th hole. The ace, however, failed to help Larkin's match as he lost a one-up decision to Gary Johnson, son of the Mill Valley champion.

The field of 117 now cut in half, the tourney will resume next Sunday at the Mill Valley municipal course.

NCAA Meets, May Slap Violators

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The NCAA Council, which can and frequently does chastise misbehaving colleges, was expected to hear a report today by its committee on infractions.

This committee, headed by George H. Young of Wisconsin, indicated earlier this month it planned to present at least one case to the 18-man council.

Kansas, North Carolina and Louisiana State have been mentioned as schools possibly on the committee carpet but Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, declined comment yesterday.

The committee has concerned itself to a large degree in past years with recruiting excesses, and its recommendations have meant stern action by the council involving Auburn, North Carolina State, Tulsa, and Oklahoma among others.

Early Wynn's second straight failure, the slugging of the Detroit Tigers and the performance of the New York Yankees' young pitchers cast a new light on the American League situation today after only one week of the season.

Wynn was slugged for six runs in the first inning yesterday as Detroit humbled the defending champion Chicago White Sox, 12-4. The 40-year-old right-hander who won 22 games for the 1959 pennant winners had been knocked out on opening day by Kansas City.

Casey Wise, who hit one homer in the last three years in the majors, hit two. Lou Berberet, a .216 hitter last year, hammered a grand slammer off Wynn, climaxing that big first inning.

The Yankees tied an American League record by scoring eight runs in the first inning before Baltimore could get anybody out. Although Jim Coates, an opening day winner, weakened and needed relief the issue never was in doubt in a 15-9 Yankee victory.

Cleveland finally got into the win column, shutting out Kansas City 7-0 on Gary Bell's six-hitter and Woody Held's two home runs. Washington had to call on Camilo Pascual in relief to hold an 11-10 decision over Boston.

The National League matched the American's total of 15 homers to make it 30 for the day, including four grand slammers. Three grand slammers in the American by Berberet and Albie Pearson and Billy Klaus of the Orioles tied the major league record.

HOME RUN BINGE

Detroit has smashed 11 home runs in its last four games. Jimmy Dykes, the manager, must be wondering what is happening. A few days back there were rumors he was on the way out, now he is the only unbeaten manager in baseball.

For the second straight day Dykes got a complete game from his pitching staff. Paul Foytack, handicapped by arm trouble in the spring, survived a shaky start to match Frank Lary's nine-inning effort of Saturday.

Boston collected 20 hits, including homers by Vic Wertz, Bobby Thomson and rookie Lou Clinton, but Pascual finally stopped them to save a decision for Jack Kralick over Al Worthington.

Hartnett Says Banks Has Chance To Smash Ruth's Home Run Record

HANLEY

ST. LOUIS—Until Ernie Banks came along, Gabby Hartnett always was known as the man whose life time homer production was the greatest compiled by any Cub in the 85-year history of the Chicago club.

In less than half of the 1,926 games it took the old Cub catcher to collect 231, the current Cub shortstop tied Hartnett's mark in his 928th game and every big belt now by Banks is setting new record.

How does Hartnett feel about losing the honor he held 20 years since hitting his last Cub homer in 1940? Before flying out of Chicago last night with the Giants for dear old St. Louis, we ran Gabby down in his plush Chicago bowling emporium and asked him.

"My congratulations to Ernie," he said. "It's time somebody took it over. Records are made to be broken. I only wish I'd hit another 100—but that would have held Ernie off for no more than another three years.

Does Banks have a chance to break Ruth's record of 60 homers in a single season?

"Sure he does," said Hartnett. "As I said, records are made to be broken. Tell you one thing, though, Ruth's homer record will fall long before Hack Wilson's all-time major league record of 190 RBI's in 1930. That was the year Hack came within four homers of tying Ruth's record. Hack knocked in more runs that year than I ever got base hits in a season."

What was the most thrilling and important homer Hartnett ever hit?

"ONE I'LL never forget," said Gabby. "It was in the next to last game of the '38 season. We were playing Pittsburgh in Wrigley Field and the score was 5-5 with two out in the ninth. The bases were empty and the count was 0-2 on me.

"We needed one more win to clinch the pennant and if they got me out of there, the umpires were going to call the game on account of darkness.

"I tied into the next pitch. I'll never forget that ball going over the wall. Even today, I still get phone calls asking me to settle arguments on what the count was. Everybody would like to have it 3-and-2, it seems, but it was 0-2."

AFTER THAT 14-inning thriller a week ago yesterday in Candlestick between the Cubs and Giants, Charlie Grimm and his men wasted no time in departing the new park because they already were a couple of hours late in their takeoff. So by the time we got to the Cub dressing room it was empty. However, we caught up with Jolly Cholly during the weekend Giant-Cub series in Wrigley Field and he now says:

"The Giants? They're going to be real tough. They have power and pitching. And how about that Sam Jones?"

Noble Noor Injured; Out Of Ky. Derby

SAN MATEO (AP)—Noble Noor was injured slightly in winning the California Derby at Bay Meadows and will not run in the Kentucky Derby May 7.

Dr. and Mrs. John R. Smith, owners of the stretch-running son of Noor, said today they were heartsick because they had been forced to declare him from the run for the roses at Louisville.

Noble Noor apparently rapped himself on the inside of his right foreleg in his Saturday victory over Henrijan. A slight swelling was observed on the leg this morning.

While the injury probably will sideline Noble Noor only about three weeks, it was serious enough to decide against shipping him to Kentucky. His trainer said Noble Noor would be vanned to Hollywood Park later today.

"He will be rested for a short period and if all goes well we can start breezing him in about three weeks."

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Elmore's Henrijan, overtaken in the last 20 yards of the mile and an eighth California Derby, will be flown to Louisville for the Derby.

Angel Valenzuela, Henrijan's rider in the California classic, will ride the son of All Blue at Louisville.

Liston Vs. Harris In Heavyweight 'Crucial' Tonight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavyweight contenders Sonny Liston and Roy Harris meet tonight at Houston, Tex., in the week's most attractive fight.

It's a 10-round bout in which Liston of Philadelphia hopes to boost his chances of getting a shot at the heavyweight crown. He is the second-ranking contender. Harris of Cut-and-Shoot, Tex., is rated sixth. It will not be televised to homes.

Harris tried to win the title from Floyd Patterson in August, 1958, and was knocked out in the 12th round. That was his only defeat in 27 starts. Liston, too, has 26 wins against one defeat.

The only TV fight this week will be staged at the Boston Garden Friday night when middleweights Ralph Tiger Jones of St. Albans, N.Y., and Joey Denucci meet in a 10-rounder. It will be televised and broadcast nationally by NBC.

A spectacular preempts fight time on TV Wednesday night.

'I'll Do Better', Says Oregon Star After 3:58.6 Mile Run

COMBINED AP & UPI

Don Burleson, University of Oregon sophomore who Saturday became the second American to run a sub-four minute mile, says he can run even faster.

Burleson nipped Stanford's Ernie Cunliffe by about 12 yards in 3:58.6. The 19-year-old's time was a tenth of a second under that of California's Don Bowden, who ran a 3:58.7 mile at Stockton, Calif., in 1957.

"I think—I know I can run faster," Burleson said afterwards at the meet in Eugene, Ore.

"It was relatively easy to kick by him (Cunliffe) going into the stretch and I had something left when the race was over."

Cunliffe set the pace and ran 4:00.4, his all-time best, placing him among America's top three milers.

"You have to give Ernie a lot of credit," Burleson said. "He did all the work. It's easy for someone to follow and let the other guy set the pace."

Burleson said he figured he had a sub four minutes mile going during the race.

"On the third lap I knew we would be under," he said.

Burleson was timed in 62.5 for the first lap, 59.9 on the second, 58.8 in the third and finished with 57.4.

Oregon won the dual meet from Stanford, 87-44.

Cunliffe said, "If I had a complaint, I think it would be that I ran the first lap too slowly. But Burleson is tough . . . just too tough."

In other top performances Saturday, John Thomas of Boston University cleared 7 feet, ½ inch in the high jump to break Charlie Dumas' NCAA record, and Bill Nieder got off a throw of 63 feet, 10¼ inches in the shutput.

Thomas made his jump in the Boston U.-Dartmouth dual meet at Hanover, N. H. It was his first outdoor competition in almost two years and showed he was ready to resume his assault on Yuri Stapanov's world record of 7-1.

Nieder's shotput at the Kansas Relays in Lawrence was anticlimactic to his fantastic 65-7 toss two weeks ago. However, it did beat Parry O'Brien's listed world mark of 63-4¼. That he can do better he made obvious when he was warming up. During the practice session he got off a 66-1¼ flip.

"I can beat O'Brien," he observed. He'll have his chance at the Drake Relays this weekend. Nieder and O'Brien have been accusing each other of ducking head-to-head competition.

O'Brien was beaten by Dave Davis in the San Antonio Relays at Walnut, Calif. Davis got off a toss of 68-8½. The best O'Brien could do was 61-7¼. Dallas Long, the other member of the Fearsome Foursome, was third with 61-2¾.

Glen Davis, the Olympic 400-meter hurdles winner in '56, won his specialty in 51.8 in the Ohio Relays in Columbus. That was under the Olympic standard of 52.2. Hayes Jones ran the 110-meter hurdles in 13.6, equalling the fastest clocking of the season for the event—his own.

Dave Sime, world record holder in both the 200 meters and 220-yard dash, won the 100-meter dash in 10.4 in the Norfolk, Va. Relays.

Score Tests Arm Tonight Against A's

DETROIT (AP)—Herb Score, a young man with a question mark arm, makes no alibis for his bad performances and wants no sympathy for his misfortunes.

He is not going to worry about a so-called comeback and he refuses to set any sort of a goal for himself.

But a lot of people will be waiting with more than casual interest at Kansas City tonight when the fireballing left-hander faces the Kansas City Athletics.

The Chicago White Sox are counting on the 26-year-old former Cleveland Indian flame thrower to pull them out of a pitching tailspin. The Sox have not had a route-going performance in five starts.

Score can start to settle a few individual doubts, too. He hasn't been a winner since early last July.

"You can't make excuses when you're lousy," Score said yesterday. "I don't have any alibis. My motion and my coordination were all fouled up and I never got straightened around. I couldn't get my curve ball over all last season."

Score, five seasons with the Indians, broke in with a 16-10 mark and 245 strikeouts in 1955. The following year he was 20-9 with 263 strikeouts.

Coast League In 3-Way Tie

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two kinds of blizzard hit the Pacific Coast League yesterday and one — the basehit type — blew Spokane out of sole possession of first place.

The other — and milder — dumped an inch of wet snow on Salt Lake City and forced postponement of a scheduled doubleheader between the two cellar dwellers, Vancouver and Salt Lake.

Sacramento's Solons chilled Spokane twice, clobbering the Indians 18-1 in seven innings after posting a 3-2 decision in the opening game. When Portland and San Diego broke even in a double duel, 8-4 for Portland and 5-1 for the Padres, the league leadership was shared by Sacramento, Portland and Spokane.

Seattle, which puts its trust in the home run, got one from Joe Taylor and whipped Tacoma 3-0. It was the 15th circuit smash in 12 games for the Rainiers.

Portland's Beavers employed four two-base hits for their victory over San Diego. The Padres scored three runs in the first inning of the nightcap and added two more in the fifth on Harry Simpson's homer.

Hank 8-5 Choice Over Calhoun In Cow Palace 'War'

Rory Calhoun attempts to overcome his Cow Palace jink tonight by meeting confident Henry Hank in a 10-round, nontelevised middleweight bout that some ring experts predict may not last the distance.

Likewise Hank, who dispatched Sixto Rodriguez of San Anselmo in seven rounds last Feb. 17, boasts he can stop a man with either hand. He is an 8-5 favorite.

Calhoun, of New York City, has visited the Palace four times unsuccessfully. He was flattened by Spider Webb, outpointed by Bobo Olson, and dropped a controversial decision to Webb in re-match last Feb. 26.

Winner of the fight faces a possible title bout. Matchmaker Bennie Ford has announced he will offer World Middleweight Champ Gene Fullmer a $125,000 guarantee to defend his title here against tonight's winner.

CALHOUN DANGEROUS

Some say Calhoun has appeared wobbly in several recent encounters. But Hank has developed the habit of dropping his hands to invite a lead. This could prove disastrous against Calhoun, who only has been stopped once.

Hank has won 30 of his 41 triumphs by knockout. Calhoun has 43 victories, 21 by kayo.

No radio broadcast is scheduled. First of the preliminary bouts begins at 8:30 p.m. with the main attraction set for approximately 9:45.

"I think he's over-rated and I'm happy for this oportunity to fight him," said Calhoun. "I don't think he's ever met a real hard puncher yet, and I expect to test him and see how well he can take it."

"I don't expect Calhoun to be much of a problem for me," opines the cocky Detroiter.

The prelims: Willie Richardson, San Jose vs. Joe Sullivan, San Francisco, heavyweights, six rounds; Hank Nieto, San Francisco, vs. Charley Robinson, San Francisco, featherweights, four rounds; Noe Valdez, Fresno vs. Leon Nelson, Stockton, featherweights, four rounds; Earl Cantrini, San Mateo vs. Floyd Ryan, San Francisco, middles, four rounds, and Leo Durant, San Francisco vs. Al Azevedo, Fresno welters, four rounds.

MARIN MAN WINS STATE LIFTING TITLE

Carrell Varner of San Rafael won the California AAU Weightlifting Championship for 165-pounders Saturday night and two of his teammates of the MarVel Athletic Club of Marin County placed third in their respective divisions. The competition was held in Los Angeles.

Varner, 21, turned in his greatest performance to take over the state throne from former world and Olympic champion Frank Spellman who did not compete. Varner made a 230-pound Press, a 220-pound Snatch and 300-pound Clean-and-Jerk for a total of 750, some 60 pounds more than his nearest rival.

Marin's other entries were Danny Preston, 17, third in the 148-pound class, and Joel Brower, 21, also third, in the 165 division. Preston totaled 620 pounds 30 over his best previous; Brower came in with a 675 total.

Several Marin youths are expected to compete in the National Teen-Age Championships in Richmond Auditorium May 7.

Bear Spikers Win Easily; Take On Oregon State Next

Bear runners and fieldmen swept first place in 12 of 15 events with the Huskies. About 500 persons turned out in the light drizzle, only to be disappointed when expected duels in the mile and 440 failed to materialize.

Harrison Is Loser In Ring Finals

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP)—Toby Gibson of Spokane twice floored Dean Harrison of Hamilton Air Force Base and won the 147-pound final of the Western regional Olympic boxing tourney Saturday.

Gibson was named outstanding boxer of the tourney which decided contenders for the San Francisco tournament May 18-19 to pick the United States Olympic boxing team.

Clarence James of San Francisco, 165 pounds, over Jerry Beebe, Idaho State.

Nikita Hurls New Threat On Berlin

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev declared today that the Western powers will lose even their rights to fly into Berlin if he signs a separate peace treaty with East Germany. And he warned the Soviet Union is prepared to meet "force with force."

Outlining the Soviet position of the summit meeting, Khrushchev repeated that "of course we shall go it alone" and sign an East German peace treaty if the Western powers "ignore the issue contrary to common sense."

But he said that "the Soviet government believes that common sense will prevail."

The Soviet leader spoke at Baku, Soviet oil center. His speech, at a jubilee celebration of the 40th anniversary of the Azerbaijan Communist Party, was reported by the Soviet news agency Tass.

Khrushchev told his audience that a peace treaty with East Germany—which the West refuses to recognize as a sovereign state—would put an end to the World War II surrender terms.

This is the position he has taken all along. But he went further to mention the airlanes, which the Western allies are believed to be planning to use—as in the 1948 airlift—if East Germany takes over the land routes.

"If the Western powers did not choose to sign a peace treaty, that would not entitle them to rights they want preserved. They would naturally then forfeit the right of access to West Berlin by land, water and air," he said.

Berlin, 100 miles from West Germany, is surrounded by the Communist East. The United States, Britain and France have stationed troops there as an outpost of the West since World War II.

Western leaders have insisted they will not negotiate with Khrushchev under the threat of any Berlin ultimatum.

Khrushchev told the Baku meeting that disarmament is the first problem for the summit. The deadlock on disarmament, he said, is "the greatest roadblock in the way to a strengthened peace on this planet."

President Charles de Gaulle of France has said disarmament should be the leading topic at the summit meet. This appears to be the view among Western leaders.

"The second issue, which affects the interests of many nations, is conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany, including the normalization of West Berlin," Khrushchev said.

"Conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany would at the same time mean liquidation of the occupational regime in West Berlin and, consequently, the withdrawal of the occupation troops from there."

It was Khrushchev's first major speech since he returned April 3 from his trip to France.

Tunisia Gives War Warning To France

TUNIS (AP)—Accusing France of new ground and air raids on her soil, Tunisia has served notice any more border attacks will be considered acts of war.

President Habib Bourguiba cut short a tour of the northwest provinces and hastened back to the capital to deal with the crisis.

Bourguiba's government said that the French had launched two attacks in the past week. On April 20, it said, French planes bombed and strafed Ouled Boulaba, and two days later Algerian troops in the service of France thrust into Tunisia near Thala.

The communique said many civilians had been killed in the raids. It also accused French commandos from Algeria of entering Tunisia and placing booby traps to "create insecurity" along the tense frontier.

The French Foreign Ministry in Paris had no comment.

Habib Bourguiba Jr., the Tunisian ambassador to France, was called home for con sultations.

Observers here feared the situation was reaching the boiling point along the frontier, where about 10,000 Algerian guerrillas harrass French outposts from Tunisian soil. France has accused Tunisia of siding against her in the five-year-old Algerian war.

"Any new attack against our territory or any violation of our air space will be considered an act of war and our policy in regard to France will be revised in consequence." Bourguiba declared in a speech at Teboursouk.

If France uses the presence of Algerian rebels in Tunisia as a pretext to make war on Tunisia, he said, "we are ready."

If France keeps up her "aggressions," Bourguiba warned, he would no longer be able to assure the security of French citizens living in Tunisia.

FOOD PRICE HIKE SPURS LIVING COSTS TO PEAK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's living costs hit a new record in March.

The first rise in food prices in six months edged the Labor Department's consumer's price index to a new peak of 125.7 per cent of the 1947-49 living cost average.

The average price increase over the February level was only one-tenth of 1 per cent. The March average was 1.6 per cent above the same month last year.

Arnold Chase, Labor Department price chief, forecast that food prices will continue a gradual rise up to July or August. He said the chances are this will carry living costs to still higher levels until late summer.

Brown Trims Pay Raises, Signs Budget

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown today cut $4,910,000 — part of a pay raise for state workers — from the state budget to get it "fully balanced."

Then he signed the record-high spending plan of $2,476,180,000 into law.

The budget will pay the costs of operating the state government and its services to local governments and California citizens in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The state workers' pay raise was the only item that Brown blue-penciled. He cut the proposed raise from 6 to 5 per cent, the amount he originally proposed to the legislature.

The governor did not change the proposed 10 per cent pay hike for lower salaried state workers, including stenographers and janitors, nor did he adjust the proposed 7½ salary increase for state college and University of California workers.

WEATHER ON RAMPAGE

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weekend rainfalls of up to eight inches swelled northern Wisconsin rivers over their banks yesterday. Rampaging waters tore away power and cimmunication lines, washed out roads and railroad tracks and chased an estimated 400 persons from their homes.

About 240 residents of the Lake Superior shore community of Odanah, a Chippewa Indian village of 800 on the Bad River Reservation, were forced from their homes by the flooded Bad River. Another 40 were isolated. Wisconsin Gov. Gaylord Nelson declared the affected district a disaster area and ordered out the National Guard to help local officials.

At Hurley, Wis., 25 miles to the east, the flooding Montreal River threatened to wash away one of the two bridges linking Hurley to Ironwood, Mich.

Fierce winds struck the north Texas town of Terrell, about 30 miles east of Dallas, causing extensive property damage. The winds unroofed and damaged buildings at the municipal airport and in the business district and three house trailers were demolished. No injuries were reported.

Fifty miles to the west, near Fort Worth, five inches of rain pushed creeks over their banks, flooding two homes in the suburb of Richland.

While much of the East sweltered under summer-like heat-Baltimore's 93 set a record for that date—snow fell for the third straight day in the northern Rockies and Plateau areas.

Marin Fair To Have Theme Of 'Caribbean'

Theme of the 1960 Marin Art and Garden Fair, to be held at the Art and Garden Center in Ross June 30 through July 4, will be "Caribbean Holiday," it was announced by the fair committee today.

The committee, which includes Art and Garden Center directors James S. Goodale and Richard F. Tyler of San Rafael and Herman E. Hein of Mill Valley, named Marcelle B. McCoy of San Anselmo as manager of the show.

William L. Kapranos, San Anselmo, will be designer of the 15th edition of the fair. Charlotte B. Riznik will be public relations director.

Michael Mitchell of Larkspur, assistant Marin County auditor, will serve as county fair representative.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors leases the center grounds and facilities for use as a temporary "fairgrounds" pending completion of the county fairgrounds at the new civic center in Santa Venetia.

Preliminary plans and sketches for the show have already been approved and work has started by nurserymen and other exhibitors on model gardens and displays.

A new garden area will be developed on acreage owned by the Art and Garden Center. Located at the corner of Sir Francis Drake and Laurel Grove, the land has never been used before. Its use will be the first step in the beautification of the shady section.

Big Changes In State's Schools Seen

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Technology will bring about more changes in California schools in the next few years than anything in the past 30 years has done, the state's education chief predicts.

Roy E. Simpson, state superintendent of public instruction, said yesterday that "the impact of television, teaching machines and other technical devices is just beginning.

"They will change the schools greatly, as they must if we are to meet the demands of a new age and lengthy competition with communism."

Simpson noted in a Public Schools Week statement that California public schools today have more than three million students and, within 10 years, another two million will be added.

Urging Californians to visit their schools this week, Simpson listed improvements already in effect in many areas—changes which "will mean better educated public school graduates."

Novato Girl, 7, Injured By Car

Nancy Hinrichs of 925 George street ventured into her home street without going to a crosswalk and was hit by a car driven by Benjamin D. Edger, 52, of 1249 Denlyn street, Novato, at 2:30 p.m. She was taken by ambulance to San Rafael General Hospital for treatment. No citation was issued.

James A. Garfield, 20th President, was shot by an frustrated government employe in a Washington, D.C., railroad station in 1881. He died from his wounds in Elberon, N. J.

Novato Planners Schedule First Meeting For Tonight

Novato's seven-member planning commission will hold its first business meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the city hall.

According to Chairman Harley McAskill, five matters will be under consideration:

1. Kaehler Construction Co.'s request for a permit to install a permanent sign at the entrance to Forest Park subdivision.

2. Robert Strockbine's request for approval of plans to establish a nursery and office at Ahterton avenue and Highway 101.

3. An application by Louis Nave to build a second story addition to Cloud Five restaurant.

4. Request of Dr. Lawrence Witter, Novato dentist, for permission to add a medical-dental building to the plans of the Northland Shopping Center proposed for the corner of Rowland and South Novato boulevards.

5. Setting of time and date for a public hearing on a petition to re-zone approximately 10 acres on the east side of Railroad avenue between Cherry and Peach streets to general commercial.

B. D. Dobbs, principal planner with the Marin County planning staff, will continue to serve with the city planning commission until June 30.

Rod-Gun Members To Host Seniors

Marin seniors will be the guests of members of the Marin Rod and Gun Club at a "Marin Senior Day" at the Rod and Gun Club's Pt. San Quentin clubhouse on June 2.

Manny Charnow, organizer of the event, explained today that the members, rather than the Rod and Gun Club itself, will be host to the seniors for the day of fishing, fun and barbecue.

The San Rafael Rotary Club is participating also in arranging the outing, to which all seniors are invited, Charnow said. Tickets for seniors will be available at Isabel Cook School in San Anselmo on May 14.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb. (AP) — When dedication ceremonies of a new flood control dam had to be shifted to town where it could be held indoors because of rain, the Plattsmouth Journal topped the story with this headline:

'Arrivederci Roma' To Be Theme Of Candlelight Ball On May 7

"Many hands make light work" is the slogan of Mrs. John J. Fracchia, decorations chairman of the Candlelight Ball this year. Evidence of this motto is shown by the great number of volunteers who are working on various phases of the decor. The Social Service Auxiliary's formal ball is being planned for May 7 at the Meadow Club.

Decorations will be carried out in an exotic Roman theme, and the song of the evening will be "Arrivederci Roma." Guests will dance to the music of a name orchestra. Mrs. Robert Mellin is in charge of music and entertainment.

Tall toga-clad Roman youths will be stationed at the entrance to escort the guests into a beautiful Roman garden with its fountains, floating flowers, and statues. The foyer will look elegant with its live fountain with many floating flowers imported from Italy. There will also be antique bronze statues which have been donated for the occasion. Combining forces to decorate the foyer are Mesdames William Gaffney, Thomas Foley and Joseph Storrs. In the cocktail lounge guests will witness something old yet new in flower arrangements. Mrs. Fracchia and Mrs. Edward Barry are combining shimmering plumage with laurel leaves.

Mrs. Eugene Lombardi and Mrs. William Weissich have planned table decorations which are miniature Roman columns adorned with green leaves and gold painting. These will be enhanced by many floating candles. Highlight of the main dining room will be a mural of a Roman scene by Carl Lloyd.

The small dining room will follow the same pattern, but an addition will be the artistic windows reminding us of the original Romanesque windows done in the early centuries. Working on construction of these windows are Mrs. Robert Rich and Mrs. Edward Kaenel. Outstanding in the small lounge will be a Roman shield in gold and white. There will be a Pontius Pilate cape, a copy of one worn by Frank Thring in the movie, "Ben Hur." In charge are Mesdames Wesley Phelps and Frank Morris.

The main ballroom will be spectacular with its large Roman columns in white bedecked with gold leaf and green laurel leaves. Background for the orchestra will be another mural painted by Carl Lloyd. Mrs. Bernard Arnold is being assisted here by Mrs. John Grey and Mrs. Alfred Quilici.

Others working on the decorating committee are Mesdames Paul Lundberg, William Murray, Robert Neilan, Glen S. Roberts, Marjorie du Bain, Alan H. Nathe, Alvin Marsoni, George Ballantyne, John Curtin, William Upton, John Looney, Patrick Flynn, William Flynn, Roger Yore, Gus Neiderholzer Jr., Norvina Hilton, Albert Locati, Harry Pearce, David Callahan, William Seeger, William Costello, John de Maria, Cletus Fitzharris John Egan, Charles O. Jones, George Shister, Roger Garety and Eugene Cullen.

Assisting Mrs. Fred Acciari with the addressing were Mesdames Paul Pickart, John Kyle, David Angulin, Arthur V. Fay, William Zavosky and Gerald de Mattei.

General chairman of the ball is Mrs. Fred T. Adams. Proceeds will be given to the Social Service Agency to further their work in helping the needy of Marin County.

Dessert, Fashion Lecture Planned At Branson May 25

Plans are being consolidated for the May 25 dessert and fashion lecture to be held at the Katharine Branson School in Ross. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Klaus Schmidt, 79 Oak Ridge road, San Rafael.

The annual fund raising event is being planned by the alumnae under the chairmanship of Mrs. Allan Sproul, Jr. of San Anselmo.

Proceeds will go into the alumni scholarship endowment fund. Each year the alumnae give two half scholarships to day students. The fashion lecture will be presented by Mrs. Luis de Herrera. Clothes to be modeled have been purchased by Mrs. de Herrera on her extensive world travels.

The United States will be represented by clothes chosen by Mrs. John Gilman from her Kentfield shop. Mrs. Gilman is also the mother of a senior year student at the school.

Helping with hostess duties for the international fashion show will be Ayse Nilifer Doruk, this year's American Field Service Exchange student. Ayse is from Istanbul, Turkey.

MARIN 'Y' JOINS CELEBRATION FOR NATIONAL YWCA WEEK

The Young Women's Christian Association in Marin County has announced that it has joined with YWCA's in 1600 communities across the United States April 24-30 to celebrate National YWCA Week.

Theme of the nation-wide event is "Look Ahead with the YWCA . . . Join." Highlighting the week in Marin, as in other parts of the country, will be YWCA World Membership Day, Wednesday. Mrs. Frank Rice, chairman of the Marin Committees, will serve as hostess for an open house coffee hour to be held at the Marin County YWCA office, 1010 B Street, San Rafael.

Another coffee hour of hospitality, fellowship, and sharing information about YWCA programs will be at Mrs. Leo Gosliner's home at 859 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo. Both coffee hours are planned for 10 a.m.

"In looking ahead with the YWCA", says Kaye Hunt, director of the YWCA in Marin County, "girls and women have opportunity to use Y services for developing all aspects of personal character, acquire skills, and make friends."

Miss Hunt said that the YWCA serves women and girls in 72 different countries and that YWCA World Membership Day will be celebrated around the globe.

Open House Set At Santa Venetia Jr. High School

Miss Merritt modeled hats for all ages from the baby bonnet to a grandma's cap and of all periods and styles from the sun bonnet of old to the latest in Easter fashions of 1960.

Mrs. Howard Swartz, with Mrs. Walter Panholzer at the piano, sang "Put On Your Old Gray Bonnett" and "The Easter Parade."

This meeting marked the fourth anniversary of the club. Mrs. Iva Stephens, one of the charter members of the club, told of its founding.

The Rev. Howard Swartz gave an Easter meditation. The next meeting will be held on Friday, May 13. Everyone is invited to the pot luck dinner at 7 p.m. and the program at 8 o'clock.

By way of a "Slow Boat to China" bound for Hong Kong, members and guests of the Jolly Rogers Chapter of the Children's Society will be invited aboard ship for the annual Spring Cruise Ball to be held May 21 at Rickey's Rancho Rafael.

Invitations designed by Mrs. Walter Derr Jr., will be in the mail soon and arrive to the tune of "Hong Kong Blues" and wishing you all "great good luck." Mrs. Derr's crew is Mesdames James Kean, Jeremy Jones and William Wilson Jr.

Mrs. Ralph Nattress, captain of this year's "cruise" reports that passengers and crew members aboard the good ship Jolly Rogers will find that ship board activities will include a poolside fashion show of oriental splendor by a custom designer, a Crown Colony banquet dinner enhanced by mellow background organ music, midnight swimming and dancing to the exotic tempo of the name orchestra that was so popular on last year's "cruise."

Decorations designed by Mrs. Stanley Crandall Jr. will be of an authentic oriental motif. A handsome moongate entrance will be the first of such decorations to greet the passengers and this year's "cruise." Once aboard ship they will find the Miranoma Room transformed into a festive outdoor setting by such creations as a sampan silhouette, dragon heads and bon-sai trees.

Helping Mrs. Crandall to set the Oriental scene will be Mesdames William Hislop, Donald Dalpino, James E. Cermak, William Beedle, Lloyd Kirchner, Eric Koolgard, Homer Marston, George Tuttle, Harvey Vicchio and Jerry Young.

Mrs. Joseph Huffaker, chairman of the fashion show, announced that the show this year will be by Norma of Dalen, fashion stylist, to complete the theme of the evening. Norma of Dalen originals which she creates in her San Francisco studio are famous for their oriental design fashioned from exotic fabrics imported to her from the Orient. The evening's show will include "ancients" as well as spectacular gowns so easily adapted for today's urban or suburban living. Hair styles to compliment these elegant fashions will be by a leading local salon.

Modeling will be Mesdames Dan J. Aughney, George Barnwell, Walter Derr Jr., James Kean, Donald Leaf, Ralph Nattress, George Neuwald, James Zierolf and William B. Donohoe.

To set the scene will be an Oriental bridal carriage donated for the evening's "cruise" by Fred Fong, husband of Norma of Dalen. To put the excitement of these original designs into words will be Philip of Dalen and Rickey's fashion coordinator, Marion Bellamy and promises to be one of the high spots of the evening's festivities.

Mrs. George Neuwald announced that there will be special awards on the "cruise." Assisting with the special awards will be Mesdames Noel McCarthy, Raymond King, Clyde Jones, W. J. Decker. Also helping to display the exciting awards will be Messrs Walter Derr Jr., Dan J. Aughney, Richard Colombo, Ralph Nattress, Donald Leaf and George Neuwald.

Reservations will be limited, reports Mrs. Robert Clever, and the passenger list is expected to be completed early. A number of cocktail parties are being planned by the members before the semi-formal dinner dance aboard the U.S.S. Jolly Rogers.

Proceeds of the annual event are used to further the adoption services of Children's Home Society. A fully accredited member of the Child Welfare League of America, the society serves children of all races and faiths. It is a member of the United Crusade.

On this day in history:

In 1599 Oliver Cromwell was born.

In 1846, the first shots in the Mexican War were exchanged between Captain Seth Thornton and a company of cavalrymen who engaged the enemy at La Rosia, Mexico.

Price Stabilization Report Deserves Voters' Attention

Last week President Eisenhower made public the details of the second interim report of his Cabinet Committee on Price Stabilization. The President noted that although there has been "substantial progress" in checking inflation, there is "no cause for complacency."

And "in adjusting public policies to promote economic expansion and to meet changing economic conditions," the President warned, "we must preserve and strengthen the institutions of our free, competitive economy."

Because inflation hits every one of us, particularly those on pensions and fixed incomes, we think the six highlights of the committee's report need repetition and serious consideration. Here they are:

1—Inflation has been and will continue to be a serious national problem.

2—We have the tools to curb inflation.

3—Most of the inflation that really hurts old persons and others on fixed incomes took place between the start of World War II and the Korean War. Only 10 per cent of the general price increase since 1939 has occurred since the Korean War.

4—It is not true that inflation stimulates economic growth. On the contrary, it creates waste, inefficiency and hardship, hurts our foreign markets and lessens the ability of American business to compete at home against imported goods.

5—While sound monetary and fiscal policies are the first line of defense, we can not be complacent about cost increases springing from inefficiency and unsound practices of management, labor or government.

6—Price stability, while needed, will not by itself assure economic growth. Growth requires research, imagination, initiative, thrift, constant efforts to increase efficiency, an improved investment climate and vigilence in rooting out rigidities, whether governmental or private, that impede change in our economic system.

These six highlights of the committee's report merit careful consideration of every voter and their application when the voter marks a ballot for either candidates or issues.

If Your Dooorbell Rings Tonight

Tonight more than 2,000 volunteers will ring doorbells from one end of Marin County to the other in the annual Crusade of the American Cancer Society.

It is a one-day concentrated appearance for support of the society and its Marin County Branch. The volunteers are attempting to collect $30,000, which is $3,500 more than was raised last year.

And they will be telling a story too. This wonderful story is the fact that cancer is being cured, that more than a million Americans, many of them living in Marin today, have been cured.

But their story is still not entirely happy. One out of every three victims are saved today. But that means that two out of every three die of the disease. In 1958, official total of Marinites who died of the disease was 184. Last year was no better.

But progress is being made. Only a half a dozen years ago only one person in five was being saved, then one in four, now one in three. The American Cancer Society's continuing program of research, education and service have had a large part in bringing about this improvement.

SMALL EARNER, BIG GIFT

An 81-year-old railroad worker, who never earned more than $100 a week, gave over a quarter of a million dollars to the University of New Hampshire from which he graduated 60 years ago.

The generous benefactor, a bachelor, lives in a small room overlooking the railroad tracks in Stamford, Conn., cooks his own meals and dresses inexpensively.

He made the gift to help young men "who can't afford to go to college and give them a chance." The money was given in memory of his father, whose hard work and sacrifices made it possible for him to go to college.

The university said that this donation was the largest ever made by an alumnus and would be used for scholarships and loans to students.

Contributing to the well-being of others usually involves sacrifice of time, interest and money. God provides a special reward for those who deprive themselves to help others.

"While we have time, let us do good to all men."

(Galatians 6:10)

Inspire me, O Jesus, to show the same solicitude for the needs of others that I would expect myself.

HAL BOYLE'S COLUMN

Half Of Our Brides Are Teenagers; Wives Outlive Husbands 8 Years

The best way for wives to cut down their years of widowhood is to start taking better care of their husbands now. The average wife at present outlives her husband eight years.

THE CHANCES of a woman over 65 finding a new husband in that age bracket are getting slimmer all the time. For every 100 men in the post-65 group today there are 120 women. By the year 2000 the figures will be 145 women to 100 men

MAYBE THAT'S why half of all U.S. brides now marry in their teens. The odds of finding a man never will be more in their favor

The cost of carelessness! Forest fires destroy our heritage. Enough lumber is lost each year in woodland blazes to build a five-room home every 100 feet on both sides of a road from New York to Chicago.

The cost of cleanliness: A U.S. baby now uses $18 worth of soap from its birth to its first birthday.

HOGS CANNOT SWEAT. That's why in hot weather they like to dunk themselves in anything wet. The evaporation cools them So credit mother nature with inventing air-conditioned ham.

STILL AHEAD: America produces about 30 per cent of the world's mineral products; the Soviet Union about 16 per cent.

Are you a procrastinator? Britain's great sailor, Lord Nelson, once said "I owe all my success in life to having been a quarter of an hour beforehand." This probably explains why so few women in history have become famous admirals.

An apology to our readers: Recently we stated there was no Eskimo word for snow. We are now informed there are at least three Eskimo words for snow. However, so far as we can find, the Eskimos don't have a word for antidisestablishmentarianism What is more, they don't want one.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

We have walnut trees in front of our house and they overhang the sidewalk. Word came to us indirectly that a woman had complained about our trees, so we measured the clearance which was seven and a half feet. Was a giant woman living near us? Did she have to duck when passing under the trees?

No, no, we find that the complainant is just five feet tall. Then the question arose in our minds: did she wear a two-foot high hat or did she sport an enormous feather? Is she a stilt or pogo-stick enthusiast?

Be that as it may, we sawed off an overhanging limb in the wrong season and the stump has been oozing sap ever since. We painted it with tree seal, but the water came through despite our efforts.

We were then advised to hang a one-pound coffee can on the limb to protect ladies' hats from drips. The can soon gets full and drips over.

Now children stop and hold out their palms for a drip to taste; old ladies hesitate under the leakage wondering if a drop or so will bring back their youth; men gaze skyward and scratch their sconces in wonderment; occasional cars stop and faces peer out and upwards, but still the drip continues.

MAYBE TV CAN HELP

More Blossom Watchers Than Blossoms In Capital

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — On a clear day sightseers here can see a lot of sights. But what they see the most of are other sightseers.

I do believe we are breaking all records this year in early season tourist travel. I don't intend to benumb you with statistics, but more than 100,000 persons congregated around the tidal basin last weekend when the cherry trees were in full bloom.

One of the local newspapers estimated the tidal basin had more blossom watchers than blossoms. At any rate, it was a lot of nature loving for such a short period. The trees were not so much admired as overwhelmed.

THE BLOSSOMS are gone now but the city is still swarming with visitors. From a distance, Capitol Hill looks like an ant hill that has been seeded with sugar lumps.

I have just completed a round trip stroll from the Capitol to the Health, Education and Welfare Department, during which I made an informal census.

Along the circular drive around the statue of General Grant at the foot of capitol hill, I counted 58 chartered buses and five ice cream carts

I COULDN'T begin to count the number of visiting automobiles but I do know one thing — we now have all the ingredients for congealed traffic.

The traffic situation is one of the reasons why I walked to the Health, Education and Welfare Department. The other reason was to see a demonstration of a new closed circuit color television projector called the Ediophore.

According to a press release, the demonstration was planned to test the feasibility of using live TV to "replace time-consuming visits and tours for orientation and information purposes."

Here, I said to myself, might be just the thing Washington needs for the tourist season. I figured if sightseers gathered in one place and saw the sights on television it would save them a lot of walking. Better yet, they wouldn't need to drive from one place to another.

WHILE WATCHING the demonstration, I began to have a few second thoughts. But I still think it might work. If you will send me $28,000, we can buy one of the machines and organize a company called Immobile Tours, Inc. By charging a small admission, we ought to get rich by the Fourth of July.

However, we will have to arrange a more appetizing tour than the one I took by television through research laboratories of the National Institutes of Health.

Old Codfish Sailing Ship Protects A Confirmed Fisherman, Boat

The old codfish sailing ship, Beulah, sits flat in the mud in the Arques shipyard in Sausalito, her bowsprit haughty, but her sides open to the sea.

Bobbing gently in the water beside her is the 37-foot salmon troller, Elsie Ann, waiting for good weather to go out through the Golden Gate. On board the troller lives a fisherman, Wiley Miller. Miller is 48 and has fished since he was 15. His home port is Sausalito.

MILLER LIVES all alone. But "I am not lonely," he says, "at least no more than other men." He has the space for one more person in his small wheelhouse and cabin, but he has no fishing partner. He says he is not married because a wife and fishing don't go together.

He cooks his meals over a red iron stove on diesel oil and he pulls down a bunk from the wall when he wants to sleep.

Miller used to fish for albacore, but his boat was too small so he switched to salmon. He used to do gill net fishing on the Yaquina River in Oregon until he decided to go in for "outside fishing" — ocean fishing.

"THERE IS an independence about being a fisherman," Miller added. "You can go out or stay in for a day, a week or a month." Miller calls himself a one-day fisherman now and has been working out of Pt. Reyes.

When it's good weather, the fisherman says, everything's fine. There's no traffic out there, plenty of room. When it's bad and you're running toward the beach, Miller said, you've got worries.

He spoke fondly of the Beulah, recalling it was once used for cod fishing in Alaska, but now it is used as a breakwater. "Without that we could not stay here," he says. "We'd be blown right out in a northerly wind."

It takes Miller and the Elsie Ann about five hours to make the run to Pt. Reyes at six knots per hour. There he goes out daily trolling four lines sometimes as far as the Farallones.

IT'S GOOD to get back to Sausalito, especially after being up north about eight or 10 days and never seeing the sun. "Then," Miller says "coming back in around the bridge you usually run right into open sunshine."

The tanned fisherman said he actually hasn't been out to sea since August. He's been doing some carpentering and painting for Arques. But, "I may go out next week." There have been times when he decided to leave the business, "but I always go back. Spring comes and you get the fever."

THE MILL VALLEY police have been getting complaints from time to time that kids are playing in the cockeyed house at 151 Ethel Avenue which fell off its stilts in the storm of Feb. 9.

The city has condemned the property and asked the owner to either tear the place down or make it liveable.

GONE ARE the days at Scott of Belvedere on the Boardwalk of plastic ears to keep ears from getting red, nets to keep heavy wind from blowing hair askew and cotton to keep netlines off milady's face.

The beauty shop has 12 new chairs with apparatus which sends air dispelled by jet dryer to "lift the moisture" and, what's more, a button to push which makes the chair jiggle and wiggle and relieve tensions.

There Is Religious Issue And Each Voter Must Weigh It For Himself

WASHINGTON — "Newsweek" raises the question: "Could the religious vote swing the election?" "The Wall Street Journal" concludes that "the Catholic issue" is not dormant.

But what is this religious issue which isn't dormant and which could determine the presidency this year? Many people talk about it but few say what they mean.

JOHN FISCHER, editor of "Harper's" magazine, makes an honest beginning toward defining the issue in his friendly and illuminating article on Kennedy. He writes:

"Like many other Protestants, I have given a good deal of anxious thought to the religious issue. It is a real issue, which cannot and should not be avoided, because of the special nature of the Catholic church. Unlike the Protestant and Jewish faiths, Catholicism is a hierarchical and authoritarian religion, which claims the right to require special obligations and discipline of its adherents. Moreover, the Catholic position on some public questions — notably birth control, education, and censorship — has been disquieting to many non-Catholics, who feel that the Church has at times tried to impose its views on them as well as its own members."

CATHOLICS and Protestants have many things in common in the United States but there is one deep difference between them which seems to me to go to the heart of the religious issue. Dr. Edwin T. Buehrer, minister of the Third Unitarian Church in Chicago, put it this way recently:

"For almost 200 years now, as a democratic country, we have had as an irreversible political principle THE SEPARATION OF CHURCH AND STATE; and in our midst is a great and powerful church, with almost 2,000 years of history and tradition, which has never for a moment swerved from the directly opposite principle, namely, THE UNION OF CHURCH AND STATE."

It is only fair to note that in some countries where Catholics are numerically strong, as in Chile and Brazil, the Church has not sought preferred status. And in the United States, where they are a minority, Catholics have largely acquiesced in separation of church and state.

However, in other countries where Catholics are a substantial majority, as in Italy and Spain, they have sometimes acquired a preferred status with greater freedom for their church and less freedom for other religions.

THIS BASIC difference impinges upon various aspects of public life in the United States.

It is the Catholic view—but not American public policy — that the state should subsidize all education, including the parochial schools. In Italy the state maintains only Catholic schools.

There is Canon Law 1374 which admonishes Catholic parents not to send their children to public school without special permission from the bishop. In this connection there are many provisions and proposals calling on the states and federal government to provide assistance in varying degrees for religious schools. (Examples: Aid to religious hospitals, school buses, school lunches, scholarships, books, etc.)

Catholic doctrine on censorship and birth control applies only to its adherents, but many non-Catholics are apprehensive that the Church would use its influence to further restrictive legislation.

The weight to give to this factor is something each voter will rightly ponder and decide for himself.

Camping Vacation Can Be Great Fun—And It Doesn't Cost Much

Are you planning your summer vacation now? We are in my family.

Will you go to a resort hotel and have a long, expensive rest? We won't. We can't afford it. We take low-cost, camping vacations. We've covered a lot of country that way.

We think camping is great.

Have you tried camping with your family? You can borrow most of the stuff you need, or rent it. You can even get paper tents this year. Use them a few times, then throw them away. No storage problem.

You can get catalogues which list places to camp. The catalogues are advertised in sports magazines.

You can obtain information about national parks by writing directly to them. Many states now have state parks, with good camping grounds. Write to the state capitols about them.

We've learned to camp outside the most popular national parks. They have campgrounds, but they're madhouses. Tents are only inches apart. You stand in line to use the toilets. The dust is terrible. Your children get lost in the mob. So we camp outside, and drive in for our sightseeing.

When we want a real rest, we go far off the beaten track, where we'll be alone. That's still possible, in many parts of our country.

The cost of a camping vacation? Not much more than living at home. Add your gasoline for the trip, and a little for the equipment.

The work? Not too much, if everyone helps.

Tumor Board Wins Praise

Tribute was paid to Marin County's "medical brain trust"—cancer specialists meeting monthly as a Tumor Board—by Dr. John D. Manwaring today as the American Cancer Society opened its annual crusade for funds.

Dr. Manwaring, who is both secretary of the board and a director of the Marin branch of the national society, termed the board's work "the greatest service now being performed for Marin County's cancer patients" and said part of the funds raised will meet board expenses.

The board is a group meeting monthly to review unusual and troublesome cancer cases, bringing to bear a pool of medical knowledge in specific fields.

"This provides patients suffering from cancer the best possible consultation service free of charge," said Dr. Manwaring.

Its effectiveness is aided by an elaborate filing system on all cancer cases reported in the county, Dr. Manwaring said. Overseeing this work is Velia LePlant, whose services are paid for by the Cancer Society.

Any doctor in Marin may go before the board with a case difficult to diagnose or one with unusual manifestations or a case history of a recovered patient, according to Dr. Manwaring.

Such service, he said, is of inestimable benefit in aiding other doctors to deal with perhaps similar cases.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

LAW IN ACTION

Justice Makes Distinction Between Crimes, Torts

(This column, prepared by California attorneys so you may know about our laws, appears regularly in the Independent-Journal.

Long ago if your cousin got killed, you and your kinfolk took up arms—like the feudists in Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn"—with blood in your eyes to get even, whether the killer meant to harm your cousin or not.

Later frontier justice gave way to courts and juries. They distinguished crimes—public offenses — from torts—invasions of private rights.

Suppose a man runs you down as you cross a street on a green light. He breached your private right (a tort) to be free from physical harm.

But the policeman there might also haul him for reckless driving, a crime.

Such a driver may have to face both civil and criminal trials, paying you for his tort, while going to jail for his offense against society.

Recently, an unlicensed beauty operator put a strong chemical on her customer's face to get rid of wrinkles. The customer died. The trial court found the operator guilty of "criminal" negligence.

But our Supreme Court reversed this verdict. It held that to be criminal negligence a more reckless act is called for than mere "civil" negligence, a tort.

For such a deed also to be a crime "the negligence must be aggravated, culpable, gross, or reckless . . . a departure from the conduct of an ordinary prudent and careful man . . . as to be incompatible with a proper regard for human life . . .

"The facts must be such that the fatal consequences of the negligent act could reasonably have been foreseen. It must appear that the death was not the result of misadventure, but the natural and probable result ofa reckless or culpably negligent act."

Since the punishment for a crime is more severe than a loss of money to a private person, the court also called for a higher standard of proof, proof "beyond a reasonable doubt," rather than merely "the weight of evidence"—the standard of evidence in "tort" cases.

Excursion Boat Damaged By Explosion

An explosion in an excursion boat belonging to Russell George Lewis at 12:40 p m. yesterday left him stranded just after he had unloaded 10 passengers at Hospital Cove on Angel Island.

There was little damage to the boat but Lewis got his eyebrows singed a bit. His craft was towed back to Sausalito by a Coast Guard patrol boat. Lewis put out the small fire with a hand extinguisher.

The explosion blew a hatch cover off the engine compartment of the boat, Miss Sausalito in which Lewis had taken 10 friends to the island. This is not the boat which is used for the regular weekend excursions between Sausalito and Angel Island, the Blue Spirit.

A Coast Guard official conjectured that the explosion might have been caused from bilge fumes, although Lewis said he had run the bilge ventilation system for 15 minutes prior to the blast.

Education Board Will Consider Four Appointments

Four appointments will be recommended for approval by the San Rafael Board of Education tomorrow night and five resignations will be laid before it for acceptance.

The board will be advised that its insurance carrier has recommended that the board require the Little Leagues to carry liability insurance in connection with their use of public school facilities, naming in the policy the school district as additional insured.

A claim for injury submitted by Anthony Mehohich on behalf of his daughter, Toni, in connection with an incident on the San Pedro School grounds, will be considered by the board.

Air Force Taking Bids For Officers

College seniors needn't wait for graduation to apply for participation of both men and women students in a three months officer training program leading to Air Force commissions, according to Sgt. Chester R. Thoren, recruiter in San Rafael.

Thoren said that applications may be submitted up to 135 days before graduation but acceptance will not be final until after graduation. Applicants must be between 20½ and 27½ years old, American citizens of high moral character and of prescribed mental and physical standards.

Women must be single but male applicants may be married and have dependents. Further information on the program may be obtained at the office at 519 Fourth street.

Parade Broadcaster

Sue Fitzharris of San Rafael, 19-year-old junior, yesterday was on the reviewing stand as radio commentator for the University of California Picnic Day parade at Davis, led by Gov. Edmund G. Brown and watched by more than 20,000 spectators.

Wilson Support Leader Named

Choice of Lewis H. DeCastle, Santa Rosa attorney, as chairman of a committee to support Joseph Wilson of San Rafael for the Seventh District Assembly seat on the Democratic ticket was announced today.

DeCastle is a member of the Sonoma County Democratic Central Committee. His group will be known as a "Wilson for Assembly Committee."

MULTIPLE LISTING

- IT GETS FASTER RESULTS!
- IT COSTS NO MORE!

Thousands of homes have been sold by Marin REALTORS through the efficiency of the Marin County Multiple Listing Service.

This modern cooperative system has conclusively proved to property owners its value as a sales asset.

Unlike the "old days" you do not have to shop around from office to office to list your house. Today you sign one agreement with one MARIN REALTOR, and your listing — with photograph and giving complete details — is broadcast from the Real Estate Board office to its entire membership. Automatically the property you wish to sell is called to the attention of a Sales Force of more than 400 realty experts. Any Marin REALTOR will multiple list your home. Whether he or a fellow REALTOR sells it, only one commission is paid.

Phone Your Nearest Marin REALTOR, ask him to put your home on Multiple Listing.

Recital Set Tomorrow At Dominican

Doris Goertzen, soprano, assisted by Henry Shweid, violinist, and Stephanie Shehatovich and Alden Gilchrist, pianists, will be heard in recital tomorrow, at 8 p.m. in Angelico Hall on the Dominican College campus in San Rafael. The program is open to the public.

After a year in Europe, the high point of which was a concert in Chartres Cathedral with Gilchrist, Miss Goertzen returned to make her home in San Francisco. She has appeared in the San Francisco Bach Festival, the Blackfriars' concert series, the San Francisco Lyric Theater, at Dominican College and on the KPFA Studio Concert series.

Miss Goertzen will sing two arias by Handel; "Air of Aminta" from "Il Re Pastore," by Mozart; five selections from "Hermit Songs" by Samuel Barber and "Tre Laudi" by Luigi Dallapiccola.

Violinist Shweid and pianist Stephanie Shehatovich, members of the Dominican College music faculty, will perform Beethoven's Sonata Op. 12 No. 1. Shweid is assistant concert master of the San Francisco Symphony and instructor of music at San Francisco State College. Miss Shehatovich is well known to Bay Area audiences for her piano recitals, ensemble playing and teaching.

Gilchrist, composer and professor of music at the University of California, will join Miss Goertzen and Miss Shehatovich in Dallapiccola's "Tre Laudi," scored for soprano soloist and two-piano accompaniment.

Supervisors To Consider Flood Letter

Troubled waters of Coyote Creek seem due to be riled again by further discussion of the discouraging state of the Tamalpais Valley flood control project at tomorrow's meeting of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

On the correspondence agenda appears a communication to be read from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers as to approval of plans in this connection. Matters have been in a condition of uncertainty since at the start of this year the engineers revealed that additional to federal contribution of $400,000, the Marin share seems to have been put up from $13,000 to $127,000 by mounting costs.

County Counsel Leland H. Jordan will report tentatively to the board on what should be done about $30,000 raised for this project by special assessment district. Last week Bruce Gillette of Tamalpais Valley said the county might well refund $10,000 thus far spent, and give back the remaining $20,000 to the taxpayers.

Changes in Civic Center plans are scheduled for 9:30 a.m. discussion with Aaron Green, representative of the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation, architects for the project.

After its usual 2 p.m. consideration of cases referred by the Marin County Planning Commission the board at 3 p.m. will have public hearing on a special assessment district for Chase, Orange and Peach streets, Novato.

Names Of Streets Changed, Sleepy Hollow Unit Told

Making and installation of new street signs in Sleepy Hollow has been completed, the association heard in a report. It mentioned that some of the street names have been changed to fit into the literary tradition. But "some opposition" was also reported though without suggestion that surrender to the non-literati was contemplated in any quarter.

Members fired lively questions at George MacDonald in efforts to learn how a rapid transit system reaching into Marin County might touch their daily lives, after a talk on system plans by MacDonald.

Norris Seastrome, entertainment committee chairman, said the spring dance will be held June 5 and there will be "barb-b-ques" on both Memorial Day and the Fourth of July, with revival of the Sleepy Hollow Fair on Labor Day.

Approximately 130 students will participate in the program.

Considering A Change

NEW YORK (AP) — Stage star and director Maurice Evans isn't entirely confined to his classical Shakespearian roles and to his recent production of the serious Bernard Shaw drama, "Heartbreak House."

Now he is pondering playing —and singing—the role of the clergyman in the Broadway musical version of "Tenderloin," the recently published book by the late Samuel Hopkins Adams.

Before devoting himself mostly to Shakespeare and Shaw, Evans did sing in one or two British stage musicals.

The Presbyterian Church in Montreal, Canada, has Sunday evening services for motorists at a shopping center. It is called "Drive-in" sermons.

KTIM Again Seeks Marin Mom Of Year

Radio station KTIM listeners again this year will be the "talent scouts" for the Marin Mother of the Year.

The honor will go to the mother who is nominated in a hundred-word letter and chosen by judges as most representative of Marin mothers.

The mother selected will get a host of gifts. And this year, the writer of the nominating letter also will receive a gift.

Nominations must be for a Marin mother who has been a county resident for at least a year. Nominations should be mailed to KTIM, San Rafael, by May 2.

COMING

What's ahead for America? Must economic growth dictate soaring inflation? Must stabilization mean stagnation? A resounding "no" on both counts is the answer of 64 well-informed representatives of business, labor and government. Meeting recently under the auspices of the American Assembly, they agreed: by working hard together we can achieve both reasonably stable prices and growth, while reducing unemployment to the minimum. Key to these goals is steadily rising productivity.

Get the facts on this complex but crucial subject. Write for free booklet, "Prices, Growth and You", to American Assembly, Columbia University, New York 27, N. Y.

READY FOR A GARDEN SHOW

Judy Buel (standing) of Greenbrae will be on hand as one of those who will attend the court of the queen at the 1960 California Spring Garden and Home Show, Saturday through May 8 at the Oakland Exposition Building. Carol Campbell (seated) is the queen, and the junior queen is Patty Yoshida. The theme of the show will be "From Kew to Kyoto," with both Oriental and rose garden displays.

Second Stage Of Census Begins Here Tomorrow

The second stage of the 1960 census will get under way in Marin tomorrow.

The first stage, the simple counting of noses and distribution to every fourth person counted of a household questionnaire, has been virtually completed.

It is the household questionnaire that is concerned in this second stage.

Using about one-third the number of enumerators that took the original nose-count, these questionnaires will be followed up. The questionnaires, given to every fourth persons, were to be mailed back to 1st Congressional District headquarters in Santa Rosa.

But those persons who did not return the questionnaires or those who did not fill them out properly will be contacted again, said James T. Hammons, district leader.

He said government regulations require that these forms be filled out. He said enumerators would take with them the same forms and fill them out on the spot.

The questionnaire is not a census of the people. It seeks to find the answers to such questions as numbers of marriages, whether children have grown and moved, what trends there have been in education and work experience.

Boat Upset— 2 Boys More So

Two boys in a boat got pretty angry yesterday when their small punt was swamped near the mouth of the San Rafael canal and they got dunked.

The boys, Timothy Lowell Kohn, 15, of 110 Marina boulevard, and George E. Paul, 16, of 110-A Belle avenue, were upset not because they got wet, but because their motor got wet.

They made this complaint to the San Rafael Police Department. They said they were being towed at about 4:22 p.m. west on the canal by William Haskell of the Western Boat Shop and when they neared the canal's mouth a cruiser, Miss McGoo II, passed their punt too fast and swamped them. The boat was saved but the boys were soaking mad.

San Rafael Stevenson Drive Leader Named

She will head volunteers who will be seeking signatures for a Stevenson presidential nomination petition on Saturdays between 10:30 and 2:30 p.m.

Phone With A Memory

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Telephone equipment with a memory probably will go into use on an experimental basis late this year.

The equipment, using part of the guidance system for the Nike Zeus missile, was described by William Barnes, a demonstration engineer for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

It works this way: A caller dials a number and gets a busy signal. This activates the memory unit. When the party he is calling hangs up both phones will ring.

The equipment also may be used to record messages for a subscriber during his absence.
